Ione Holding Steady Course To U. S. Coast

Atlantic States Alerted; Hilda Threatens Mexico

MIAMI, Sept. 16 —UP— Hurricane Ione held a steady course for the South Atlantic Coast Friday night and points from Florida to North Carolina were put on a weekend alert as the storm drove within 580 miles of Miami.

The hurricane, carrying top winds of 90 miles an hour, "doesn't look good," said chief forecaster Gordon Dunn of the Miami weather bureau. An advisory said some portions of the southeast coast might be affected by Sunday night.

Ione's older sister, Hilda, slammed meanwhile into the wild Yucatan peninsula in lower Mexico and at 4 p.m. was centered 90 miles southeast of the ancient Aztec city of Merida, with top winds reduced from 110 to 75 miles an hour.

This storm was expected to cross the northward jutting peninsula and hit the Gulf of Campeche where it could build up new dangers for the Mexican east coast. Hilda already had claimed four lives and $5 million property damage in Cuba.

Ione, the weather bureau warned, "is increasing in size and will continue to do so during the

Stassen Expects Soviet Approval Of Ike Arms Plan

DENVER, Sept. 16—UP—Harold E. Stassen, the President's special assistant on disarmament, said Friday the "odds are the UN General Assembly, including the Soviet Union, will support" Mr. Eisenhower's proposal for mutual arms inspection late this year.

Although the Russians have not answered the President's proposal, Stassen said there was "every indication they are giving it very intensive and thorough study" during the current UN subcommittee disarmament talks in New York. "I believe the odds are that the Russians will accept the President's plan."

The former Minnesota governor flew here from New York early Friday to meet with the chief executive at the Summer White House headquarters at Lowry Air Force Base. He left for Washington and New York late Friday with a stopover scheduled in Minnesota for a brief visit with his parents.

Stassen said after his half-hour conference with the chief executive he was "optimistic" about progress of the UN talks. He would not disclose the nature of his discussion with the President, but in effect he obviously gave Mr. Eisenhower a report in the same encouraging vein.

"Every one of our 11 disarmament meetings held so far have been carried on in the spirit of Geneva," said Stassen, "with no name-calling or vitriolic outbreaks. But at the same time, I would say there has been no new significant policy advancements, either."

Stassen said the tone of his report to Mr. Eisenhower was "optimistic and reflecting patience."

"It was only Aug. 30 that we spelled out in detail to the Soviet delegates at the talks how the President's proposal will go," said Stassen. "It takes time for the Soviet Union to study the proposal and give its answer. That is why I emphasize the patience side."

Scattered Clouds Expected Today

Scattered clouds are predicted for the northeast section of Louisiana today, according to weather observers.

Partly cloudy with thundershowers scattered mostly over the northwest portion of Arkansas was also forecast by the weatherman for today.

Temperatures in the Monroe area ranged from a high of 91 to a low of 65 yesterday, C.A.A. officials at Selman Field said.

Morrison, Barham Plan Vigorous Race; Platform Pledges 'No New Taxes'

Two men very much in the political limelight, Mayor de Lesseps (Chep) Morrison of New Orleans and Lt. Gov. C. E. (Cap) Barham, spent a few hours in Monroe yesterday.

Their visit to Ouachita Parish was for the purpose of conferring with friends, in preparation for what promises to be one of the most strenuous political campaigns in Louisiana history.

Morrison, recently announced candidate for governor in next year's primaries and general election, discussed campaign issues without pulling any punches.

Barham, who withdrew from the governor's race to run for re-election as lieutenant governor on the Morrison ticket, was equally frank in discussing the problems confronting the state and its people.

Morrison declared that he is opposed to any increase whatever in state taxes. He cited his opening campaign speech at New Roads, La., which stated:

"We have got to put a firm stop to any additional taxes with a long-range plan of cutting back the high tax structure which we now have, and which is the greatest single obstacle to the inducement of new industry."

Along with this, he stressed the need for allocating an appreciable part of the state's revenues towards "badly needed local public improvements and local capital investments, giving our parishes and our towns throughout Louisiana the essential improvements they need to serve their expanded growth and to induce new investments in their areas."

The dynamic New Orleans mayor, who in ten years has transformed the Louisiana metropolis into one of the great new industrial centers of the deep South, brought about a huge increase in port commerce and successfully

Army And Navy Revolt; All-Out War Threatens

BUENOS, AIRES, Sept. 16 —UP—Army and navy forces revolted Friday against President Juan D. Peron.

The rebels claimed successes on four fighting fronts and said a combined fleet of river and seagoing naval vessels was steaming on Buenos Aires.

After 18 hours of fighting, the rebels claimed all of southern Argentina; the city of Cordoba and Cordoba province and Curuzu-Cuati, an army base in Corrientes province in the north; the port of Bahia Blanca, the nearby Puerto Belgrano naval base in Buenos Aires province and the dockyard base of Rio Santiago south of the capital city.

The revolt was more widespread than the navy rebellion against Peron just three months ago. There were indications the fighting would flare out into full-scale civil war.

One rebel radio broadcast from Puerto Belgrano said the submarine base at Mar del Plata, 200 miles south of Buenos Aires, also had gone over to the insurgent side. The radio did not mention any submarine activity, however.

United Press staff correspondent Julio C. Banzas reported that he arrived in Cordoba to see the city, third largest in Argentina, fall with the collapse of government forces.

He reported the streets deserted, "hardly a soul could be seen anywhere."

Banzas reported that as he arrived in the center Cordoba, "there was a fierce fight going on between the advancing rebels and the provincial (state) police who had entrenched themselves in their headquarters.

"The army (rebel) soldiers spread out under cover of heavy fire.

"Fifteen minutes later the last government resistance in the city of Cordoba had ceased, and the police had surrendered."

Radio stations operated by rebels in Cordoba said all resistance had ceased in Cordoba province, northwest of Buenos Aires.

The ministry of the army in Buenos Aires issued a communique which said the school of artillery and small ground forces of the air

Sought to Clear Name

'Risk' Who Tried To Be Double-Spy Is Twice Loser

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 16 (AP)—An American called a security risk, who aspired to clear his name by becoming a double agent in the cold war, admitted today he has ended up a double loser.

Gregory J. Lima, 30, of New York City said:

"I took the long chance of working six months as a Soviet spy in order to be able to infiltrate higher into the Russian espionage apparatus for the U. S.

"Now the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency, after considering my case for more than three months, has refused to have anything to do with me.

"Perhaps my project—acting as a double agent for my country—was too bold or ridiculous. But I desperately wanted to rehabilitate myself as an American citizen.

"Now I'm worse off than when I started."

Lima and Theo K. Hollie, 28, of Los Angeles, Calif., told publicly last night of carrying out numerous Soviet spy assignments in Western Europe before they went to CIA's headquarters in Germany last May 1 and offered their services.

The CIA interrogated them for a month, gave them a living allowance of six dollars a day until August, then dropped them. Lima and Hollie claim the CIA should pay approximately $1,000 in debts which they incurred after placing themselves at U. S. disposal.

U. S. intelligence officers have declined comment on their story.

Fired as a security risk from an Army civilian job in West Germany in 1953, Lima gave this account of himself:

"I was a private with an antiaircraft battery that reached the Elbe for the linkup of the American and Soviet armies in 1945.

"After the war, I studied political science at Syracuse University and was graduated with honors. As a student, I was a left-winger, but I was not a Communist. I did have sympathetic associations with people who were eventually alleged to be Communists.

"Because of that past, I lost my Army Department job. Once you've got 'security risk' in your record, just leading a normal life doesn't rehabilitate you. You've got to do something dramatic.

"In East Berlin, we were interrogated individually by Soviet officers and accepted. They liked the cover we had set up—the Allied News Agency, at Darmstadt, specializing in stories and pictures of American soldiers for hometown newspapers. . .

"We didn't work too hard. But we collected enough information to keep the Russians interested.

Two Released

Freed 'Spy' Lauds Reds, Lashes U. S.

HONG KONG, Sept. 16 — UP— One of two Americans released by Red China said Friday he had been a spy. He praised his Communist captors.

Walter A. Rickett of Seattle, Wash., a Fulbright scholar also denounced United States support for Nationalist China.

The other American released Friday was the Rev. Harold W. Rigney, rector of the Catholic university in Peiping until his arrest. Rigney, who lost almost 80 pounds while in captivity, said he was glad to be free.

Rickett denounced U.S. support of Nationalist China. "We are now supporting the worst blackguards in the world," he said.

He also urged an end to the American embargo on trade with Red China.

"The United States by persisting in this stupid policy is hurting itself," he said.

Rickett, who served four years and one month of a six-year prison sentence for spying, said he had spied for American, British, and Dutch interests from 1948 when he started studying at Peiping University.

Nervous, and occasionally lapsing into Chinese because his English was rusty, Rickett said "China wants peace."

He was talkative and enthusiastic about the Chinese Reds, in sharp contrast to the American priest who was released with him.

The Rev. Rigney served a similar four years and one month in prison for "bribery" and "spying." His original sentence was 10 years.

Rickett, fiddling with an unlighted cigaret, was asked pointblank whether he was a Communist. He replied: "I certainly am not."

Illegal Liquor Sales Will Be Probed By Jury

Special Inquiry To Investigate Sales To Juveniles Here

Following the sentencing of a Monroe woman to 15 days in jail on charges of selling beer to minors, Judge David I. Garrett in fourth district court yesterday, called for a special grand jury session to investigate the selling of intoxicating liquor and beer to juveniles.

Sentenced to serve 15 days in the parish jail was Velma Chevallier. Several such cases have come before local courts in recent months.

In calling the special session to begin on September 22, Judge Garret has requested that the owners of taverns and beer establishments as well as waitresses and bar tenders be investigated.

Judge Garrett suggested to the

East Germans Ask Soviet Friendship Security System

MOSCOW, Sept. 16—UP— Communist East Germany's Premier Otto Grotewohl Friday proposed a European collective security system based on German - Soviet friendship.

Grotewohl advanced his plan immediately upon arrival here for historic talks with Russian leaders.

Grotewohl told top Soviet officials that German - Russian cooperation was the best foundation for "the return to a unified Germany on a peaceful and democratic basis."

He said German reunification was the surest way by which "a peace treaty with Germany could become a reality in the foreseeable future."

Grotewohl's visit to Moscow came only two days after West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer left the Soviet capital. The East German's negotiations with Russian leaders were regarded as an attempt to discredit Adenauer.

(The East German radio in Berlin said the East German delegation to Moscow would hold "concluding negotiations" with the Soviets on the question of German prisoners of war. This statement was regarded by diplomatic observers as an indication that the East Germans intend to wrest from Chancellor Adenauer credit for securing agreement on the release of the prisoners.

The 12-man German delegation arrived by plane from Berlin. The Russians received the visitors with pomp and circumstance that matched Adenauer's welcome last week.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin was not at the airport because of his illness. He was reported suffering from "a slight case of grippe and running a small temperature." He was expected to recover quickly and take part in the talks with the Germans.

Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov headed the welcoming committee.

Grotewohl's arrival marked the second phase of the developing Soviet strategy on Germany which now appears aimed at widening the split in Germany and reducing Adenauer, and the agreement made with him, to a secondary position.

Kennon Says Dual School System Is Not Violation Of Supreme Court Ruling

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 16 (AP)—Gov. Robert Kennon, discussing segregation, said today both Negro and white schools will suffer if a majority of taxpayers react against any forced changes in the public school system.

"If the public schools are made different from what the majority of taxpayers want," he said, "Property owners might be reluctant to vote the necessary school funds."

While the state provides most public education expenses in Louisiana, local governments are responsible for public school construction. Official Louisiana is making every effort to keep the color ban in schools.

In mentioning the possible taxpayers' frown, the governor said "it would not be in the interest of Negro parents for this to happen.

"We would have a less effective system of schools for both colored

Father Jailed In Hammer Beatings Of 3 Children

KINGSPORT, Tenn., Sept. 16 (AP)—An unemployed laborer who sobbed to police, "I didn't mean to do it," was jailed today in the sledgehammer beatings of his three children. One of them died.

The others were reported in critical condition. All had been beaten with an eight-pound sledgehammer, police said.

Rufus Grant Knight, 41, was charged with murder in the death of Eddie Knight, 9, his younger son who died at Holston Valley Community Hospital. Felonious assault charges were placed against Knight in the beating of another son, Arthur, 14, and a daughter, Vickie, 12.

Judge Sidney G. Gilbreath Jr. ordered Knight held without bond pending a preliminary hearing. City Patrolman Jack Jobe and Constable J. R. Deal said Knight admitted beating the children, said he was "sorry," but gave no reason for the action.

Knight reportedly had been ill after the recent death of his mother.

Grayson Woman Dies In Accident

COLUMBIA, Sept. 16 (Special) —Mrs. Florence Hines, wife of Dr. S. G. Hines of Grayson was reported accidentally killed this afternoon by her own car as she got out and walked behind the vehicle.

Rushed to the Caldwell hospital where she died three hours after being crushed by the car at the home of a Mr. Howell, Mrs. Hines was not able to reveal any details of the incident.

The Caldwell sheriff's department was continuing an investigation late last night.

Companions Fear 2 Missing Miners Have Suffocated

GEORGETOWN, Colo., Sept. 16 (AP)—Foul air stalled the efforts today of searchers trying to rescue two Kansas men who vanished into an old, jinxed mine high in the Rockies while hunting uranium.

Experts from the U.S. Bureau of Mines and volunteers waited anxiously for installation of a powerful fan to force the stale air from the mine so they could follow tracks left in the dust by the Kansans as they walked into the long-abandoned tunnel yesterday, lured by the click of a Geiger counter.

Each passing hour dimmed the chance the two men—Glen Dew, 22, and Melvin LeBlow, 45, would be found alive in the 6,000-foot tunnel. They carried tanks with enough oxygen to last four hours when they entered the mine at 2:15 p.m., MST, yesterday. Dew is a Ulysses, Kan., farmer and is the father of three children. LeBlow operates an alfalfa dehydrating plant at Ulysses. He has two children.

A Colorado state mine inspector heading the rescue team, Norman R. Blake, said there was "very little chance" the men would be found safe.

The general area has been a mining region since gold rush days nearly 100 years ago.

Jackpot Solution Eludes All Entries; Next Week's Kitty Will Be Worth $275

BY BONANZA BILL

Good fortune failed to smile on any of the thousands of entries in this week's Morning World crossword Puzzle contest, and the $250 jackpot went untouched.

The jackpot next week will be boosted to $275 when another puzzle in the series is presented in the Monday and Tuesday editions of the World.

Here are the explanations of the more difficult clues to this week's puzzler:

CLUES ACROSS:

2. ICE is best. When it is needed as part of a game, such as hockey, curling, etc., you could have no game without it. As for ACE, you do not necessarily see the ACE in every hand or in every play and in some games of cards the ACE, is rarely used, if at all.

6. Since the clue says "telephone," "CUT off" fits better. You can be PUT off by many other means other than by telephone.

Britain, Russia Consult To Save Indo-China Pact

LONDON, Sept. 16—UP—Britain is consulting with Russia on new steps to save the uneasy Indo-China armistice, the foreign office disclosed Friday.

The two nations were co-chairmen of the Geneva conference of July, 1954, that arranged an armistice between South Viet Nam and the Communist Viet Minh in the north.

Current consultations resulted from a "request" by the Viet Minh for intervention by the co-chairmen to "take all necessary measures to ensure respect for the Geneva agreement."

Premier Ngo Dien Diem of Viet Nam has refused to discuss nation-wide elections with the Viet Minh and officials concede that solution of the problem appears "extremely difficult."

A foreign office spokesman said Friday that Russia had forwarded to London the letter from the Viet Minh. A British reply was sent to Moscow and the foreign office is awaiting an answer, the spokesman said.

The immediate task of the two countries is to find a formula to cover specific clauses in the Geneva agreement providing that South and North Viet Nam representatives meet to prepare for elections scheduled for July, 1956.

Jugged For Not Filing Georgia Return

Jo-Jo The Parakeet Gets Into Another Tax Hassle

ATLANTA, Sept. 16 —UP— Jo-Jo the parakeet flew into a new tax hassle Friday. He was jugged for failing to file a Georgia return.

Then they collared the cocky little bird outside the air line terminal, State Revenue Commissioner T. V. (Red) Williams and his men turned him over to the Humane Society to keep custody pending disposition of the case.

Williams claims Jo-Jo, a bird that was hired by a jewelry firm after he won a contest by sounding its sales slogan, owes the state $10.68 and has ignored repeated notices to please remit.

The state got wind of Jo-Jo's tax responsibility earlier this year when the blue and gray parakeet flew to the head of the federal tax machinery. More specifically, he perched on the brow of Tax Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

Bird and tax boss were photographed as Jo-Jo's sponsors sought a $20.50 refund on the deductions made from the bird's weekly salary of $15 in 1954. The Kay Jewelry Co., which owns Jo-Jo, didn't get the refund but it won more news space than it could have with a dozen beauties in bikinis.

Georgia got in the act Friday when Jo-Jo, a busy little bird that helps the Kay chain sell wrist-watches all over the country, came back to Georgia on business from a date in California. The bird is listed as a resident of this state.

"It's OK to owe Kay," said Williams, enunciating Jo-Jo's slogan, "But it's not OK to owe the state of Georgia."

Britain, Russia Consult To Save Indo-China Pact

LONDON, Sept. 16—UP—Britain is consulting with Russia on new steps to save the uneasy Indo-China armistice, the foreign office disclosed Friday.

The two nations were co-chairmen of the Geneva conference of July, 1954, that arranged an armistice between South Viet Nam and the Communist Viet Minh in the north.

Current consultations resulted from a "request" by the Viet Minh for intervention by the co-chairmen to "take all necessary measures to ensure respect for the Geneva agreement."

Premier Ngo Dien Diem of Viet Nam has refused to discuss nationwide elections with the Viet Minh and officials concede that solution of the problem appears "extremely difficult."

A foreign office spokesman said Friday that Russia had forwarded to London the letter from the Viet Minh. A British reply was sent to Moscow and the foreign office is awaiting an answer, the spokesman said.

The immediate task of the two countries is to find a formula to cover specific clauses in the Geneva agreement providing that South and North Viet Nam representatives meet to prepare for elections scheduled for July, 1956.

Good fortune failed to smile on any of the thousands of entries in this week's Morning World crossword Puzzle contest, and the $250 jackpot went untouched.

The jackpot next week will be boosted to $275 when another puzzle in the series is presented in the Monday and Tuesday editions of the World.

Here are the explanations of the more difficult clues to this week's puzzler:

CLUES ACROSS:

2. ICE is best. When it is needed as part of a game, such as hockey, curling, etc., you could have no game without it. As for ACE, you do not necessarily see the ACE in every hand or in every play and in some games of cards the ACE, is rarely used, if at all.

6. Since the clue says "telephone," "CUT off" fits better. You can be PUT off by many other means other than by telephone.

8. NOTES is best. Strictly speaking he CANNOT lose VOTES; he can only fail to be given them. (One cannot lose what one has nev-

Sought to Clear Name

'Risk' Who Tried To Be Double-Spy Is Twice Loser

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 16 (AP)—An American called a security risk, who aspired to clear his name by becoming a double agent in the cold war, admitted today he has ended up a double loser.

Gregory J. Lima, 30, of New York City said:

"I took the long chance of working six months as a Soviet spy in order to be able to infiltrate higher into the Russian espionage apparatus for the United States.

"Now the U. S. Central Intelligence Agency, after considering my case for more than three months, has refused to have anything to do with me.

"Perhaps my project—acting as a double agent for my country—was too bold or ridiculous. But I desperately wanted to rehabilitate myself as an American citizen.

"Now I'm worse off than when I started."

Lima and Theo K. Hollie, 28, of Los Angeles, Calif., told publicly last night of carrying out numerous Soviet spy assignments in Western Europe before they went to CIA's headquarters in Germany last May 1 and offered their services.

The CIA interrogated them for a month, gave them a living allowance of six dollars a day until August, then dropped them. Lima and Hollie claim the CIA should pay approximately $1,000 in debts which they incurred after placing themselves at U. S. disposal.

U. S. Intelligence officers have declined comment on their story.

Fired as a security risk from an Army civilian job in West Germany in 1953, Lima gave this account of himself:

"I was a private with an antiaircraft battery that reached the Elbe for the linkup of the American and Soviet armies in 1945.

"After the war, I studied political science at Syracuse University and was graduated with honors. As a student, I was a left-winger, but I was not a Communist. I did have sympathetic associations with people who were eventually alleged to be Communists.

"Because of that past, I lost my Army Department job. Once you've got 'security risk' in your record, just leading a normal life doesn't rehabilitate you. You've got to do something dramatic.

"In East Berlin, we were interrogated individually by Soviet officers and accepted. They liked the cover we had set up—the Allied News Agency, at Darmstadt, specializing in stories and pictures of American soldiers for hometown newspapers. . .

"We didn't work too hard. But we collected enough information to keep the Russians interested.

Kennon Says Dual School System Is Not Violation Of Supreme Court Ruling

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 16 (AP)—Gov. Robert Kennon, discussing segregation, said today both Negro and white schools will suffer if a majority of taxpayers react against any forced changes in the public school system.

"If the public schools are made different from what the majority of taxpayers want," he said, "Property owners might be reluctant to vote the necessary school funds."

While the state provides most public education expenses in Louisiana, local governments are responsible for public school construction. Official Louisiana is making every effort to keep the color ban in schools.

In mentioning the possible taxpayers' frown, the governor said "it would not be in the interest of Negro parents for this to happen.

"We would have a less effective system of schools for both colored

Grayson Woman Dies In Accident

COLUMBIA, Sept. 16 (Special) —Mrs. Florence Hines, wife of Dr. S. G. Hines of Grayson was reported accidentally killed this afternoon by her own car as she got out and walked behind the vehicle.

Rushed to the Caldwell hospital where she died three hours after being crushed by the car at the home of a Mr. Howell, Mrs. Hines was not able to reveal any details of the incident.

The Caldwell sheriff's department was continuing an investigation late last night.

Father Jailed In Hammer Beatings Of 3 Children

KINGSPORT, Tenn., Sept. 16 (AP) —An unemployed laborer who sobbed to police, "I didn't mean to do it," was jailed today in the sledgehammer beatings of his three children. One of them died.

The others were reported in critical condition. All had been beaten with an eight-pound sledgehammer, police said.

Rufus Grant Knight, 41, was charged with murder in the death of Eddie Knight, 9, his younger son who died at Holston Valley Community Hospital. Felonious assault charges were placed against Knight in the beating of another son, Arthur, 14, and a daughter, Vickie, 12.

Judge Sidney G. Gilbreath Jr. ordered Knight held without bond pending a preliminary hearing. City Patrolman Jack Jobe and Constable J. R. Deal said Knight admitted beating the children, said he was "sorry," but gave no reason for the action.

Knight reportedly had been ill after the recent death of his mother.

Jugged For Not Filing Georgia Return

Jo-Jo The Parakeet Gets Into Another Tax Hassle

ATLANTA, Sept. 16 —UP—Jo-Jo the parakeet flew into a new tax hassle Friday. He was jugged for failing to file a Georgia return.

Then they collared the cocky little bird outside the air line terminal, State Revenue Commissioner T. V. (Red) Williams and his men turned him over to the Humane Society to keep custody pending disposition of the case.

Williams claims Jo-Jo, a bird that was hired by a jewelry firm after he won a contest by sounding its sales slogan, owes the state $10.68 and has ignored repeated notices to please remit.

The state got wind of Jo-Jo's tax responsibility earlier this year when the blue and gray parakeet flew to the head of the federal tax machinery. More specifically, he perched on the brow of Tax Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

Bird and tax boss were photographed as Jo-Jo's sponsors sought a $20.50 refund on the deductions made from the bird's weekly salary of $15 in 1954. The Kay Jewelry Co., which owns Jo-Jo, didn't get the refund but it won more news space than it could have with a dozen beauties in bikinis.

Georgia got in the act Friday when Jo-Jo, a busy little bird that helps the Kay chain sell wrist-watches all over the country, came back to Georgia on business from a date in California. The bird is listed as a resident of this state.

"It's OK to owe Kay," said Williams, enunciating Jo-Jo's slogan, "But it's not OK to owe the state of Georgia."

Illegal Liquor Sales Will Be Probed By Jury

Special Inquiry To Investigate Sales To Juveniles Here

Following the sentencing of a Monroe woman to 15 days in jail on charges of selling beer to minors, Judge David I. Garrett in fourth district court yesterday, called for a special grand jury session to investigate the selling of intoxicating liquor and beer to juveniles.

Sentenced to serve 15 days in the parish jail was Velma Chevallier. Several such cases have come before local courts in recent months.

In calling the special session to begin on September 22, Judge Garret has requested that the owners of taverns and beer establishments as well as waitresses and bar tenders be investigated.

Judge Garrett suggested to the

East Germans Ask Soviet Friendship Security System

MOSCOW, Sept. 16—UP— Communist East Germany's Premier Otto Grotewohl Friday proposed a European collective security system based on German - Soviet friendship.

Grotewohl advanced his plan immediately upon arrival here for historic talks with Russian leaders.

Grotewohl told top Soviet officials that German - Russian cooperation was the best foundation for "the return to a unified Germany on a peaceful and democratic basis."

He said German reunification was the surest way by which "a peace treaty with Germany could become a reality in the foreseeable future."

Grotewohl's visit to Moscow came only two days after West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer left the Soviet capital. The East German's negotiations with Russian leaders were regarded as an attempt to discredit Adenauer.

(The East German radio in Berlin said the East German delegation to Moscow would hold "concluding negotiations" with the Soviets on the question of German prisoners of war. This statement was regarded by diplomatic observers as an indication that the East Germans intend to wrest from Chancellor Adenauer credit for securing agreement on the release of the prisoners.

The 12-man German delegation arrived by plane from Berlin. The Russians received the visitors with pomp and circumstance that matched Adenauer's welcome last week.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin was not at the airport because of his illness. He was reported suffering from "a slight case of grippe and running a small temperature." He was expected to recover quickly and take part in the talks with the Germans.

Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov headed the welcoming committee.

Grotewohl's arrival marked the second phase of the developing Soviet strategy on Germany which now appears aimed at widening the split in Germany and reducing Adenauer, and the agreement made with him, to a secondary position.

"The Russians are careful not to let their own women know much. They changed the women interpreters through whom they spoke to us, and when one was dropped, we would never see her again.

Each year the Jaycees make known those persons who are rated as outstanding local citizens.

Last Monday the names for the current year were announced at a dinner held in Hotel Virginia. They announced these as the Rev. Lea Joyner, pastor of Southside Methodist church; C. B. Braun, clerk in the City of Monroe court and active leaders in many lines; and W. Carroll Royce, who has been active in baseball leadership for many years here.

The Rev. Joyner came to Monroe in 1944 to become assistant pastor of the First Methodist church after she had organized a Methodist church in Columbia. She became active in her work especially as it concerned the formation of missions along the levee in Monroe. She brought cheer into many homes that needed aid.

Probably the greatest work performed by the Rev. Joyner was the formation of the Southside Methodist church in Monroe, which has made astonishing growth in the past three or four years. She is a woman with deep sympathy and great heart for those who need a friend in their need. Her selection as one of the three meets with general approval.

Mr. Braun has worked for 15 years as chairman of Pelican state for boys which is a project of the L. B. Faulk Legion post in Monroe. For five years, Mr. Braun has been secretary - treasury of the Monroe Rotary club, and has contributed his time and effort in this important post.

Mr. Royce has been active in Sports, helped organize the Twin City Baseball league and also the Little League, served as Commissioner for the basketball league, and rendering great service as member of the City of Monroe Recreation board.

All the selections are such as to meet with hearty approval of the public for all three have earned the right to be given recognition.

Dr. Julia Hunter, proud of a nephew who at one and the same time is entering Tulane medical school and observing his 21st birthday, when asked what he desired as gift on this eventful occasion responded:

"I know what I'll get for a birthday present — it will be a CADAVER!"

A former Monroyan now living out of the state wrote Jes' Ramblin' anent the power plant troubles here : "As this plant has been off and on the same sort of trouble for more than 20 years, my suggestion would be to build a new and modern light plant with new equipment."

If one doubts that Monroe is a beautiful city he has only to witness the motion picture that Commissioner Wayne H. Huckaby has taken the past three or four years. He showed them to the Monroe Civitan club Thursday night and pleased his audience.

Some views showed dogwood in bloom, azalea time at its best, the oleanders of South Grand street along the seawall and the two municipal parks and swimming pool pleased the club members. Some of them later declared that they had never before realized what a beautiful and flowering city we have here through the entire year.

er possessed). He can lose his NOTES, of course.

12. DIP is best. It can mean only a DIP in the ocean or a bath. As for a NIP, this is too general. A NIP of what? The clue doesn't say. The same applies to SIP. DIP is a surer answer.

14. STRIKER is preferred. By word or action, an individual STRIKER might well make a factory manager very angry. STRIKES would be far more apt in the singular. Also, it is quite possible that a man in the position of factory manager might be one of the STRIKERS HIMSELF, in which case STRIKES would hardly anger him.

15. MUTE is preferred since it is in common use today in connection with a variety of musical instruments and the student will need to learn about it. The LUTE, being an old fashioned instrument, is seldom studied today.

17. SEE is best. Many of them can't SEE very well "WITHOUT THEIR GLASSES", and can't SEW very well whether they have their glasses or not, or we might say that SEE is more comprehensive since they may not be able to SEW very well because they cannot SEE very well.

22. SLIM is more apt because in order to SLIM all you need to do is to follow certain instructions. For SWIM it would be better to say LEARNING to do so.

25. CAR is best. The clue refers to the "actual" cost. It is not uncommon for a man to be surprised when he counts up the actual cost of owning and running a CAR. Since it is a well known fact that no man or public body has ever been able to compute the "actual" cost of any WAR, the word WAR, as the answer, is ruled out since no man COULD ever "learn its actual cost" and be surprised.

26. To PRAY for your country is INDEED praiseworthy. To PLAY for your country is not necessarily praiseworthy — you MAY PLAY very badly or you may do it for purely selfish reasons.

27. If a big effort is WANTED, it's no use being dismal about it — you need to get on with the job. If a big effort on your part is WASTED, your are ENTITLED to feel dismal about it.

CLUES DOWN:

5. "Refusing" implies a positive action of refusal on the part of "the answer," favoring MEN. MEN can REFUSE to write. A PEN can only FAIL to write.

20. "Foolish" favors COAT. To neglect a COLT would be inhuman and "foolish" would be an understatement.

"establishment" owners that if they couldn't trust their employees to abide by the law that it would be best to quit selling liquor and beer to occupants in cars.

He stated that the employer is just as guilty as the employee when it comes to selling intoxicating beverages to juveniles.

In other cases disposed of and continued by Judge Garrett, three youths were awaiting sentence on charges of armed robbery of a Camp Polk Army sergeant last Saturday night in West Monroe.

Sentence was not passed because parents of the youths were not present. The trio were: Calvin L. King, 18, Delhi; Rudolph Ainsworth, 17, route 3, West Monroe; and Buford Hand, 21, 2406 Grammont, Monroe.

All confessed to the robbery Sunday at the West Monroe police station and were transferred to the parish jail.

Johnny Wade, 45, Negro, was sentenced to one year in the Louisiana State Penitentiary for using a knife on a woman.

Paul T. Boillot, 33, was sentenced to serve five years in Angola on charges of simple burglary.

Gertrude Baker, Negro woman, was given six months in the Ouachita parish jail on charges of obtaining public welfare fund under false pretenses.

For the most part the defendants —the first 14 of 28 scheduled to appear during the day—entered pleas of not guilty and asked trial.

Harvey C. Morgan, a young Negro, entered a plea of guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated —with reservations. A Louisiana state trooper told Judge Garrett of Morgan's erratic driving on the day of his arrest. Judge Garrett asked him why he was driving that way.

"Why, your honor," he said, "I called my wife and she told me to come right on home and come on home right now."

"You tell your wife that that conversation cost you just $100 and costs or 90 days default," Judge Garrett said.

Morrison, Barham

directed a vast program of public improvements, said that he is gratified at the pledges of support pouring in from every parish and precinct in Louisiana.

"Louisiana is on the threshold of a great new industrial development that should be reflected in every parish and community," he said. "But someone has to provide leadership. The job must be organized on a statewide basis, just as it was in New Orleans. It requires planning, coordination. It cannot be done haphazardly. I believe that my experience as Mayor of New Orleans, my record of performance there, qualifies me for this great task on which the future prosperity of our state depends."

Morrison pointed out that as a member of the State Legislature he voted for a right - to - work bill, and added: "Although some of the labor leaders oppose this legislation, which is now on the statute books, the majority of the people favor it. I am against repeal of the right - to - work bill."

With reference to segregation issues, he pointed out that under his administration New Orleans has erected separate schools, parks and playgrounds for Negroes at a cost of many millions of dollars.

"Our experience in New Orleans has proved that Negroes, given equal public facilities, have very little interest in integration," he commented.

"Most of them prefer their own separate facilities, if these are adequate."

Mayor Morrison explained with pride that one of the major accomplishments of his administration in New Orleans has been in the field of law enforcement. From a crime-ridden city, New Orleans has emerged as one of the most law-abiding cities of the South, he stated.

The mayor made it plain that in referring to what has been accomplished during his decade in New Orleans as head of the city government, he takes no sole credit.

"We have had the splendid cooperation of people in every walk of life and nearly every civic group and organization," he said.

Lt. Gov. Barham declared that the mayor's statement of his religious affiliations in his opening speech had been well received over the state.

On that occasion Morrison said: "I would like the people of Louisiana to know that I am a God-worshipping and God-fearing man, and have belonged to a church all of my natural life. I was born and am now a member of the Catholic Church, but I respect every man's religion, and believe his religious preference to worship is his own business. I do believe, though, it is important to belong to and support a church during your adult lifetime."

The lieutenant governor, who was swept into office despite the defeat of his ticket in the last election, emphasized Morrison's statement that a return to old-time machine politics in the Louisiana state government might prove disastrous to the state's future.

"Every precinct will be equipped with automatic voting machines in the next election," he pointed out.

"That fact is going to make it hard on would-be political bosses."

Morrison and Barham pledged that they will discuss all public issues freely, and let the voters know exactly where they stand on every question.

They plan a vigorous statewide campaign.

Kennon

and white — the public school system might degenerate."

The question of integration in Louisiana is largely governed by state law, the governor told a news conference.

"It is not a violation of the Supreme Court ruling to continue a dual school system. The Supreme Court does not have jurisdiction over the state school system."

Kennon, a former Louisiana appeal court judge, insisted the Supreme Court decision "does not mean a Negro child has to go to a mixed school, it simply means if the child wants to go, admission cannot be denied because of color."

Kennon answered questions about school segregation the day after an NAACP rally here. An NAACP attorney predicted "there is nothing on God's green earth that can stop integration."

The rally raised nearly $1,000 toward financing a federal lawsuit the NAACP attorney proposed against the East Baton Rouge Parish School Board, attacking Louisiana's 1954 laws designed to get around the Supreme Court ruling. A similar suit already has been filed in New Orleans.

The governor declined comment on the rally.

Kennon reiterated Louisiana "happily is free of racial friction."

"I believe the segregation amendment approved at the polls last November received a substantial vote from Negroes," Kennon commented. The amendment, now under NAACP fire, would preserve school segregation under the police powers of the state.

Kennon said Louisiana has more Negro teachers than states where segregation does not exist, "and we have more colored teachers per 1,000 Negroes than any of those states."

"I think the great majority of our Negro parents and children prefer their own schools . . . our Negro schools are not inferior, we have good Negro teachers, we have one of the finest Negro universities in the nation."

RECOVERING FROM FLU

LONDON, Sept. 16—UP—Prime Minister Anthony Eden was reported making "good progress" Friday in a bout with the flue.

Ione

next 24 hours, with some increase in intensity likely."

The storm was centered at 10 p.m. 520 miles slightly south of due east from Miami. The hurricane was expected to continue on a west-northwest course at about 12 miles an hour for the next 24 hours "but turning slightly toward the northwest with time." This change, if it developed, would bring the Carolinas more into the orbit of the storm than Florida.

Dunn, who predicted Ione's sharp turn toward the East Coast Thursday well in advance, said there was a "trend for an increasing easterly flow" north of the Atlantic storm.

In the general path of the hurricane lay the Carolina coasts, where hurricanes Connie and Diane swept inland last month. Like her predecessors, Ione so far is not a mighty storm nor a big one but weathermen pointed toward the disaster caused by Connie and Diane.

Connie cost 42 lives and upwards of $80 million in property losses as she swept up the east coast from the Carolinas. A few days later Diane flooded the East Coast and resulted in the loss of 310 lives and $1.6 billion in property.

Hurricane Hilda struck the Yucatan peninsula before dawn Friday. The storm was not expected to cause great damage because that Central American hump is very poorly developed.

But delayed reports from eastern Cuba indicated the type of destroyer Hilda is. Damage to coffee and cocoa crops in the Oriente province was estimated at $4 million.

Reports from Baracia, Cuba, said the city was besieged for six hours by winds of 75 miles per hour.

Anti-Peron

force rebelled in the Cordoba region.

"Many loyal forces, belonging to the army, are marching from different directions to put down the (rebel) movement. The air force is supporting this loyal force," the communique said.

The rebel forces struck just three months to the day of the navy-led revolt of June 16 against Peron.

They attacked from the big Puerto Belgrano naval base 360 miles southwest off Buenos Aires and overcame loyal troops to take the key southern city of Bahia Blanca.

Police, taking no chances, extended cordons around Casa Rosa (Pink House), the seat of Peron government operations in Buenos Aires.

Peron, in what apparently was his first public action of the day, decreed the immediate application of operation "Conintes," a plan of defense drawn up by the National Security Council for times of internal upheaval.

(It was unofficially reported that two Argentine ships bringing wounded from the rebellion to Montevideo, Uruguay, were being attacked by Peron's planes in the river Plate.

(Sources said the two ships were part of rebel naval forces. As far as was known 18 wounded were aboard the vessels).

The rebel radio at Bahia Blanca said the navy destroyers Cervantes and La Rioja went to Montevideo, to dischange three dead and 18 wounded.

The "state of siege" proclaimed here two weeks ago was extended to all of Argentina during the early hours of the revolt.

A heavy artillery bombardment accompanying the battle at Rio Santiago was heard in Eva Peron (La Plata), capital of Buenos Aires province.

At 3:45 p.m., a rebel plane dropped a bomb on the barracks of the 7th (loyal) infantry regiment in Eva Peron, with undetermined results.

Except for a rebel "leaflet raid" earlier in the day, the bomb at Eva Peron was the first air action reported in the revolt. The government announced, however, that loyal air units have been ordered to bombard rebel concentrations in Cordoba.

An unidentified plane flew over the big Plaza de Mayo in central Buenos Aires at 3:50 p.m., dropping neither bombs nor leaflets but causing some panic among bystanders who remembered the anti-government air attacks that killed more than 200 persons in the square during the navy revolt June 16.

Reports that the army is seeking Peron's resignation circulated here and also were broadcast by Uruguayan radio stations quoting Argentine refugees.

The Argentine seagoing fleet was reported loyal to the government.

The air force, several of whose officers supported the June 16 revolt, also was reported loyal, although a number of air cadets were fighting on the side of the rebels in Cordoba.

Buenos Aires' first intimation of trouble came about 4 a.m., when it was reported that police had arrested 50 armed soldiers and civilians in the harbor area, where the rebels had assembled for an atack on the naval arsenal.

Police then began stopping and searching passing cars, and the occupants of 17 that were found to contain arms were arrested.

"Through the ranks" — Working one summer in the shipping department.

"Conference" — Coffee break with real napkins.

"Memo" — The devastating rejoinder you just couldn't think of during an earlier face -to-face discussion.

"Consolidating position in the market — We didn't make any money on it.

"Benefit of my thinking — This is the way it's gonna be.

"Progressive Expansion — Deciding on sweeping moderization of the plant one jump ahead of the fire marshal's condemnation.

Each year the Jaycees make known those persons who are rated as outstanding local citizens.

Last Monday the names for the current year were announced at a dinner held in Hotel Virginia. They announced these as the Rev. Lea Joyner, pastor of Southside Methodist church; C. B. Braun, clerk in the City of Monroe court and active leaders in many lines; and W. Carroll Royce, who has been active in baseball leadership for many years here.

The Rev. Joyner came to Monroe in 1944 to become assistant pastor of the First Methodist church after she had organized a Methodist church in Columbia. She became active in her work especially as it concerned the formation of missions along the levee in Monroe. She brought cheer into many homes that needed aid.

Probably the greatest work performed by the Rev. Joyner was the formation of the Southside Methodist church in Monroe, which has made astonishing growth in the past three or four years. She is a woman with deep sympathy and great heart for those who need a friend in their need. Her selection as one of the three meets with general approval.

Mr. Braun has worked for 15 years as chairman of Pelican state for boys which is a project of the L. B. Faulk Legion post in Monroe. For five years, Mr. Braun has been secretary - treasury of the Monroe Rotary club, and has contributed his time and effort in this important post.

Mr. Royce has been active in Sports, helped organize the Twin City Baseball league and also the Little League, served as Commissioner for the basketball league, and rendering great service as member of the City of Monroe Recreation board.

All the selections are such as to meet with hearty approval of the public for all three have earned the right to be given recognition.

Dr. Julia Hunter, proud of a nephew who at one and the same time is entering Tulane medical school and observing his 21st birthday, when asked what he desired as gift on this eventful occasion responded:

"I know what I'll get for a birthday present — it will be a CADAVER!"

A former Monroyan now living out of the state wrote Jes' Ramblin' anent the power plant troubles here : "As this plant has been off and on the same sort of trouble for more than 20 years, my suggestion would be to build a new and modern light plant with new equipment."

If one doubts that Monroe is a beautiful city he has only to witness the motion picture that Commissioner Wayne H. Huckaby has taken the past three or four years. He showed them to the Monroe Civitan club Thursday night and pleased his audience.

Some views showed dogwood in bloom, azalea time at its best, the oleanders of South Grand street along the seawall and the two municipal parks and swimming pool pleased the club members. Some of them later declared that they had never before realized what a beautiful and flowering city we have here through the entire year.

er possessed). He can lose his NOTES, of course.

12. DIP is best. It can mean only a DIP in the ocean or a bath. As for a NIP, this is too general. A NIP of what? The clue doesn't say. The same applies to SIP. DIP is a surer answer.

14. STRIKER is preferred. By word or action, an individual STRIKER might well make a factory manager very angry. STRIKES would be far more apt in the singular. Also, it is quite possible that a man in the position of factory manager might be one of the STRIKERS HIMSELF, in which case STRIKES would hardly anger him.

15. MUTE is preferred since it is in common use today in connection with a variety of musical instruments and the student will need to learn about it. The LUTE, being an old fashioned instrument, is seldom studied today.

17. SEE is best. Many of them can't SEE very well "WITHOUT THEIR GLASSES", and can't SEW very well whether they have their glasses or not, or we might say that SEE is more comprehensive since they may not be able to SEW very well because they cannot SEE very well.

22. SLIM is more apt because in order to SLIM all you need to do is to follow certain instructions. For SWIM it would be better to say LEARNING to do so.

25. CAR is best. The clue refers to the "actual" cost. It is not uncommon for a man to be surprised when he counts up the actual cost of owning and running a CAR. Since it is a well known fact that no man or public body has ever been able to compute the "actual" cost of any WAR, the word WAR, as the answer, is ruled out since no man COULD ever "learn its actual cost" and be surprised.

26. To PRAY for your country is INDEED praiseworthy. To PLAY for your country is not necessarily praiseworthy — you MAY PLAY very badly or you may do it for purely selfish reasons.

27. If a big effort is WANTED, it's no use being dismal about it — you need to get on with the job. If a big effort on your part is WASTED, your are ENTITLED to feel dismal about it.

CLUES DOWN:

5. "Refusing" implies a positive action of refusal on the part of "the answer," favoring MEN. MEN can REFUSE to write. A PEN can only FAIL to write.

20. "Foolish" favors COAT. To neglect a COLT would be inhuman and "foolish" would be an understatement.

CHICAGO HAS HEAT RECORD

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 —UP— Chicago set a new record for hot weather Friday when the mercury climbed to 90 degrees for the 43rd time this year. The old record was 42 days of 90-degree weather in 1953.

"establishment" owners that if they couldn't trust their employees to abide by the law that it would be best to quit selling liquor and beer to occupants in cars.

He stated that the employer is just as guilty as the employee when it comes to selling intoxicating beverages to juveniles.

In other cases disposed of and continued by Judge Garrett, three youths were awaiting sentence on charges of armed robbery of a Camp Polk Army sergeant last Saturday night in West Monroe.

Sentence was not passed because parents of the youths were not present. The trio were: Calvin L. King, 18, Delhi; Rudolph Ainsworth, 17, route 3, West Monroe; and Buford Hand, 21, 2406 Grammont, Monroe.

All confessed to the robbery Sunday at the West Monroe police station and were transferred to the parish jail.

Johnny Wade, 45, Negro, was sentenced to one year in the Louisiana State Penitentiary for using a knife on a woman.

Paul T. Boillot, 33, was sentenced to serve five years in Angola on charges of simple burglary.

Gertrude Baker, Negro woman, was given six months in the Ouachita parish jail on charges of obtaining public welfare fund under false pretenses.

For the most part the defendants —the first 14 of 28 scheduled to appear during the day—entered pleas of not guilty and asked trial.

Harvey C. Morgan, a young Negro, entered a plea of guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated —with reservations. A Louisiana state trooper told Judge Garrett of Morgan's erratic driving on the day of his arrest. Judge Garrett asked him why he was driving that way.

"Why, your honor," he said, "I called my wife and she told me to come right on home and come on home right now."

"You tell your wife that that conversation cost you just $100 and costs or 90 days default," Judge Garrett said.

Morrison, Barham

directed a vast program of public improvements, said that he is gratified at the pledges of support pouring in from every parish and precinct in Louisiana.

"Louisiana is on the threshold of a great new industrial development that should be reflected in every parish and community," he said. "But someone has to provide leadership. The job must be organized on a statewide basis, just as it was in New Orleans. It requires planning, coordination. It cannot be done haphazardly. I believe that my experience as Mayor of New Orleans, my record of performance there, qualifies me for this great task on which the future prosperity of our state depends."

Morrison pointed out that as a member of the State Legislature he voted for a right - to - work bill, and added: "Although some of the labor leaders oppose this legislation, which is now on the statute books, the majority of the people favor it. I am against repeal of the right - to - work bill."

With reference to segregation issues, he pointed out that under his administration New Orleans has erected separate schools, parks and playgrounds for Negroes at a cost of many millions of dollars.

"Our experience in New Orleans has proved that Negroes, given equal public facilities, have very little interest in integration," he commented.

"Most of them prefer their own separate facilities, if these are adequate."

Mayor Morrison explained with pride that one of the major accomplishments of his administration in New Orleans has been in the field of law enforcement. From a crime-ridden city, New Orleans has emerged as one of the most law-abiding cities of the South, he stated.

The mayor made it plain that in referring to what has been accomplished during his decade in New Orleans as head of the city government, he takes no sole credit.

"We have had the splendid cooperation of people in every walk of life and nearly every civic group and organization," he said.

Lt. Gov. Barham declared that the mayor's statement of his religious affiliations in his opening speech had been well received over the state.

On that occasion Morrison said: "I would like the people of Louisiana to know that I am a God-worshipping and God-fearing man, and have belonged to a church all of my natural life. I was born and am now a member of the Catholic Church, but I respect every man's religion, and believe his religious preference to worship is his own business. I do believe, though, it is important to belong to and support a church during your adult lifetime."

The lieutenant governor, who was swept into office despite the defeat of his ticket in the last election, emphasized Morrison's statement that a return to old-time machine politics in the Louisiana state government might prove disastrous to the state's future.

"Every precinct will be equipped with automatic voting machines in the next election," he pointed out.

"That fact is going to make it hard on would-be political bosses."

Morrison and Barham pledged that they will discuss all public issues freely, and let the voters know exactly where they stand on every question.

They plan a vigorous statewide campaign.

Kennon

and white — the public school system might degenerate."

The question of integration in Louisiana is largely governed by state law, the governor told a news conference.

"It is not a violation of the Supreme Court ruling to continue a dual school system. The Supreme Court does not have jurisdiction over the state school system."

Kennon, a former Louisiana appeal court judge, insisted the Supreme Court decision "does not mean a Negro child has to go to a mixed school, it simply means if the child wants to go, admission cannot be denied because of color."

Kennon answered questions about school segregation the day after an NAACP rally here. An NAACP attorney predicted "there is nothing on God's green earth that can stop integration."

The rally raised nearly $1,000 toward financing a federal lawsuit the NAACP attorney proposed against the East Baton Rouge Parish School Board, attacking Louisiana's 1954 laws designed to get around the Supreme Court ruling. A similar suit already has been filed in New Orleans.

The governor declined comment on the rally.

Kennon reiterated Louisiana "happily is free of racial friction."

"I believe the segregation amendment approved at the polls last November received a substantial vote from Negroes," Kennon commented. The amendment, now under NAACP fire, would preserve school segregation under the police powers of the state.

Kennon said Louisiana has more Negro teachers than states where segregation does not exist, "and we have more colored teachers per 1,000 Negroes than any of those states."

"I think the great majority of our Negro parents and children prefer their own schools . . . our Negro schools are not inferior, we have good Negro teachers, we have one of the finest Negro universities in the nation."

RECOVERING FROM FLU

LONDON, Sept. 16—UP—Prime Minister Anthony Eden was reported making "good progress" Friday in a bout with the flue.

next 24 hours, with some increase in intensity likely."

The storm was centered at 10 p.m. 520 miles slightly south of due east from Miami. The hurricane was expected to continue on a west-northwest course at about 12 miles an hour for the next 24 hours "but turning slightly toward the northwest with time." This change, if it developed, would bring the Carolinas more into the orbit of the storm than Florida.

Dunn, who predicted Ione's sharp turn toward the East Coast Thursday well in advance, said there was a "trend for an increasing easterly flow" north of the Atlantic storm.

In the general path of the hurricane lay the Carolina coasts, where hurricanes Connie and Diane swept inland last month. Like her predecessors, Ione so far is not a mighty storm nor a big one but weathermen pointed toward the disaster caused by Connie and Diane.

Connie cost 42 lives and upwards of $80 million in property losses as she swept up the east coast from the Carolinas. A few days later Diane flooded the East Coast and resulted in the loss of 310 lives and $1.6 billion in property.

Hurricane Hilda struck the Yucatan peninsula before dawn Friday. The storm was not expected to cause great damage because that Central American hump is very poorly developed.

But delayed reports from eastern Cuba indicated the type of destroyer Hilda is. Damage to coffee and cocoa crops in the Oriente province was estimated at $4 million.

Reports from Baracia, Cuba, said the city was besieged for six hours by winds of 75 miles per hour.

force rebelled in the Cordoba region.

"Many loyal forces, belonging to the army, are marching from different directions to put down the (rebel) movement. The air force is supporting this loyal force," the communique said.

The rebel forces struck just three months to the day of the navy-led revolt of June 16 against Peron.

They attacked from the big Puerto Belgrano naval base 360 miles southwest off Buenos Aires and overcame loyal troops to take the key southern city of Bahia Blanca.

Police, taking no chances, extended cordons around Casa Rosa (Pink House), the seat of Peron government operations in Buenos Aires.

Peron, in what apparently was his first public action of the day, decreed the immediate application of operation "Conintes," a plan of defense drawn up by the National Security Council for times of internal upheaval.

(It was unofficially reported that two Argentine ships bringing wounded from the rebellion to Montevideo, Uruguay, were being attacked by Peron's planes in the river Plate.

(Sources said the two ships were part of rebel naval forces. As far as was known 18 wounded were aboard the vessels).

The rebel radio at Bahia Blanca said the navy destroyers Cervantes and La Rioja went to Montevideo, to dischange three dead and 18 wounded.

The "state of siege" proclaimed here two weeks ago was extended to all of Argentina during the early hours of the revolt.

A heavy artillery bombardment accompanying the battle at Rio Santiago was heard in Eva Peron (La Plata), capital of Buenos Aires province.

At 3:45 p.m., a rebel plane dropped a bomb on the barracks of the 7th (loyal) infantry regiment in Eva Peron, with undetermined results.

Except for a rebel "leaflet raid" earlier in the day, the bomb at Eva Peron was the first air action reported in the revolt. The government announced, however, that loyal air units have been ordered to bombard rebel concentrations in Cordoba.

An unidentified plane flew over the big Plaza de Mayo in central Buenos Aires at 3:50 p.m., dropping neither bombs nor leaflets but causing some panic among bystanders who remembered the anti-government air attacks that killed more than 200 persons in the square during the navy revolt June 16.

Reports that the army is seeking Peron's resignation circulated here and also were broadcast by Uruguayan radio stations quoting Argentine refugees.

The Argentine seagoing fleet was reported loyal to the government.

The air force, several of whose officers supported the June 16 revolt, also was reported loyal, although a number of air cadets were fighting on the side of the rebels in Cordoba.

Buenos Aires' first intimation of trouble came about 4 a.m., when it was reported that police had arrested 50 armed soldiers and civilians in the harbor area, where the rebels had assembled for an atack on the naval arsenal.

Police then began stopping and searching passing cars, and the occupants of 17 that were found to contain arms were arrested.

Power, Light Co., Tells Lions Club Of Great Growth

The Louisiana Power and Light Company of West Monroe was the sponsor of the program at the West Monroe Lions Club Thursday night. Speaking on the subject of "The Growth and Expansion" of power in North Louisiana was Ed Hodge, sales representative and manager. Mr. Hodge stated, among other items of interest, that the Louisiana Power and Light Company paid six millions of dollars in taxes in 1954, as against one million in 1935; that the 1935 dollar would now buy $1.22 worth of power; that the cost of power had decreased from an average of 11 cents per kilowatt hour in the thirties to three cents in July, 1955; and that a person might turn his refrigerator off for one week and save ten cents or leave his television set off for 20 thirty minute programs and save one dime.

Lion "Pappy" Eaves was tried by a Lion Kangaroo Court consisting of "Judge" Jasper Jones, "Prosecutor" Hugh Taylor, "Attorney" Percy Leblanc, and witnesses Blackman, Screpetis and Webb, on miscellaneous trumped up charges that grew out of the recent trip to the International Lions Convention in Atlantic City

However, "Judge" Jones ruled that due to the manner in which the case was presented, and also to the vote of the jury, that "Pappy" should be acquitted. The jury consisted of all members of the club.

Program Chairman Hugh Taylor announced that next week's program would consist of a film showing how the funds that are paid into Lions International are expended and promised that it would be a very interesting program.

The regular monthly board meeting will be held at the Louisiana Power and Light camp on Cheniere Monday night.

Investiture And Awards To Girl Scouts Are Made

An investiture and Court of Awards was held this week for Senior Girl Scout Troop 14, according to Mrs. Robert Easterling, leader of the troop.

Miss Annis Klie, executive director of the Girl Scouts in Monroe, made an address after the traditional flag ceremony by the girls, the invocation, and the lighting of the candles.

Officers installed at the ceremonies included Beverly Rushing, treasurer; Ingrid Peterson, secretary; Linda Eby, sergeant-at-arms; Nancy Martin, historian; Daveen Barksdale, Nancy Breard, Anne McCarty, and Amy Hood, patrol leaders; and Marie Nelson, Charlotte Bruscato, Rose Ann Cascio and Linda McCormick, assistant patrol leaders.

Marie Nelson, incoming chairman, was presented with a gavel by Daveen Barksdale, out-going chairman.

Betty Hines and Marie Nelson presented the following girls for investiture as members of the troop: Becky Vance, Linda Atkins, Linda McCormick, Louise McCullough, Charlotte Pankey, and Amy Hood.

Awards were as follows:

Five - year pins — Charlotte Pankey, Linda McCormick, Linda Atkins, Amy Hood, Anne McCarty, Beverly Rushing, Betty Hines, Nancy Martin, and Sue Grower.

Senior Service Emblems — Betty Hines, Ingrid Peterson, Daveen Barksdale, Beverly Rushing and Marie Nelson, for completing a five - point Girl Scout program.

Program Aid Bars — Daveen Barksdale, Beverly Rushing, and Marie Nelson, for working with Brownies 30 hours.

Charity rackets are currently getting about $100,000,000 of the total of close to two billion dollars given to private philanthropy in this country, notes a new Twentieth century Fund report.

Luxury Pullman Monday To Begin Run To Monroe

Starting Monday, a new type Pullman car will be placed in service by Missouri Pacific Lines between Lake Charles, Alexandria, Monroe, Pine Bluff and St. Louis. The lightweight, streamlined car, consisting of 14 roomettes and four bedrooms, will replace the old conventional type sleeper.

All-room sleeping car service provides the traveler with a degree of privacy hitherto unattainable in the open-section type of car. The 14 roomettes are designed for individual travelers and offer a completely enclosed room with private toilet and lavatory facilities. Folded into the wall, the full-length bed is completely equipped with mattress, pillow, linen and blankets. A simple twist of a lever and it is readily available for use, day or night. When no longer required, it can easily be returned to its concealed position, allowing ample space for dressing. Other convenience and comfort features include thermostatic heat and air-conditioning controls, full length mirror, electric shaver outlet, shoe locker and spacious luggage rack.

Double bedrooms for two persons, or two adults with small children, are ideal accommodations in the new car and admirable for family travel. Each room offers full size lower and upper beds, private toilet and lavatory facilities with separate air-conditioning controls and the other features that also characterize the roomettes.

The new cars will operate on the same schedule as the cars they replace: departure from St. Louis on the Texas Eagle, at 5:30 p.m. with arrival at Monroe at 6:30 a.m. the next morning. Returning, leave Monroe at 6:45 p.m. with arrival in St. Louis at 7:50 a.m.

INTERIOR VIEW of one of the four double bedrooms made up for night occupancy, as provided in the new light-weight streamlined sleeping car to be placed in service by Missouri Pacific Lines between Lake Charles, Alexandria, Monroe, Pine Bluff and St. Louis, effective September 19. Lower and upper beds are comfortably large enough for an adult and child, and each has an individual night light. Private toilet is in annex at extreme left, at corner of which is control panel for room's temperature, air-conditioning, and lights.

Power, Light Co., Tells Lions Club Of Great Growth

The Louisiana Power and Light Company of West Monroe was the sponsor of the program at the West Monroe Lions Club Thursday night. Speaking on the subject of "The Growth and Expansion" of power in North Louisiana was Ed Hodge, sales representative and manager. Mr. Hodge stated, among other items of interest, that the Louisiana Power and Light Company paid six millions of dollars in taxes in 1954, as against one million in 1935; that the 1935 dollar would now buy $1.22 worth of power; that the cost of power had decreased from an average of 11 cents per kilowatt hour in the thirties to three cents in July, 1955; and that a person might turn his refrigerator off for one week and save ten cents or leave his television set off for 20 thirty minute programs and save one dime.

Lion "Pappy" Eaves was tried by a Lion Kangaroo Court consisting of "Judge" Jasper Jones, "Prosecutor" Hugh Taylor, "Attorney" Percy Leblanc, and witnesses Blackman, Screpetis and Webb, on miscellaneous trumped up charges that grew out of the recent trip to the International Lions Convention in Atlantic City

However, "Judge" Jones ruled that due to the manner in which the case was presented, and also to the vote of the jury, that "Pappy" should be acquitted. The jury consisted of all members of the club.

Program Chairman Hugh Taylor announced that next week's program would consist of a film showing how the funds that are paid into Lions International are expended and promised that it would be a very interesting program.

The regular monthly board meeting will be held at the Louisiana Power and Light camp on Cheniere Monday night.

Investiture And Awards To Girl Scouts Are Made

An investiture and Court of Awards was held this week for Senior Girl Scout Troop 14, according to Mrs. Robert Easterling, leader of the troop.

Miss Annis Klie, executive director of the Girl Scouts in Monroe, made an address after the traditional flag ceremony by the girls, the invocation, and the lighting of the candles.

Officers installed at the ceremonies included Beverly Rushing, treasurer; Ingrid Peterson, secretary; Linda Eby, sergeant-at-arms; Nancy Martin, historian; Daveen Barksdale, Nancy Breard, Anne McCarty, and Amy Hood, patrol leaders; and Marie Nelson, Charlotte Bruscato, Rose Ann Cascio and Linda McCormick, assistant patrol leaders.

Marie Nelson, incoming chairman, was presented with a gavel by Daveen Barksdale, out-going chairman.

Betty Hines and Marie Nelson presented the following girls for investiture as members of the troop: Becky Vance, Linda Atkins, Linda McCormick, Louise McCullough, Charlotte Pankey, and Amy Hood.

Awards were as follows:

Five - year pins — Charlotte Pankey, Linda McCormick, Linda Atkins, Amy Hood, Anne McCarty, Beverly Rushing, Betty Hines, Nancy Martin, and Sue Grower.

Senior Service Emblems — Betty Hines, Ingrid Peterson, Daveen Barksdale, Beverly Rushing and Marie Nelson, for completing a five - point Girl Scout program.

Program Aid Bars — Daveen Barksdale, Beverly Rushing, and Marie Nelson, for working with Brownies 30 hours.

Charity rackets are currently getting about $100,000,000 of the total of close to two billion dollars given to private philanthropy in this country, notes a new Twentieth century Fund report.

Luxury Pullman Monday To Begin Run To Monroe

Starting Monday, a new type Pullman car will be placed in service by Missouri Pacific Lines between Lake Charles, Alexandria, Monroe, Pine Bluff and St. Louis. The lightweight, streamlined car, consisting of 14 roomettes and four bedrooms, will replace the old conventional type sleeper.

All-room sleeping car service provides the traveler with a degree of privacy hitherto unattainable in the open-section type of car. The 14 roomettes are designed for individual travelers and offer a completely enclosed room with private toilet and lavatory facilities. Folded into the wall, the full-length bed is completely equipped with mattress, pillow, linen and blankets. A simple twist of a lever and it is readily available for use, day or night. When no longer required, it can easily be returned to its concealed position, allowing ample space for dressing. Other convenience and comfort features include thermostatic heat and air-conditioning controls, full length mirror, electric shaver outlet, shoe locker and spacious luggage rack.

Double bedrooms for two persons, or two adults with small children, are ideal accommodations in the new car and admirable for family travel. Each room offers full size lower and upper beds, private toilet and lavatory facilities with separate air-conditioning controls and the other features that also characterize the roomettes.

The new cars will operate on the same schedule as the cars they replace: departure from St. Louis on the Texas Eagle, at 5:30 p.m. with arrival at Monroe at 6:30 a.m. the next morning. Returning, leave Monroe at 6:45 p.m. with arrival in St. Louis at 7:50 a.m.

INTERIOR VIEW of one of the four double bedrooms made up for night occupancy, as provided in the new light-weight streamlined sleeping car to be placed in service by Missouri Pacific Lines between Lake Charles, Alexandria, Monroe, Pine Bluff and St. Louis, effective September 19. Lower and upper beds are comfortably large enough for an adult and child, and each has an individual night light. Private toilet is in annex at extreme left, at corner of which is control panel for room's temperature, air-conditioning, and lights.

Constitution 168 Years Old Today

The people of the United States today observe Constitution Day, in commemoration of the signing of the Constitution on Sept. 17, 1787, at Philadelphia.

The Constitution and the Declaration of Independence are the two most precious documents in American annals.

The Constitution was forged in the cauldron of war, and the blood of patriots sprinkled the soil from which it sprang.

Time has proved its worth as the charter of human liberty and freedom, guiding an infant nation through trials and tribulations into growth and greatness such as no other nation ever experienced.

Every citizen should familiarize himself with its provisions and its precious guarantees; and stand ready to defend it against assaults from enemies of freedom at home and abroad.

We cannot take liberty and freedom for granted. We must be ready to defend the institutions which have guided us, under God, on the long road we have traveled as a nation.

The Constitution is a mighty bulwark protecting the individual against tyranny by the state, protecting the States against centralized despotism by the Federal Government, insuring that the Federal Government is responsive to the will of the voters at the polls.

Many of our bravest sons have died in defense of the Constitution and the ideals of liberty and freedom it embodies.

This great document has been a hope and inspiration to oppressed peoples all over the world.

Today's Retail Picture

As anyone who reads the newspaper ads knows, competition is intense among retailers these days. Even though consumption is at an all-time high, production has kept pace with it and in some cases out-run it. This means that retailers must go to great lengths to gain and hold customers.

In this battle for business, how are the smaller retailers faring?

The Wall Street Journal recently devoted a lengthy feature article to that, based on surveys and interviews made in all parts of the country. The general findings were expressed in these words: "Many small retailers say sales and profits are sagging in 1955's fierce competition. But others . . . are more than holding their own . . . little merchants are stocking better products, stepping up services. As price trimming squeezes profit margins, many are keeping closer watch on costs." The newspaper cites a number of typical and specific cases where aggressive small merchants, with energy and ambition and new ideas, have made big gains in sales and are looking at bright profit pictures.

What it all adds up to is that success in retailing—as in any other business—must be earned. It takes hard work. It demands competence and a high degree of business acumen. It requires understanding of the public taste and a willingness to cater to that taste. Nor is this confined to the smaller retailers. In time, the biggest retail business in the country would fail if it didn't offer the kind of service and present the attractions consumers want.

Experience in good times and bad, in peace and war, has proven beyond argument that there is plenty of room in this country for all kinds of retailers—the big ones and the little one, the chains and the independents. Each has certain advantages on its side which, wisely used, enable it to succeed. The fact that retail competition is stiffer than ever has not changed that fact.

Get Your Share

Enormous progress has been made in the science of nutrition in a comparatively brief span of years. Many an "old wives' tale" concerning good and bad eating habits has been dissipated. New frontiers of knowledge have been opened.

One of the most important things the nutritionists have learned is that a sound diet, for the vast majority of people of all ages, must contain a high proportion of proteins, such as those found in meat. That is true right around the calendar—the proteins are just as essential in summer as in winter. But it's unfortunate that, despite this proven fact, many of us wittingly or otherwise pursue dietary habits which are distinctly bad.

This is often the case with young people. The Mansfield, Ohio, News offered some excellent advice when it said: "A hot dog, a bottle of pop, and a handful of potato chips is not a satisfactory meal for a growing child. There's nothing wrong with such snacks occasionally, but parents should see to it that at least once a day the children have a good well-rounded meal with plenty of meat, milk, vegetables and fruit.

"Meat is the major source of proteins in the human diet . . . The 1955 production of red meat is expected to reach a record 26,300,000,000 pounds, exceeding the 1954 figures of 25,300,000,000 pounds. Be sure your family gets its share."

Meat has been moderately priced this year—far below the postwar highs. Inexpensive cuts are as valuable, from the nutritional point of view, as the most costly and, properly prepared, make delectable eating. A sound diet pays great and lasting dividends in physical and mental health and vigor.

RALEIGH, MISS., REFORMER: "We go along with the Rural Electrification program in which associations borrow from the government to finance construction of electric systems and later repay their loans. However, no candidate can curry favor with us by advocating outright ownership of electric distribution systems in which a whole nation is taxed for the benefit of a few small sections. Such is Socialism pure and undefiled—the first long stride toward Communism."

THESE DAYS

By George Sokolsky

The A. F. Of L. And The 'New Look'

The American Federation of Labor is apparently not a votary of fashion. It has not taken on the "New Look." At a time when so many of those who call themselves anti-communist and anti-Marxist are catching the "Geneva Spirit," the American Federation of Labor courageously takes the position that principles are unaffected by shifting styles.

The Free Trade Union Committee is an organ of the American Federation of Labor. Its officers are George Meany, honorary president, Matthew Woll, president, David Dubinsky, vice-president, William Schnitzler, honorary secretary, Jay Lovestone, executive secretary. This body has probably done more to undermine communist influences in European and Asiatic trade unions than any other group. It has been consistently anti-communist.

It is this committee which has given world-wide circulation to its rejection of the suggestion that "trade union delegations from Soviet Russia and other Iron Curtain countries" visit the United States "as guests of our free trade union movement."

On this subject, it states:

"The Executive Council of the A.F. of L. vigorously rejects all such invitations. They stem from Moscow to serve the interests of the Soviet dictatorship at home and abroad. A visit by an authoritative American trade union delegation to the U.S.S.R. would not bring the peoples of Russia and America closer. Such a visit would only play into the hands of the totalitarian dictatorship which, regardless of its apologies at Belgrade and smiles at Geneva, denies its own people all fundamental human rights. This regime cynically denies its working people the right of freedom of association and organization, the right to strike and the right of genuine collective bargaining enjoyed by the workers of all free countries."

This is similar to the position taken by William L. McGrath of the employer group of the American delegation to the 38th International Labor Conference at Geneva last June. He reported:

"The workers' delegations are supposed to represent free associations of workers, and the employers' delegations are supposed to represent free associations of employers."

Neither Russian employers nor employees are free men; they represent their government. They are controlled by their government. Threfore, the American employer delegates withdrew from four conference committees. Mr. McGrath said:

"I felt that positive action was imperative in order to emphasize the need for maintaining a stand, on principle, on behalf of preserving not only the tripartite structure of this Organization but the very existence of the International Labor Organization. Do we want the I.L.O to stay alive? Or do we want it destroyed by the Communists?"

Although officially the American government is accepting the Russian "New Look," American labor, as represented by the American Federation of Labor, and this significant employer's group in the I.L.O. insist that there cannot be and should not be a compromise on principle between free labor and slave labor, between free employers and representatives of a society in which every manager of enterprise is a government official.

The American Federation of Labor further says:

" . . . We of the A.F. of L. are not going to be thus used and exploited by the communist or by any other dictatorship. When the Nazis grabbed power in Germany and destroyed its trade unions and all other democratic institutions, we of the A.F. of L. refused to send good-will or study missions to that country. No American, or any other free trade union organization, ever sent such a mission to Fascist Italy or Falangist Spain. To have sent such missions to any of these dictatorships would have provided a cover of moral respectability and human decency to their totalitarian tyrants. To have sent such labor missions would . . . have shattered their faith in international labor solidarity and in the forces of freedom everywhere.

"None of us found it necessary to visit any of these totalitarian countries in order to find out what Hitler, Mussolini, and Franco want or whether they have a 'new look.' Everything we have said about the Nazi, Fascist, and Falangist totalitarian regimes holds with equal force for the Khrushchev regime in Russia. Merely because communism calls itself a proletarian dictatorship does not make it less warlike and less brutal or more democratic and more peaceful, than the Nazi, Fascist, and Falangist totalitarian regimes."

Whatever one may feel about the various countries included in this grouping, the fact stands clear that those who oppose state control of man cannot compromise their principles without losing their moral position.

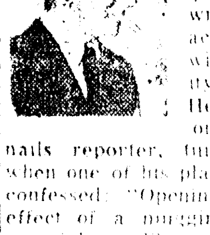
Lights Over Broadway

First - nights represent fascinating plots replete with the development of human destinies as well as the suspenseful expectancy of unforseen events. There isn't a performer, producer or playwright who can accept premieres with equanimity . . . Ben Hecht, who was once a hard - as-nails reporter, turns into butter when one of his plays opens. Hecht confessed: "Opening night has the effect of a mugging on you. It's a social art, like getting kicked out of a restaurant. Once, I thought I was pretty calm. Someone bumped into me and I fell over. I remember saving Charlie MacArthur's life at the opening of 'The Front Page.' He started to lean against a door in the balcony that wasn't there. Now I stay backstage. Actors are charming and I might as well be executed in good company."



Several Coast historians are currently engaged in detecting the sources of Grace Kelly's personal magic. One is tempted to counsel these intrepid researchers: Don't analyze, just look . . . Her Grace's charms, it must be conceded, are unusual. In contrast with the blonde infernos who generally personify movie queens, Grace conveys a sense of dignity without disturbing the more elemental attractions. For example, when she posed with Marlon Brando, one hocus-focuser requested: "Won't you kiss Marlon, Grace?"

She calmly responded: "I think he should kiss me." (He did.)

A journey to the stars is exciting as well as saddening. Those who dwell in the celluloid heavens are constantly haunted by a melancholy irony: They frequently have everything . . . and nothing. Rita Hayworth — gifted with beauty, fame and fortune — has been burdened with loneliness, heartbreak and despair. She once confessed to almost daily weeping jags. Incredibly, the fragments of stardust are outnumbered by slivers of shattered hearts. The final irony is that those who have the adoration of millions often fail to gain the enduring affection of one man. They are acquainted with the words of love and rarely experience its music . . . Several years ago a magazine hailed Rita as "The Goddess of Love." One diligent reporter urged the star to express her reaction to this high honor. "Golly," she sighed, "any girl would love to be a goddess."

The United Nations seems strangely unperturbed by a tense diplomatic crisis. Hollywood (engaged in making the world safe for box offices) has vigorously protested the pressure exerted by Ambassador Luce which resulted in the withdrawal of the movie, "Blackboard Jungle," from the Venice Film Festival. The film was deemed "derogatory to America." The incident is not without a touch of irony, since the most derogatory play ever written about American women was "The Women," which was parented by Ambassador Luce.

"Before a board of censors," H. L. Mencken has logically argued, "a man has no right at all. The board is at once the complainant, the prosecutor and the executionee. It has all the powers of a court, but none of the responsibilities."

The charms of Italian movie dolls may appear quite obvious. There are certain subtle aspects, however, which have elusive qualities while retaining their essential fascination. Newsweek magazine recently quoted an authority on the subject: "When Gina or Sophia show much bosom, one feels it's only because they naturally have so much of it they can hardly help it. When Martine Carol, a French star, shows bosom, one feels it's because she just wants to." (Tee-Hee! Peek-a-Bu!)

Martin and Lewis almost split. Milton and Berle, however, remain indivisible. Despite the scorn of sophisticates, Milton demonstrated greater endurance than many of his competitors. In an interview with Jack O'Brian, he generously confided: "Back in '25 Ted Healy took me aside and gave me some wonderful advice. It still goes perfectly for any kid coming up in show business. It went this way: 'Milton, always play to the public. Never mind playing to the theatrical crowd. Don't try to impress the trumpet player in the pit. Entertain the people and you'll get rich and famous.' "

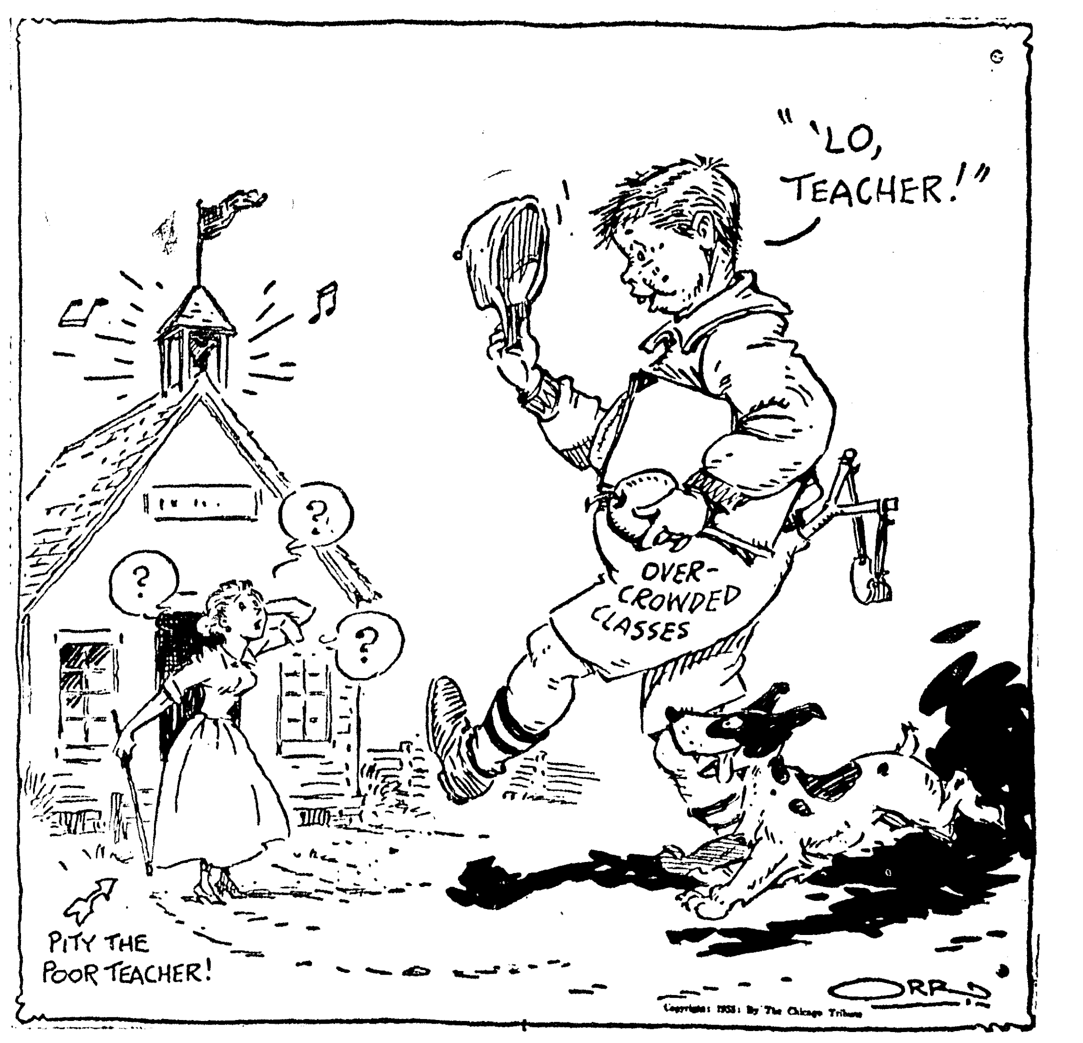
THE PROBLEM CHILD RETURNS TO SCHOOL



Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Want To Be Liked?

Boys and girls, you want to be liked. Everybody does but some people seem not to know how to go about it. Some think that having a lot of money and showing it, by spending it on treats for all and everyone, is the way. Some try to make the grade by saying "Yes," to anything that is asked. Naturally, they soon learn this doesn't work. The truth is that you cannot buy your way with money or gifts or subservience. But there is an unfailing way and a simple one. Give your best in service without asking or expecting a return. That does it.

So you begin by taking a pencil and a notebook and setting down the things you can do to be of service to other people. Begin at home. What can you do to make your mother's and your father's work lighter? Not just what you would like to do, remember, but what you CAN do — putting your bedroom in order, leaving the bathroom shipshape, helping entertain the friend of the family you least admire.

Then go outside the family. There is the teacher. A smile and a cordial good morning? A flower? A helping hand with the room equipment? Holding the door open for him? Having your notebook in on time and neatly done? He may faint but he will enjoy the experience.

Schoolmates? Stand back to let a girl pass. Give someone else a chance to have first choice at the cafeteria and smile while you do so. Congratulate a fellow pupil on a good mark or a good recitation. Send a get-well card to one who is ill or a note to one in trouble. Do your share of the unpleasant jobs, like being ticket chairman. Offer help when there is a mean job to be done or, if you're stuck with it, grin and carry it through as if it were a mission to Shangri La. Have fun spending your sunny self.

People, all people, and that includes everybody from grandfather to the new baby, is lonely. Hard To Make Farm Prices An Issue

Can the Democrats make a real issue out of Republican agricultural policies?

So far the GOP farm program has been their biggest target but a big difference of opinion exists among Democrats themselves whether that issue will be a decisive vote getter, either in the presidential contest, or in the equally keen fight for control of Congress.

The question is whether the steady decline in prices of basic farm commodities can be used to hurt the Republicans, and more important whether it can be blamed on legislative and administrative action by the Eisenhower administration.

The Republican reply is of course in the negative. It says that price declines were inevitable after high level price supports during war time periods, with accompanying increase in acreage. It can also be recalled that many agricultural economists have been saying since World War II that farm price cannot be fixed by price supports and crop controls, but by better application of acreage adjustments which would keep supply and demand in closer balance.

These adjustments would take marginal farm lands out of cultivation, which has been advocated at some time by every secretary of agriculture during the last 30 years, including Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, but has been shied at by Congress because they would be directed chiefly at the marginal land, small farmer, who has a hard time getting along as it is.

The Democratic attack would be waged in the middle and far west, where a great majority of the so called agricultural districts are represented by Republicans, whom the Democrats failed to unseat in the congressional battle of 1954, when the farmers declined to revolt against the Benson farm plan, based on flexible price supports.

Now some new data on the farm position has come to light in preliminary returns of the 1954 official farm census, the first since 1949. The figures cited are for the state of Iowa, not because it is the richest farming state, but because it is certainly one of those in which the Democrats would campaign on the issue of falling farm prices.

Those prices have been declining gradually during most of the last five years. Nevertheless, the figures show that in Iowa the number of farms selling more than $25,000 worth of farm products increased from 7,330 in 1949 to 10,317 in 1954; the number in the $15,000-$25,000 class rose from 44,203 to 52,134 while the small farmers, selling between $5,000 and $10,000 worth, declined from 67,866 to 59,884 with many moving into higher brackets. The number of total farms declined from 203,000 to 190,000 in the same period.

Livestock sales in the five year period rose in value from one billion seventy million dollars to one billion, one hundred and seventy million—a gain of 100 millions. In line with the surprise of the Russian farmers who visited Iowa, at the small amount of hired farm labor, the number of employed workers dropped from 40,000 to 33,000 in the five year period, but expenditures for motive fuels on farms rose from $52,848,000 to $68,-289,822, which speaks for the increased mechanization on farms. Farmers and their families who worked on the farms numbered 340,564, or ten times as many as the hired help.

Those figures explain to a considerable extent why the Iowa congressional election, held while the census was being taken, did not result in the loss of any of the eight Republican congressman but did replace a Democratic senator with a Republican. The House results were similar to those in other northern states.

Farm supports, whether rigid or flexible — and the flexible plan has not yet become fully effective —can only be expected to result in greater surplus, and the U. S. is now staggering under a surplus load representing more than 8 billion dollars, with prospect of a loss in value of more than 50 per cent and no mass market at home or abroad.

More farm products are constantly being produced on less acreage, meatier livestock on concentrated foods. Further more the Iowa figures and others show that more efficient production has helped the farmer offset the price decline.

The farm price issue is in the political arena and can't be avoided. But the 87 per cent of American consumers who are not farmers could wish the Congress would stop making it a political football, in a fantastic fight over the farm vote. The farmers, if assured a profitable market level by an economically sound program, would wish the same themselves.

RIPLEY'S — Believe It Or Not!

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Danny's parents will cause him to become a confirmed stutterer if they don't stop making an issue of his speech difficulty. "Toddler stuttering" disappears spontaneously if neurotic parents will leave the child alone. And for advice regarding adult stuttering, study the triangular pattern described below.

Case P-342: Danny R., aged 3, is a bright little boy.

"But, Dr. Crane, we are so worried about him," his mother exclaimed.

"For Danny is beginning to stutter horribly. Everybody notices it, and we are so afraid it might become permanent.

"I've tried to correct him and so has his Daddy, but that seems to make it worse.

"We are at the end of our wits. What do you psychologists advise in such a case for we don't want him handicapped by stuttering all his life?"

Stuttering is a normal and natural stage in the development of children of pre-school age.

For when bright youngsters like Danny get excited and wish to express themselves, they have a much larger "understanding" vocabulary than their "speaking" vocabulary.

And that is the natural result in learning any new language. If you adults ever studied Spanish or German or French in high school, you may recall that you could understand the written and spoken language better than you could speak it yourself.

If Danny's neurotic parents will just remedy their own tense personalities and leave Danny alone, he will get over this normal stage of stuttering in a year or two.

For then his "speaking" vocabulary will overtake his "understanding" vocabulary.

If, however, they make an issue of his perfectly normal toddler stuttering and get him self-conscious and fearful, then they can actually "set" that stuttering as a permanent handicap to his personality.

A cardinal rule of child psychology states that parents should ignore the toddler stage of stuttering and NEVER make an issue of it or "bawl out" the child.

But suppose you encounter a stutterer who is in the teens or a mature adult. What then?

Well, they can be reassured by realizing that a lot of distinguished people have been in the same boat with them, including Moses and Demosthenes, as well as Churchhill and the former King of England.

Stuttering is simply a nuisance habit that attaches to (1) the act of speaking your native tongue, (2) to other human beings and (3) in your usual conversational tones.

Draw a triangle and place one of those numbered items on each corner. That's the typical picture of chronic stuttering in an adult.

The cure consists in altering any one of those three items on each corner. That's the typical picture of chronic stuttering in an adult.

The cure consists in altering any one of those three items. For example, if the stutterer speaks in a foreign language, he may be entirely free from stuttering. Of if he reads aloud or sings, he is O.K.

Second, let him talk to the dogs or horses or other non-human creatures, and he can enunciate smoothly.

Third, let him pitch his voice higher or lower than normally so he alters the normal conversational tones, and he can generally get along very well.

One of the best and quickest remedies is for the stutterer to alter his normal conversational pattern at (3) above, as by biting his tongue between his molar teeth.

Then keep the tongue imprisoned between those teeth and try to carry on conversation. This simple trick can work wonders in helping free a confirmed stutterer from his nuisance habit of stuttering.

But never entrench ordinary childish stuttering by making an issue of it, as Danny's mother has been doing.

Send for my bulletin on "Stuttering", enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long three cent stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Constitution 168 Years Old Today

The people of the United States today observe Constitution Day, in commemoration of the signing of the Constitution on Sept. 17, 1787, at Philadelphia.

The Constitution and the Declaration of Independence are the two most precious documents in American annals.

The Constitution was forged in the cauldron of war, and the blood of patriots sprinkled the soil from which it sprang.

Time has proved its worth as the charter of human liberty and freedom, guiding an infant nation through trials and tribulations into growth and greatness such as no other nation ever experienced.

Every citizen should familiarize himself with its provisions and its precious guarantees; and stand ready to defend it against assaults from enemies of freedom at home and abroad.

We cannot take liberty and freedom for granted. We must be ready to defend the institutions which have guided us, under God, on the long road we have traveled as a nation.

The Constitution is a mighty bulwark protecting the individual against tyranny by the state, protecting the States against centralized despotism by the Federal Government, insuring that the Federal Government is responsive to the will of the voters at the polls.

Many of our bravest sons have died in defense of the Constitution and the ideals of liberty and freedom it embodies.

This great document has been a hope and inspiration to oppressed peoples all over the world.

Today's Retail Picture

As anyone who reads the newspaper ads knows, competition is intense among retailers these days. Even though consumption is at an all-time high, production has kept pace with it and in some cases out-run it. This means that retailers must go to great lengths to gain and hold customers.

In this battle for business, how are the smaller retailers faring?

The Wall Street Journal recently devoted a lengthy feature article to that, based on surveys and interviews made in all parts of the country. The general findings were expressed in these words: "Many small retailers say sales and profits are sagging in 1955's fierce competition. But others . . . are more than holding their own . . . little merchants are stocking better products, stepping up services. As price trimming squeezes profit margins, many are keeping closer watch on costs." The newspaper cites a number of typical and specific cases where aggressive small merchants, with energy and ambition and new ideas, have made big gains in sales and are looking at bright profit pictures.

What it all adds up to is that success in retailing—as in any other business—must be earned. It takes hard work. It demands competence and a high degree of business acumen. It requires understanding of the public taste and a willingness to cater to that taste. Nor is this confined to the smaller retailers. In time, the biggest retail business in the country would fail if it didn't offer the kind of service and present the attractions consumers want.

Experience in good times and bad, in peace and war, has proven beyond argument that there is plenty of room in this country for all kinds of retailers—the big ones and the little one, the chains and the independents. Each has certain advantages on its side which, wisely used, enable it to succeed. The fact that retail competition is stiffer than ever has not changed that fact.

Get Your Share

Enormous progress has been made in the science of nutrition in a comparatively brief span of years. Many an "old wives' tale" concerning good and bad eating habits has been dissipated. New frontiers of knowledge have been opened.

One of the most important things the nutritionists have learned is that a sound diet, for the vast majority of people of all ages, must contain a high proportion of proteins, such as those found in meat. That is true right around the calendar—the proteins are just as essential in summer as in winter. But it's unfortunate that, despite this proven fact, many of us wittingly or otherwise pursue dietary habits which are distinctly bad.

This is often the case with young people. The Mansfield, Ohio, News offered some excellent advice when it said: "A hot dog, a bottle of pop, and a handful of potato chips is not a satisfactory meal for a growing child. There's nothing wrong with such snacks occasionally, but parents should see to it that at least once a day the children have a good well-rounded meal with plenty of meat, milk, vegetables and fruit.

"Meat is the major source of proteins in the human diet . . . The 1955 production of red meat is expected to reach a record 26,300,000,000 pounds, exceeding the 1954 figures of 25,400,000,000 pounds. Be sure your family gets its share."

Meat has been moderately priced this year—far below the postwar highs. Inexpensive cuts are as valuable, from the nutritional point of view, as the most costly and, properly prepared, make delectable eating. A sound diet pays great and lasting dividends in physical and mental health and vigor.

RALEIGH, MISS., REFORMER: "We go along with the Rural Electrification program in which associations borrow from the government to finance construction of electric systems and later repay their loans. However, no candidate can curry favor with us by advocating outright ownership of electric distribution systems in which a whole nation is taxed for the benefit of a few small sections. Such is Socialism pure and undefiled—the first long stride toward Communism."

THESE DAYS

By George Sokolsky

The A. F. Of L. And The 'New Look'

The American Federation of Labor is apparently not a votary of fashion. It has not taken on the "New Look." At a time when so many of those who call themselves anti-communist and anti-Marxist are catching the "Geneva Spirit," the American Federation of Labor courageously takes the position that principles are unaffected by shifting styles.

The Free Trade Union Committee is an organ of the American Federation of Labor. Its officers are George Meany, honorary president, Matthew Woll, president, David Dubinsky, vice-president, William Schnitzler, honorary secretary, Jay Lovestone, executive secretary. This body has probably done more to undermine communist influences in European and Asiatic trade unions than any other group. It has been consistently anti-communist.

It is this committee which has given world-wide circulation to its rejection of the suggestion that "trade union delegations from Soviet Russia and other Iron Curtain countries" visit the United States "as guests of our free trade union movement."

On this subject, it states:

"The Executive Council of the A.F. of L. vigorously rejects all such invitations. They stem from Moscow to serve the interests of the Soviet dictatorship at home and abroad. A visit by an authoritative American trade union delegation to the U.S.S.R. would not bring the peoples of Russia and America closer. Such a visit would only play into the hands of the totalitarian dictatorship which, regardless of its apologies at Belgrade and smiles at Geneva, denies its own people all fundamental human rights. This regime cynically denies its working people the right of freedom of association and organization, the right to strike and the right of genuine collective bargaining enjoyed by the workers of all free countries."

This is similar to the position taken by William L. McGrath of the employer group of the American delegation to the 38th International Labor Conference at Geneva last June. He reported:

"The workers' delegations are supposed to represent free associations of workers, and the employers' delegations are supposed to represent free associations of employers."

Neither Russian employers nor employees are free men; they represent their government. They are controlled by their government. Threfore, the American employer delegates withdrew from four conference committees. Mr. McGrath said:

"I felt that positive action was imperative in order to emphasize the need for maintaining a stand, on principle, on behalf of preserving not only the tripartite structure of this Organization but the very existence of the International Labor Organization. Do we want the I.L.O to stay alive? Or do we want it destroyed by the Communists?"

Although officially the American government is accepting the Russian "New Look," American labor, as represented by the American Federation of Labor, and this significant employer's group in the I.L.O. insist that there cannot be and should not be a compromise on principle between free labor and slave labor, between free employers and representatives of a society in which every manager of enterprise is a government official.

The American Federation of Labor further says:

" . . . We of the A.F. of L. are not going to be thus used and exploited by the communist or by any other dictatorship. When the Nazis grabbed power in Germany and destroyed its trade unions and all other democratic institutions, we of the A.F. of L. refused to send good-will or study missions to that country. No American, or any other free trade union organization, ever sent such a mission to Fascist Italy or Falangist Spain. To have sent such missions to any of these dictatorships would have provided a cover of moral respectability and human decency to their totalitarian tyrants. To have sent such labor missions would . . . have shattered their faith in international labor solidarity and in the forces of freedom everywhere.

"None of us found it necessary to visit any of these totalitarian countries in order to find out what Hitler, Mussolini, and Franco want or whether they have a 'new look.' Everything we have said about the Nazi, Fascist, and Falangist totalitarian regimes holds with equal force for the Khrushchev regime in Russia. Merely because communism calls itself a proletarian dictatorship does not make it less warlike and less brutal or more democratic and more peaceful, than the Nazi, Fascist, and Falangist totalitarian regimes."

Whatever one may feel about the various countries included in this grouping, the fact stands clear that those who oppose state control of man cannot compromise their principles without losing their moral position.

Lights Over Broadway

First - nights represent fascinating plots replete with the development of human destinies as well as the suspenseful expectancy of unforseen events. There isn't a performer, producer or playwright who can accept premieres with equanimity . . . Ben Hecht, who was once a hard - as-nails reporter, turns into butter when one of his plays opens. Hecht confessed: "Opening night has the effect of a mugging on you. It's a social art, like getting kicked out of a restaurant. Once, I thought I was pretty calm. Someone bumped into me and I fell over. I remember saving Charlie MacArthur's life at the opening of 'The Front Page.' He started to lean against a door in the balcony that wasn't there. Now I stay backstage. Actors are charming and I might as well be executed in good company."

Several Coast historians are currently engaged in detecting the sources of Grace Kelly's personal magic. One is tempted to counsel these intrepid researchers: Don't analyze, just look . . . Her Grace's charms, it must be conceded, are unusual. In contrast with the blonde infernos, who generally personify movie queens, Grace conveys a sense of dignity without disturbing the more elemental attractions. Frixample, when she posed with Marlon Brando, one hocus-focuser requested: "Won't you kiss Marlon, Grace?"

She calmly responded: "I think he should kiss me." (He did.)

A journey to the stars is exciting as well as saddening. Those who dwell in the celluloid heavens are constantly haunted by a melancholy irony: They frequently have everything — and nothing. Rita Hayworth — gifted with beauty, fame and fortune — has been burdened with loneliness, heartbreak and despair. She once confessed to almost daily weeping jags. Incredibly, the fragments of stardust are outnumbered by slivers of shattered hearts. The final irony is that those who have the adoration of millions often fail to gain the enduring affection of one man. They are acquainted with the words of love and rarely experience its music . . . Several years ago a magazine hailed Rita as "The Goddess of Love." One diligent reporter urged the star to express her reaction to this high honor. "Golly," she sighed, "any girl would love to be a goddess."

The United Nations seems strangely unperturbed by a tense diplomatic crisis. Hollywood (engaged in making the world safe for box offices) has vigorously protested the pressure exerted by Ambassador Luce which resulted in the withdrawal of the movie, "Blackboard Jungle," from the Venice Film Festival. The film was deemed "derogatory to America." The incident is not without a touch of irony, since the most derogatory play ever written about American women was "The Women," which was parented by Ambassador Luce.

"Before a board of censors," H. L. Mencken has logically argued, "a man has no right at all. The board is at once the complainant, the prosecutor and the executioner. It has all the powers of a court, but none of the responsibilities."

The charms of Italian movie dolls may appear quite obvious. There are certain subtle aspects, however, which have elusive qualities while retaining their essential fascination. Newsweek magazine recently quoted an authority on the subject: "When Gina or Sophia show much bosom, one feels it's only because they naturally have so much of it they can hardly help it. When Martine Carol, a French star, shows bosom, one feels it's because she just wants to." (Tee-Hee! Peek-a-Bu!)

Martin and Lewis almost split. Milton and Berle, however, remain indivisible. Despite the scorn of sophisticates, Milton demonstrated greater endurance than many of his competitors. In an interview with Jack O'Brian, he generously confided: "Back in '25 Ted Healy took me aside and gave me some wonderful advice. It still goes perfectly for any kid coming up in show business. It went this way: 'Milton, always play to the public. Never mind playing to the theatrical crowd. Don't try to impress the trumpet player in the pit. Entertain the people and you'll get rich and famous.' "

Want To Be Liked?

Boys and girls, you want to be liked. Everybody does but some people seem not to know how to go about it. Some think that having a lot of money and showing it, by spending it on treats for all and everyone, is the way. Some try to make the grade by saying "Yes," to anything that is asked. Naturally, they soon learn this doesn't work. The truth is that you cannot buy your way with money or gifts or subservience. But there is an unfailing way and a simple one. Give your best in service without asking or expecting a return. That does it.

So you begin by taking a pencil and a notebook and setting down the things you can do to be of service to other people. Begin at home. What can you do to make your mother's and your father's work lighter? Not just what you would like to do, remember, but what you CAN do — putting your bedroom in order, leaving the bathroom shipshape, helping entertain the friend of the family you least admire.

Then go outside the family. There is the teacher. A smile and a cordial good morning? A flower? A helping hand with the room equipment? Holding the door open for him? Having your notebook in on time and neatly done? He may faint but he will enjoy the experience.

Schoolmates? Stand back to let a girl pass. Give someone else a chance to have first choice at the cafeteria and smile while you do so. Congratulate a fellow pupil on a good mark or a good recitation. Send a get-well card to one who is ill or a note to one in trouble. Do your share of the unpleasant jobs, like being ticket chairman. Offer help when there is a mean job to be done or, if you're stuck with it, grin and carry it through as if it were a mission to Shangri La. Have fun spending your sunny self.

The cure consists in altering any one of those three items. For example, if the stutterer speaks in a foreign language, he may be entirely free from stuttering. Of if he reads aloud or sings, he is O.K.

Second, let him talk to the dogs or horses or other non-human creatures, and he can enunciate smoothly.

Third, let him pitch his voice higher or lower than normally so he alters the normal conversational tones, and he can generally get along very well.

One of the best and quickest remedies is for the stutterer to alter his normal conversational pattern at (3) above, as by biting his tongue between his molar teeth.

Then keep the tongue imprisoned between those teeth and try to carry on conversation. This simple trick can work wonders in helping free a confirmed stutterer from his nuisance habit of stuttering.

But never entrench ordinary childish stuttering by making an issue of it, as Danny's mother has been doing.

Send for my bulletin on "Stuttering", enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long three cent stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 15 cents a bale lower to 30 cents higher today. The market displayed a better tone, with no pronounced rallying power, following declines into new seasonal low ground earlier in the week.

Support came through trade buying and short covering, with gains extending at one time to 60 cents a bale. Liquidation in nearby October and hedging increased in early afternoon, with prices dropping below the previous close before rallying partially on short covering.

The Census Bureau report, placing August cotton consumption at 717,227 running bales, was better than expected. The bureau also reported that United States exports of cotton in 1954-55 crop season, ending July 31 last, totaled 3,446,-398 bales, compared with 3,760,978 bales shipped out in the previous season. This was close to recent trade predictions.

Futures closed mixed after a day of irregular trading. After opening weak under a fair volume of hedge selling, good trade support developed and carried futures to advances of 10 to 12 points over last night's close. However, late in the day, new selling came back into the market erasing early declines and uncovered stop loss selling orders. It carried most deliveries to new lows for the life of the contract. Prices recovered from the lows of the day aided by fresh trade buying and weekend evening up. Claytons brokers sold some in early trading. However, later in the day, they were reported spotting the board of fixations. A commission house with headquarters in North Carilina was a large buyer in the morning, particularly in October. And good trade support developed in December, around 33 cents in early trading. Some buying was believed for far western interests. Liverpool, closed with losses of from 10 to 24 cent points with sterling at 278½. Differences with New York were: Oct. 279, Dec. 191, March 64, May 14 under, July 31 under.

The census bureau reported consumption for four weeks from July 31 to August 27, at 717,227 bales vs. 667,762 in the preceding four week period and 566,640 that four weeks last year. Daily rate: 35,-861 vs. 33,388 and 29,823 respectively. Mill stocks 1,210,483 in public storage; 9,752,138. Raw cotton exports for the 1954-55 season totaled 3,446,398 bales compared with 3,760,978 the previous year.

The Indian government has temporarily suspended raw cotton imports from non-dollar areas.

Production of cotton goods in the United States in the second quarter 1955 production.

Unfixed call sales for the week ending September 9 increased 3800 bales to 813,800 vs. 1,735,500 a year ago. Unfixed call purchases decreased 3,000 bales to 2,151,700 against 2,230,000 last year.

Five Appointees Accept Service With City Panel

Mayor John E. Coon has announced the acceptance of five of seven persons he had appointed to an advisory board for the city at the Tuesday council meeting.

The board is planned as a forerunner to the organizing of a city planning commission.

Those who have accepted the appointment include J. M. Breard, president of the Central Savings Bank & Trust Company; Lee Vanderpool, president of the Ouachita National Bank; A. F. Canizaro; J. M. "Pete" Menefee; and Wood Thompson.

One of the remaining two designated is out of the state, said the mayor, and the other has not yet replied to his letter of invitation. They are Jake Garelick and Oscar L. Cloyd.

The advisory board was formed as a temporary set-up pending the May 1956 meeting of the state legislature when an act will be introduced permitting Monroe to form its own planning commission.

Negro Arrested On Assault Charges

A 20-year-old Monroe Negro has been lodged in the city jail after being charged with aggravated assault and drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon after allegedly engaging in a fight with three white men.

The Negro was identified as Sammy Porter.

Police reports said that Porter was allegedly to have been engaged in a scuffle with the following men: Mike Ritter, 1401 College, A. L. Chambliss, 714 Oak; and J. W. Hartley, West Monroe.

Signal corps personnel and their families in headquarters, U. S. army Europe, have supported two German orphanages for four years.

Why Grow Old?

Minerals Play A Part In Prolonging Youth, Health

We hear so very much about the importance of vitamins in the diet. We less often read about the part minerals play in prolonging the youthful portion of life and in promoting health generally.

Many minerals must be present in our daily menus. The most important ones are calcium, iron, phosphorus, manganese, iodine and copper.

All of our tissues need calcium for health. This mineral also has an effect on our nerve cells and the condition of our muscles. While calcium is widely distributed in foods and especially in some vegetables, this occurs in most instances in small amounts. Your best source of calcium is milk and milk products.

Many folks think of milk as a food essential only to children and younger people but this is incorrect. Older persons need it also. Remember that you cannot properly utilize the calcium unless you get your requirement in vitamin D.

Phosphorus deficiency often can be blamed for malnutrition and disorders of varying kinds. This mineral works with calcium in maintaining and repairing body tissues. If you drink two or three glasses of milk a day and consume a well balanced diet generally, your phosphorus intake will be adequate.

We need iron in our food every day. While we do not require great amounts of it what we need is essential just to life. The quality of our blood is effected by it. Iron is fairly widespread in foods but the following items are splendid sources; beef, liver, oatmeal, spinach, greens, egg yolk and dried beans and peas.

When you eat a well balanced diet regularly you will not have to worry about iodine and manganese. Seafoods are especially rich in iodine as are vegetables grown near the sea.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 15 cents a bale lower to 30 cents higher today. The market displayed a better tone, with no pronounced rallying power, following declines into new seasonal low ground earlier in the week.

Support came through trade buying and short covering, with gains extending at one time to 60 cents a bale. Liquidation in nearby October and hedging increased in early afternoon, with prices dropping below the previous close before rallying partially on short covering.

The Census Bureau report, placing August cotton consumption at 717,227 running bales, was better than expected. The bureau also reported that United States exports of cotton in 1954-55 crop season, ending July 31 last, totaled 3,446,398 bales, compared with 3,760,978 bales shipped out in the previous season. This was close to recent trade predictions.

Futures closed mixed after a day of irregular trading. After opening weak under a fair volume of hedge selling, good trade support developed and carried futures to advances of 10 to 12 points over last night's close. However, late in the day, new selling came back into the market erasing early declines and uncovered stop loss selling orders. It carried most deliveries to new lows for the life of the contract. Prices recovered from the lows of the day aided by fresh trade buying and weekend evening up. Claytons brokers sold some in early trading. However, later in the day, they were reported spotting the board of fixations. A commission house with headquarters in North Carilina was a large buyer in the morning, particularly in October. And good trade support developed in December, around 33 cents in early trading. Some buying was believed for far western interests. Liverpool, closed with losses of from 10 to 24 cent points with sterling at 278½. Differences with New York were: Oct. 279, Dec. 191, March 64, May 14 under, July 31 under.

The census bureau reported consumption for four weeks from July 31 to August 27, at 717,227 bales vs. 667,762 in the preceding four week period and 566,640 that four weeks last year. Daily rate: 35,861 vs. 33,388 and 29,823 respectively. Mill stocks 1,210,483 in public storage; 9,752,138. Raw cotton exports for the 1954-55 season totaled 3,446,398 bales compared with 3,760,978 the previous year.

The Indian government has temporarily suspended raw cotton imports from non-dollar areas.

Production of cotton goods in the United States in the second quarter 1955 production.

Unfixed call sales for the week ending September 9 increased 3800 bales to 813,800 vs. 1,735,500 a year ago. Unfixed call purchases decreased 3,000 bales to 2,151,700 against 2,230,000 last year.

Five Appointees Accept Service With City Panel

Mayor John E. Coon has announced the acceptance of five of seven persons he had appointed to an advisory board for the city at the Tuesday council meeting.

The board is planned as a forerunner to the organizing of a city planning commission.

Those who have accepted the appointment include J. M. Breard, president of the Central Savings Bank & Trust Company; Lee Vanderpool, president of the Ouachita National Bank; A. F. Canizaro; J. M. "Pete" Menefee; and Wood Thompson.

One of the remaining two designated is out of the state, said the mayor, and the other has not yet replied to his letter of invitation. They are Jake Garelick and Oscar L. Cloyd.

The advisory board was formed as a temporary set-up pending the May 1956 meeting of the state legislature when an act will be introduced permitting Monroe to form its own planning commission.

Negro Arrested On Assault Charges

A 20-year-old Monroe Negro has been lodged in the city jail after being charged with aggravated assault and drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon after allegedly engaging in a fight with three white men.

The Negro was identified as Sammy Porter.

Police reports said that Porter was allegedly to have been engaged in a scuffle with the following men: Mike Ritter, 1401 College, A. L. Chambliss, 714 Oak; and J. W. Hartley, West Monroe.

Signal corps personnel and their families in headquarters, U. S. army Europe, have supported two German orphanages for four years.

Why Grow Old?

Minerals Play A Part In Prolonging Youth, Health

We hear so very much about the importance of vitamins in the diet. We less often read about the part minerals play in prolonging the youthful portion of life and in promoting health generally.

Many minerals must be present in our daily menus. The most important ones are calcium, iron, phosphorus, manganese, iodine and copper.

All of our tissues need calcium for health. This mineral also has an effect on our nerve cells and the condition of our muscles. While calcium is widely distributed in foods and especially in some vegetables, this occurs in most instances in small amounts. Your best source of calcium is milk and milk products.

Many folks think of milk as a food essential only to children and younger people but this is incorrect. Older persons need it also. Remember that you cannot properly utilize the calcium unless you get your requirement in vitamin D.

Phosphorus deficiency often can be blamed for malnutrition and disorders of varying kinds. This mineral works with calcium in maintaining and repairing body tissues. If you drink two or three glasses of milk a day and consume a well balanced diet generally, your phosphorus intake will be adequate.

We need iron in our food every day. While we do not require great amounts of it what we need is essential just to life. The quality of our blood is effected by it. Iron is fairly widespread in foods but the following items are splendid sources; beef, liver, oatmeal, spinach, greens, egg yolk and dried beans and peas.

When you eat a well balanced diet regularly you will not have to worry about iodine and manganese. Seafoods are especially rich in iodine as are vegetables grown near the sea.

Antheneum Club Meets With Mrs. Dickerson

Mrs. A. L. Dickerson was hostess to Atheneum Club members on the occasion of the first opening of the new year. Mrs. P. L. Crowell served as co-hostess for the meeting.

The house was decorated with arrangements of liriope, astidistri and purple Mexicam Jew. The arrangement of the refreshment table was flanked with tall tapers.

Immediately following the opening of the meeting, officers for the new year were installed by Mrs. W. B. Hedgepeth, who used an impressive installation ceremony, the following accepting places of responsibility: president, Mrs. D. F. Deanis; vice president, Mrs. Jake Humphries; secretary, Miss Doris Aycock; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. G. Rickerson; treasurer, Mrs. Berta Hannah; historian, Mrs. J. F. Blackiston; parliamentarian, Mrs. W. H. Steen, Jr., and reporter, Mrs. Jack Edwards.

The past programs and planning the program for the new year held the interest of members, and a club project decided upon was to promote, in conjunction with other clubs and organizations, the building of a hospital for West Monroe.

After other items of business a social period was enjoyed when the hostesses served refreshments to Mesdames J. F. Blackiston, Lee Buatt, D. F. Dennis, Berta Hannah, W. B. Hedgepeth, W. H. Steen, Jr., H. H. Walters, Jules Watts, Jake Humphries, and a guest, Mrs. Agnes Dickerson.

DKP Sorority Has Series Of Rush Parties

Members and rushees of Delta Kappa Pi sorority have been entertained at several parties in the past two weeks.

A pallet party began the activities. It was held in the home of Miss Jane Holcomb on North Seventh street. There were more than ninety members and rushees present. The following afternoon a coke hour was held in the home of Miss Martha Harper.

One of the most enjoyable affairs was a western party held in the Corral. Members, rushees and their dates wore western outfits and a prize was given for the best costume. A corral fence marked off the area in which guests enjoyed cold drinks and sandwiches.

On Saturday morning a brunch was held in the home of Miss Barbara Byrd on Landerman avenue.

Concluding the rush weeks, members and rushees attended church at the First Baptist Church in West Monroe.

Rushees who attended were: Linda Atkins, Betty Sue Blair, Linda Bledsoe, Mary Jane Barton, Sandra Boyd, Anita Bradberry, Sue Briggs, Pat Calhoun, Judy Carter, Mary Ann Carter, Beverly Causey, Patsy Colvin, Mary Coon, Norma Lee Craven, Gerrie Dickerson, Ginger Downey, Ann Duncan, Linda Estep, Dianna Ferguson, Lou Frantom, Martha Golson, Portia Gould, Glenda Griffin, Charlotte Guillory, Genelle Hale, Martha Harris, Corolie Heard, Carolyn Worley, Jane Wright, Glenda Sue Young, Brenda Younse, Jean Ball, Shiela Watson, Charlotte Pankey, Sally Ryan.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By MARION KIRK FISHER

Have you ever noticed how that first faint touch of fall in the air seems to inspire you to step up your pace and get things done? That may be the reason for the activity that goes on at the Little Theatre every night. At any rate, the cast of "The Happy Time" is really putting in some hard work at rehearsals, in preparation for opening night, October 11. The blocking of the play has been completed, and now comes the important business of learning the lines, in order to dispense with the scripts.

Manzie Guerriero is acting as assistant to the director, and the various members of the back stage crew are getting lined up. . . Every thing points to a big success for this opening show of the season. The play itself is completely delightful.

Memo to membership drive workers: Don't forget to turn in the applications that have been sold, as promptly as possible. Contact your team captain or Mrs. L. H. Carter, phone 3-8500.

Personal notes: Henry Haas, Paul Siragusa and Julius Cahn are driving to Lafayette Saturday, where Henry will attend the State Horticultural Board Meeting . . . Al Shea of New Orleans, is the week end guest of Ivan Uttal . . Ray Magruder is enjoying a bit of deep sea fishing down Biloxi way this week . . . Lamar Mullican will go to Baton Rouge Saturday to take in the football game at L.S.U. . . . Fleta and Bill Latham are the week end guests of Fleta's father, Mr. C. S. Davidson, in Hattiesburg, Miss. . . Aubrey McKeithen is also tripping south for the week end . . . Our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Max Kulcke, whose brother Mr. J. W. Edmunds of Alexandria, died Thursday.

Don't forget the work party at the Little Theatre Sunday afternoon. Come out any time after 1 o'clock and lend a hand. There will be coffee brewing, and every one who can help is invited to be there.

Fine Arts Club Has First Meeting Of Year

The Fine Arts Club held the first meeting of the 1955-56 season at the home of Mrs. Maud Mayo on Monday. It was in the form of social gathering and picnic.

Members and guests assembled on the patio of the Mayo home overlooking the bayou on Lakeside Drive.

The hostesses, Mrs. Mayo, Mrs. Geraldine Carroll and Mrs. Mary Dalton greeted the members and guests as they arrived. Later they served the group.

Miss Leita Mae King outlined the program for the next meeting to be held on October 10 in room 100 at the Fine Arts Building of Northeast Louisiana State College.

Antheneum Club Meets With Mrs. Dickerson

Mrs. A. L. Dickerson was hostess to Atheneum Club members on the occasion of the first opening of the new year. Mrs. P. L. Crowell served as co-hostess for the meeting.

The house was decorated with arrangements of liriope, astidistri and purple Mexicam Jew. The arrangement of the refreshment table was flanked with tall tapers.

Immediately following the opening of the meeting, officers for the new year were installed by Mrs. W. B. Hedgepeth, who used an impressive installation ceremony, the following accepting places of responsibility: president, Mrs. D. F. Deanis; vice president, Mrs. Jake Humphries; secretary, Miss Doris Aycock; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. G. Rickerson; treasurer, Mrs. Berta Hannah; historian, Mrs. J. F. Blackiston; parliamentarian, Mrs. W. H. Steen, Jr., and reporter, Mrs. Jack Edwards.

The past programs and planning the program for the new year held the interest of members, and a club project decided upon was to promote, in conjunction with other clubs and organizations, the building of a hospital for West Monroe.

After other items of business a social period was enjoyed when the hostesses served refreshments to Mesdames J. F. Blackiston, Lee Buatt, D. F. Dennis, Berta Hannah, W. B. Hedgepeth, W. H. Steen, Jr., H. H. Walters, Jules Watts, Jake Humphries, and a guest, Mrs. Agnes Dickerson.

DKP Sorority Has Series Of Rush Parties

Members and rushees of Delta Kappa Pi sorority have been entertained at several parties in the past two weeks.

A pallet party began the activities. It was held in the home of Miss Jane Holcomb on North Seventh street. There were more than ninety members and rushees present. The following afternoon a coke hour was held in the home of Miss Martha Harper.

One of the most enjoyable affairs was a western party held in the Corral. Members, rushees and their dates wore western outfits and a prize was given for the best costume. A corral fence marked off the area in which guests enjoyed cold drinks and sandwiches.

On Saturday morning a brunch was held in the home of Miss Barbara Byrd on Linderman avenue.

Rushees who attended were: Linda Atkins, Betty Sue Blair, Linda Bledsoe, Mary Jane Barton, Sandra Boyd, Anita Bradberry, Sue Briggs, Pat Calhoun, Judy Carter, Mary Ann Carter, Beverly Causey, Patsy Colvin, Mary Coon, Norma Lee Craven, Gerrie Dickerson, Ginger Downey, Ann Duncan, Linda Estep, Dianna Ferguson, Lou Frantom, Martha Golson, Portia Gould, Glenda Griffin, Charlotte Guillory, Genelle Hale, Martha Harris, Corolie Heard, Carolyn Worley, Jane Wright, Glenda Sue Young, Brenda Younse, Jean Ball, Shiela Watson, Charlotte Pankey, Sally Ryan.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

By MARION KIRK FISHER

Have you ever noticed how that first faint touch of fall in the air seems to inspire you to step up your pace and get things done? That may be the reason for the activity that goes on at the Little Theatre every night. At any rate, the cast of "The Happy Time" is really putting in some hard work at rehearsals, in preparation for opening night, October 14. The blocking of the play has been completed, and now comes the important business of learning the lines, in order to dispense with the scripts.

Manzie Guerriero is acting as assistant to the director, and the various members of the back stage crew are getting lined up... Every thing points to a big success for this opening show of the season. The play itself is completely delightful.

Memo to membership drive workers - Don't forget to turn in the applications that have been sold, as promptly as possible. Contact your team captain or Mrs. L. H. Carter, phone 3-8509.

Personal notes....Henry Haas, Phil Siragusa and Julius Cahn are driving to Lafayette Saturday, where Henry will attend the State Horticultural Board Meeting...Al Shea, of New Orleans, is the week end guest of Ivan Uttal...Ray Magruder is enjoying a bit of deep sea fishing down Biloxi way this week....Lamar Mullican will go to Baton Rouge Saturday to take in the football game at L.S.U.... Fleta and Bill Latham are the week end guests of Fleta's father, Mr. C. S. Davidson, in Hattiesburg, Miss...Aubrey McKeithen is also tripping south for the week end ....Our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Max Kulcke, whose brother Mr. J. W. Edmunds of Alexandria, died Thursday.

Don't forget the work party at the Little Theatre Sunday afternoon. Come out any time after 1 o'clock and lend a hand. There will be coffee brewing, and every one who can help is invited to be there.

3,819,621 Salk Vaccine Shots Released To Step Up Autumn Inoculations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 —UP— The government Friday announced release of 3,819,621 Salk polio vaccine shots to step up the rapidly expanding fall vaccination program.

The Public Health Service parcelled out 2,571,621 shots to states and territories under a special formula based on the number of children in the highly-susceptible 5-through-9 age group.

The remainder, 1,248,000 shots, went to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to give free second shots to school children.

The Health Service said the foundation now has received 1,535,000 shots for fall inoculation, slightly more than half of the 3,000,000 it needs to complete its immunization program.

The foundation has completed its free two-shot program in all but 12 states, where second shots still are slated this fall. They are Nevada, Maryland, Delaware, Ohio, Illinois, Massachusetts, Arkansas, Tennessee, Virginia, Utah, Wisconsin and New Hampshire.

Government officials expect Salk vaccinations to reach record proportions this fall and winter, with a faster flow of vaccine produced under stiffened safety standards, and with states beginning to get federal aid to finance free shots.

Under the government's voluntary program, states decide for themselves how much of their allotments to give to public health and other official agencies and how much to allow commercial firms for use by private physicians.

Friday's allotments, in cubic centimeters, included: Arkansas 27,373, Kansas 21,951, Louisiana 43,173, Missouri 46,899, New Mexico 11,223, Oklahoma 25,758 and Texas 89433. The Defense Department allocated 41,292 cubic centimeters for vaccination of servicemen's children.

Strike By 200 Prisoners Is Quickly Controlled At New Mexico Penitentiary

SANTA FE, N.M., Sept. 16—UP—About 200 prisoners at the New Mexico state penitentiary staged a brief sit-down strike Friday, but the demonstration was quickly brought under control by prison officials before it turned into a full-blown riot.

The incident occurred shortly after noon when the men refused to enter one of the guardhouses for their mid-day shakedown.

Warden E. W. Swope was called to the scene and he announced that the prisoners would be given five minutes in which to move in. If no action came by then, he told them he was ready to use force.

A few minutes later the men again formed lines and the shakedown went ahead as scheduled.

Swope said he believed the demonstration was the result of tension in the prison in recent days following a State Supreme Court decision about computation of good time for parole purposes.

The court ruled that good time could be figured only on a prisoner's maximum sentence, and not on the minimum as has been the former practice.

An investigation was launched immediately into Friday's incident.

In order to assure a speed of over 100 miles an hour on British Railways sharp curves are to be eliminated, new bridges built and the track facilities at stations improved.

Construction of the world famous Washington monument in Washington, D. C., was completed by the army engineers.

Dry-County Texans Are Problem Says Safety Official

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 16—UP—Dry-county Texans who uncork their wet-county purchases before returning home are becoming a major problem in that state, a Texas patrol official said Friday.

Joe S. Fletcher, assistant director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said drunk driving appears to be on the increase in Texas.

"The people who have to drive a long distance for their drinks usually drive back with half their pint purchases under their belts," Fletcher said.

Under Texas' local option law, the state is more than half dry, he said. He added that with more and more Texas counties voting dry, the wet areas are becoming fewer and far between.

"We find more and more drinking citizens rushing in and out of the wet areas to make their purchases," Fletcher said.

Fletcher and public relations director Lewis Berry visited the Oklahoma Safety Department to study its use of planes to spot traffic violators.

3,819,621 Salk Vaccine Shots Released To Step Up Autumn Inoculations

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 —UP— The government Friday announced release of 3,819,621 Salk polio vaccine shots to step up the rapidly expanding fall vaccination program.

The Public Health Service parcelled out 2,571,621 shots to states and territories under a special formula based on the number of children in the highly-susceptible 5-through-9 age group.

The remainder, 1,248,000 shots, went to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to give free second shots to school children.

The Health Service said the foundation now has received 1,535,000 shots for fall inoculation, slightly more than half of the 3,000,000 it needs to complete its immunization program.

The foundation has completed its free two-shot program in all but 12 states, where second shots still are slated this fall. They are Nevada, Maryland, Delaware, Ohio, Illinois, Massachusetts, Arkansas, Tennessee, Virginia, Utah, Wisconsin and New Hampshire.

Government officials expect Salk vaccinations to reach record proportions this fall and winter, with a faster flow of vaccine produced under stiffened safety standards, and with states beginning to get federal aid to finance free shots.

Under the government's voluntary program, states decide for themselves how much of their allotments to give to public health and other official agencies and how much to allow commercial firms for use by private physicians.

Friday's allotments, in cubic centimeters, included: Arkansas 27,373, Kansas 21,951, Louisiana 43,173, Missouri 46,899, New Mexico 11,223, Oklahoma 25,758 and Texas 89433. The Defense Department allocated 41,292 cubic centimeters for vaccination of servicemen's children.

Dry-County Texans Are Problem Says Safety Official

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 16—UP—Dry-county Texans who uncork their wet-county purchases before returning home are becoming a major problem in that state, a Texas patrol official said Friday.

Joe S. Fletcher, assistant director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said drunk driving appears to be on the increase in Texas.

"The people who have to drive a long distance for their drinks usually drive back with half their pint purchases under their belts," Fletcher said.

Under Texas' local option law, the state is more than half dry, he said. He added that with more and more Texas counties voting dry, the wet areas are becoming fewer and far between.

"We find more and more drinking citizens rushing in and out of the wet areas to make their purchases," Fletcher said.

Fletcher and public relations director Lewis Berry visited the Oklahoma Safety Department to study its use of planes to spot traffic violators.

Ruston Defeats Ouachita Gridders By 27-0 Count

Lion Attack Fails To Materialize On Ground Or Air

The Ruston High School Bearcats defeated the Ouachita Parish High Lions last night by a 27 - 0 count at Brown Stadium.

After a scoreless first period, in which a Ruston drive was stopped at the Ouachita two, the Bearcats again marched 47 yards to paydirt in the second, climaxing the drive with a one-yard touchdown plunge by halfback Pat Garrett. The kick for point was wide on the second try after a five - yard offside penalty.

Ouachita made only one first down in each of the first and second quarters, with their only offensive display coming from the hard plunging of fullback Paul Roye.

In the third quarter, Bearcat Oren Barmore, a hard runner all evening for the visitors, scampered around his right end for 35 yards and the second TD, after a 26-yard by fast Jimmy Alexander had moved the pigskin into position for the sweep.

Barmore again scored when he intercepted a Dick Crowe partially blocked pass early in the final stanza, and sped 20 yards to the end zone.

The invaders wound up their scoring for the evening later in the period when reserve halfback John Murphy burst through center and went 31 yards up the middle.

Ouachita, hampered on defense by the absence of stellar linebacker T. L. Fuller, who saw little action, was led by Roye, Crowe, and Eddie McGowan in the defensive department, who came up from their linebacking posts to haul down the Bearcat speedsters breaking through the Lion line all evening.

The only Lion offensive display of the final half was the result of two jump passes from Crowe to end Thomas Day, each good for a first down.

Tackle James Earl Alexander kicked all three of the Ruston conversions.

The lineups';

Ouachita: Ends, Doss, Tannehill, Logan, Van, Day; Tackles, Wheeler, Tousineau, Smith, Thorn; Guards, Culpepper, Debnam, Howsley; Centers, Greenlee; Backs, Crowe, Fuller, McGowen, Roye, Roy, Ward, Yates, Robinson.

Ruston: Ends, Hinton, Tinsley, Simpson, Richardson, Alexander; Tackles, Hood, James Alexander, Gibson, Upchurch, Strozier; Guards, Covington, Mizell; Centers, Cobb, Anderson, Smelley; Backs, Meadows, Garrett, Jimmy Alexander, Barmore, Harrison, Murphy, J. Hinton, Owens, Shows, Magee, Wilson Hood.

Officials: Holloway, referee; Marcia, head linesman; McBeth, umpire; Standard, field judge.

Athletics Blast White Sox Hopes With 13-7 Defeat

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 17 (AP) — Chicago suffered another rude jolt tonight as the Kansas City Athletics blasted five White Sox pitchers for a 13-7 victory.

The defeat left the third-place White Sox four games behind the New York Yankees who took over the American League lead from Cleveland by two percentage points. New York edged Boston tonight as Cleveland was tripped by Detroit.

Chicago, which has lost nine of its last 15 games, has seven games remaining.

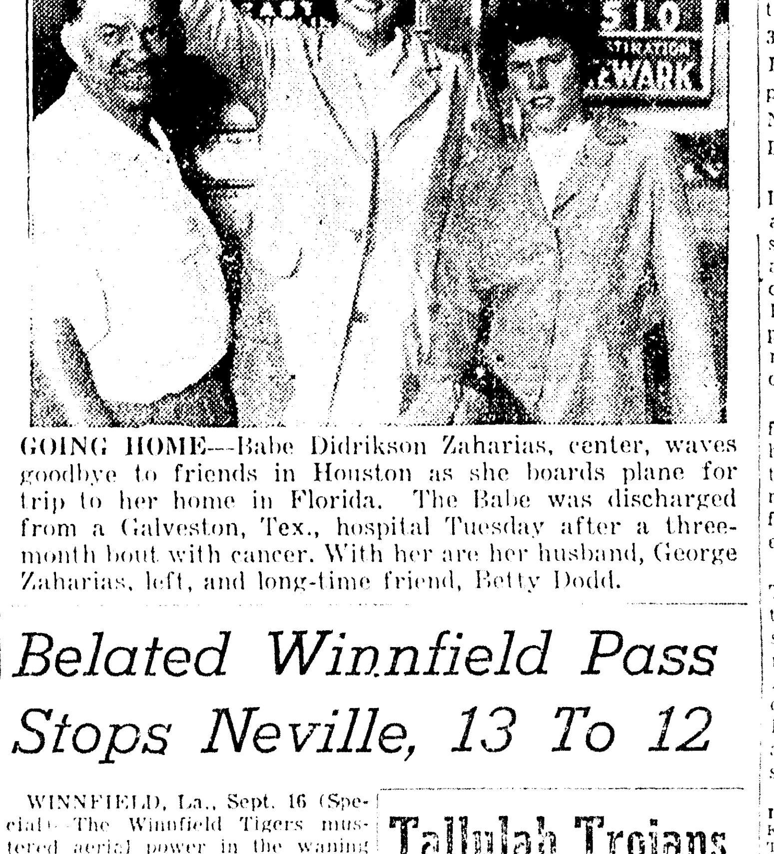
Bengals Chill Indians, 3-0



GOING HOME—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, center, waves goodbye to friends in Houston as she boards plane for trip to her home in Florida. The Babe was discharged from a Galveston, Tex., hospital Tuesday after a three-month bout with cancer. With her are her husband, George Zaharias, left, and long-time friend, Betty Dodd.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16 (AP)—Steve Gromek, demoted to the bullpen because of repeated failures, stopped Cleveland cold with six scoreless relief innings tonight as the Detroit Tigers inflicted a stunning 3-0 defeat upon the league-leading Indians to lose their lead by two percentage points to the relentless New York Yankees who won at Boston.

Gromek, who was traded by the Indians to Detroit in 1953, answered a hurry call to the bullpen when starter Billy Hoeft complained of a sore left elbow as Cleveland came to bat in the fourth inning. It turned out that the young southpaw had pulled a tendon while making his final pitch in the previous inning.

The 35-year-old Gromek, who had failed to last in 12 starts, dating back to June 30, permitted only three hits and fanned four as he racked up his 13th triumph and first of the season over his former teammates.

Another veteran, 31-year-old Earl Torgeson, drove in the deciding tallies with a two-run single in the seventh that snapped a scoreless mound duel between Gromek and Early Wynn. Detroit picked up another run in the eighth when Ray Boone, another ex-Indian, doubled and scored on Bill Tuttle's third single of the game.

Belated Winnfield Pass Stops Neville, 13 To 12

WINNFIELD, La., Sept. 16 (Special) — The Winnfield Tigers mustered aerial power in the waning seconds of play to snatch an upset 13-12 victory over the Neville High School Tigers of Monroe here tonight.

Tommy Seabaugh fired the decisive pass to Brooks Broussard from his 14. Broussard caught the long throw on the 50 and romped the rest of the way as the whistle was sounding. That tied up the game at 12-12, and Mickey Frazier broke away on an end run for the extra point that gave Winnfield the victory.

Winnfield had also stunned the invading Tigers by scoring the opening touchdown on the third play of the game with Frazier going over. Neville's "Spec" Lewis blocked the kick for the point.

Neville tied it up in the second quarter when Lewis took a hand-off from Elton Upshaw on the Winnfield 40 and went all the way.

Billy King put Neville ahead in the third period when he scored in three plays from the 17, the last thrust from the four.

Tallulah Trojans Trounce Wisner By 32 To 7 Count

TALLULAH, La., Sept. 16 (Special) — Held scoreless the first quarter, Tallulah's Trojans exploded for three touchdowns in the second period and romped to a 32-7 conquest of the Wisner Bulldogs here tonight.

Danny Newman's one-yard plunge after a 56-yard drive ended the scoreless deadlock. Lynn Naylor also scored on a 56-yard spring through tackle, and Raymond Russell intercepted a pass by Rayborn and ran 45 yards for the third Trojan TD. Stoney Williamson's conversion handed Tallulah a 19-0 edge at the half.

R. Russell went 38 yards for a third period TD, and "Shorty" Jackson bagged the last on a one-yard plunge with Williamson converting.

A Rayborn-Stephens pass play netted 55 yards and set up a Rayborn touchdown from the one to hand Wisner its lone touchdown in the last quarter. Roberts bucked the line for the point.

Rayville Passing Beats West Monroe, 25 To 7

RAYVILLE, La., Sept. 16 — (Special) — The Rayville High School Hornets, fighting off repeated West Monroe threats in the first half and behind 7-6 entering the last half, hit the air lanes for three touchdowns to defeat the invading Rebels, 25 to 7, here tonight.

"Bubber" O'Neal fired the Rayville attack and scored two touchdowns and added the lone Hornet extra point.

West Monroe threatened twice in the scoreless first quarter, and drove to Rayville's nine in the second quarter. After "Sonny" Odom picked up six yards, Billy Hughes plunged over from the [illegible] point to send the Rebs into a 7-0 lead.

Rayville also scored in the second quarter when a 35-yard pass, Jimmy McNaughton to O'Neal payed off, but the Hornets failed to convert, and the Rebs led 7-6 at the half.

J. O'Connor fired a 15-yard pass to O'Neal in the third quarter and he ran 35 for the touchdown that sent Rayville ahead. Two plays later, C. Johnson recovered a West Monroe fumble [illegible] and O'Neal passed to Claxton Mayo [illegible].

A Greer to Mayo pass [illegible] netted 38 yards, started Rayville's fourth quarter touchdown march with Weaver going over four plays later, and O'Neal converting.

Jonesboro-Hodge Bows To Minden By 20 To 0 Edge

JONESBORO, La., Sept. 16 — (Special)—Johnny Lee, Minden's left halfback, scored all the touchdowns tonight as the Minden Crimson Wave defeated the Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers, 20 to 0.

However, the first half was scoreless until the last three minutes when Lee scooted free around right end and scampered 65 yards for his first touchdown.

Lee counted again in the third quarter on a 26-yard "naked" reverse, and he plunged one yard for the final, also in the third period. The last Minden touchdown was set up by a 45-yard run by quarterback David Nachel.

Benton Irby, right half, added conversions behind the first two touchdowns.

Winberry Sparks LaSalle In 31 - 0 Defeat Of Block

JONESVILLE, La., Sept. 16 (AP) (Special) — Kenneth Winberry scored three touchdowns in the first and second quarters to hand the LaSalle Tigers of Olla plenty lead and the invading Bengals went on to shut out the Block Bears of Jonesville, 31-0, here tonight.

Winberry scampered 66 yards for his opening touchdown and bagged his second on a ten-yard drive that climaxed a 52-yard march in the first quarter. He went over from the three after a 40-yard drive that followed recovery of a Block fumble.

The final LaSalle touchdowns were tallied by Feldor Hollinshead from the seven in the third period, and "Red" Herrington from 15 yards out in the last quarter.

Coach Phillip White's LaSalle reserves played most of the last half. The only conversion was by Julian Keene after Winberry's second touchdown.

Waterproof Sinks Mangham Eleven To Tune Of 14-7

WATERPROOF, La., Sept. 16—(Special)—J. D. Stockstill scampered 52 yards for a touchdown in the last quarter to break a 7-7 deadlock and hand the Waterproof Tigers a 14-7 decision over the battling Mangham Dragons here tonight.

Glenn Mallory sent the Tensas Tigers ahead in the first quarter when he plunged from the one after a 42-yard drive. Vernon Mitchell kicked the point.

Mangham tied it up in the second period when Roger Boughton scored from the four, and Robert Martin ran for the point.

Mitchell also converted behind Stockstill's clinching touchdown.

Waterproof rolled for 223 yards net against 134 for Mangham. Mallory was the Tigers' chief threat of the night, carrying the ball 25 times for 91 yards.

R. S. Smith, Malcolm Harrell, Wiley Rabb, and Bill Fletcher were outstanding on defense for the Tigers.

Reds Buy Memphis Catcher's Contract

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16 (AP) —The Cincinnati Redlegs announced today they have purchased the contract of catcher John Dotterer from Memphis of the Southern Association.

Dotterer is six feet one, weighs 185 pounds, and is 24. He batted .221 for Memphis this season.

BOUT CANCELLED

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP)—The scheduled 10-round heavyweight fight here Sept. 28 between Paul Andrews of Buffalo and Bob Satterfield of Chicago has been postponed due to a hand injury suffered by Andrews in training. The bout was to have been televised nationally (ABC).

BROOKLYN, Sept. 16 (AP) —Two home runs by Gil Hodges, his 26th and 27th of the season, carried the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 4-3 victory over the New York Giants tonight and snapped the National League champions losing streak at five games.

Both of Hodges' homers came off Ramon Monzant with the bases empty, the first one in the second inning and the last in the fourth.

Willie Mays accounted for two of the Giants runs as he took over the league home run lead with his 46th homer in the sixth and singled Monzant home in the seventh to tie the score at 3-3. Whitey Lockman hit a homer for the other New York tally.

Lake Providence Pastes Davidson With 45-0 Defeat

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Sept. 16 —(Special)—The Lake Providence Panthers collected four quick touchdowns in the first quarter and coasted to a 45 to 0 triumph over Davidson High's Warriors of St. Joseph here tonight. It was the first game to be played in the new American Legion Memorial Field here.

Harold Thomas, with three touchdowns for the night, tallied the first two to start Coach Charles Newman's Panthers on the way. Quarterback Albert Surles counted the third on a 20-yard run, and Huey Toney romped 55 yards for the fourth. Two conversions made the score 26-0 going into the second quarter.

Dickie Landrum went 29 yards to paydirt for the fifth score in the second quarter.

Thomas bagged his third TD in the third quarter, and Dick Muirhead counted the final TD in the last quarter, and the point was added running.

The Panthers draw a tougher customer here next Friday when they play the Rayville Hornets in a district Class A conference game.

Yankees Recapture First Place By Edging Red Sox

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) —The New York Yankees took over first place by two percentage points in the fantastic American League pennant race tonight when they overcame a one-run deficit in the ninth inning to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 5-4, on home runs by Hank Bauer and Yogi Berri.

It was a real Frank Merriwell finish for the Yanks. After building up a 3-0 lead in the first five innings, they saw the Red Sox knock Whitey Ford out of the box in the eighth to take a 4-3 lead.

But with one out in the ninth, Bauer connected with one of reliefer Ellis Kinder's offerings and blasted it far into the left field

Late Jena Score Whips Winnsboro By 7 To 0 Count

JENA, La., Sept. 16 (Special) — The Jena Giants, rebounding from their upset loss to LaSalle of Olla last week, punched over a touchdown in the last two minutes of play here tonight to hand the Winnsboro Wildcats a 7-0 defeat in their season opener.

Jena's late touchdown drive climaxed a 64-yard drive with Jerome Owens, right half, going off tackle from the seven for the TD. Richard Bridges kicked the point.

Winnsboro, taking the kickoff with a minute and two seconds left to play, took to the air in a desperate bid to tie up the game, but Ronald Manchester intercepted a long Wildcat pitch, and Jena was able to run only one more play as the game ended.

Both teams showed strong line play with Owens, Bridges, and J. C. Geotzman outstanding for the Giants while Jerry Bankston, David Jones, and Tim Rogers starred for the 'Cats.

Jena made eight first downs, rushed for 171 yards and completed two of three passes. Winnsboro showed nine first downs, rushed for 94 yards, completed two of four passes, having one intercepted.

Ruston Defeats Ouachita Gridders By 27-0 Count

Lion Attack Fails To Materialize On Ground Or Air

The Ruston High School Bearcats defeated the Ouachita Parish High Lions last night by a 27 - 0 count at Brown Stadium.

After a scoreless first period, in which a Ruston drive was stopped at the Ouachita two, the Bearcats again marched 47 yards to paydirt in the second, climaxing the drive with a one-yard touchdown plunge by halfback Pat Garrett. The kick for point was wide on the second try after a five - yard offside penalty.

Ouachita made only one first down in each of the first and second quarters, with their only offensive display coming from the hard plunging of fullback Paul Roye.

In the third quarter, Bearcat Oren Barmore, a hard runner all evening for the visitors, scampered around his right end for 35 yards and the second TD, after a 26-yard by fast Jimmy Alexander had moved the pigskin into position for the sweep.

Barmore again scored when he intercepted a Dick Crowe partially blocked pass early in the final stanza, and sped 20 yards to the end zone.

The invaders wound up their scoring for the evening later in the period when reserve halfback John Murphy burst through center and went 34 yards up the middle.

Ouachita, hampered on defense by the absence of stellar linebacker T. L. Fuller, who saw little action, was led by Roye, Crowe, and Eddie McGowan in the defensive department, who came up from their linebacking posts to haul down the Bearcat speedsters breaking through the Lion line all evening.

The only Lion offensive display of the final half was the result of two jump passes from Crowe to end Thomas Day, each good for a first down.

Tackle James Earl Alexander kicked all three of the Ruston conversions.

The lineups';

Ouachita: Ends, Doss, Tannehill, Logan, Van, Day; Tackles, Wheeler, Tousineau, Smith, Thorn; Guards, Culpepper, Debnam, Howsley; Centers, Greenlee; Backs, Crowe, Fuller, McGowen, Roye, Roy, Ward, Yates, Robinson.

Athletics Blast White Sox Hopes With 13-7 Defeat

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 17 (AP) — Chicago suffered another rude jolt to night as the Kansas City Athletics blasted five White Sox pitchers for a 13-7 victory.

The defeat left the third-place White Sox four games behind the New York Yankees who took over the American League lead from Cleveland by two percentage points. New York edged Boston tonight as Cleveland was tripped by Detroit.

Chicago, which has lost nine of its last 15 games, has seven games remaining.

Bengals Chill Indians, 3-0

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16 (AP)—Steve Gromek, demoted to the bullpen because of repeated failures, stopped Cleveland cold with six scoreless relief innings tonight as the Detroit Tigers inflicted a stunning 3-0 defeat upon the league-leading Indians to lose their lead by two percentage points to the relentless New York Yankees who won at Boston.

Gromek, who was traded by the Indians to Detroit in 1953, answered a hurry call to the bullpen when starter Billy Hoeft complained of a sore left elbow as Cleveland came to bat in the fourth inning. It turned out that the young southpaw had pulled a tendon while making his final pitch in the previous inning.

The 35-year-old Gromek, who had failed to last in 12 starts, dating back to June 30, permitted only three hits and fanned four as he racked up his 13th triumph and first of the season over his former teammates.

Another veteran, 31-year-old Earl Torgeson, drove in the deciding tallies with a two-run single in the seventh that snapped a scoreless mound duel between Gromek and Early Wynn. Detroit picked up another run in the eighth when Ray Boone, another ex-Indian, doubled and scored on Bill Tuttle's third single of the game.

Belated Winnfield Pass Stops Neville, 13 To 12

WINNFIELD, La., Sept. 16 (Special)—The Winnfield Tigers mustered aerial power in the waning seconds of play to snatch an upset 13-12 victory over the Neville High School Tigers of Monroe here tonight.

Tommy Seabaugh fired the decisive pass to Brooks Broussard from his 14. Broussard caught the long throw on the 50 and romped the rest of the way as the whistle was sounding. That tied up the game at 12-12, and Mickey Frazier broke away on an end run for the extra point that gave Winnfield the victory.

Winnfield had also stunned the invading Tigers by scoring the opening touchdown on the third play of the game with Frazier going over. Neville's "Spec" Lewis blocked the kick for the point.

Neville tied it up in the second quarter when Lewis took a handoff from Elton Uushaw on the Winnfield 40 and went all the way.

Billy King put Neville ahead in the third period when he scored in three plays from the 17, the last thrust from the four.

Tallulah Trojans Trounce Wisner By 32 To 7 Count

TALLULAH, La., Sept. 16 (Special)—Held scoreless the first quarter, Tallulah's Trojans exploded for three touchdowns in the second period and romped to a 32-7 conquest of the Wisner Bulldogs here tonight.

Danny Newman's one-yard plunge after a 56-yard drive ended the scoreless deadlock. Lynn Naylor also scored on a 56-yard spring through tackle, and Raymond Russell intercepted a pass by Rayborn and ran 45 yards for the third Trojan TD. Stoney Williamson's conversion handed Tallulah a 19-0 edge at the half.

R. Russell went 38 yards for a third period TD, and "Shorty" Jackson bagged the last on a one-yard plunge with Williamson converting.

A Rayborn-Stephens pass play netted 55 yards and set up a Rayborn touchdown from the one to hand Wisner its lone touchdown in the last quarter. Roberts bucked the line for the point.

Rayville Passing Beats West Monroe, 25 To 7

RAYVILLE, La., Sept. 16 — (Special) — The Rayville High School Hornets, fighting off repeated West Monroe thrusts in the first half and behind 7-6 entering the last half, hit the air lanes for three touchdowns to defeat the invading Rebels, 25 to 7, here tonight.

"Bubber" O'Neal fired the Rayville attack and scored two touchdowns and added the lone Hornet extra point.

West Monroe threatened twice in the scoreless first quarter, and drove to Rayville's nine in the second quarter. After "Sonny" Odom picked up six yards, Billy Hughes plunged over from the three. Johnny Marzula kicked the point to send the Rebs into a 7-0 lead.

Rayville also scored in the second quarter when a 35-yard pass, Jimmy McNaughton to O'Neal payed off, but the Hornets failed to convert, and the Rebs led 7-6 at the half.

J. O'Connor fired a 15 yard pass to O'Neal in the third quarter and he ran 35 for the touchdown that sent Rayville ahead. Two plays later, C. Johnson recovered a West Monroe fumble in midfield, the Hornets were driving again with O'Neal passing to Claxton Mayo for the touchdown.

A Greer to Mayo pass that netted 38 yards started Rayville's fourth quarter touchdown march with Weaver going over four plays later, and O'Neal converting.

Rayville showed a net gain of 260 yards and ten first downs. West Monroe totalled 125 yards and six firsts.

Jonesboro-Hodge Bows To Minden By 20 To 0 Edge

JONESBORO, La., Sept. 16 — (Special)—Johnny Lee, Minden's left halfback, scored all the touchdowns tonight as the Minden Crimson Wave defeated the Jonesboro-Hodge Tigers, 20 to 0.

However, the first half was scoreless until the last three minutes when Lee scooted free around right end and scampered 65 yards for his first touchdown.

Lee counted again in the third quarter on a 26-yard "naked" reverse, and he plunged one yard for the final, also in the third period. The last Minden touchdown was set up by a 45-yard run by quarterback David Nachel.

Benton Irby, right half, added conversions behind the first two touchdowns.

Bums Nip Giants, 4-3; End Five-Game Losing Streak

BROOKLYN, Sept. 16 (AP) —Two home runs by Gil Hodges, his 26th and 27th of the season, carried the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 4-3 victory over the New York Giants tonight and snapped the National League champions losing streak at five games.

Both of Hodges' homers came off Ramon Monzant with the bases empty, the first one in the second inning and the last in the fourth.

Willie Mays accounted for two of the Giants runs as he took over the league home run lead with his 46th homer in the sixth and singled Monzant home in the seventh to tie the score at 3-3. Whitey Lockman hit a homer for the other New York tally.

Winberry Sparks LaSalle In 31 - 0 Defeat Of Block

JONESVILLE, La., Sept. 16 (AP) (Special) — Kenneth Winberry scored three touchdowns in the first and second quarters to hand the LaSalle Tigers of Olla plenty lead and the invading Bengals went on to shut out the Block Bears of Jonesville, 31-0, here tonight.

Winberry scampered 66 yards for his opening touchdown and bagged his second on a ten-yard drive that climaxed a 52-yard march in the first quarter. He went over from the three after a 40-yard drive that followed recovery of a Block fumble.

The final LaSalle touchdowns were tallied by Feldor Hollinshead from the seven in the third period, and "Red" Herrington from 15 yards out in the last quarter.

Coach Phillip White's LaSalle reserves played most of the last half. The only conversion was by Julian Keene after Winberry's second touchdown.

Waterproof Sinks Mangham Eleven To Tune Of 14-7

WATERPROOF, La., Sept. 16—(Special)—J. D. Stockstill scampered 52 yards for a touchdown in the last quarter to break a 7-7 deadlock and hand the Waterproof Tigers a 14-7 decision over the battling Mangham Dragons here tonight.

Glenn Mallory sent the Tensas Tigers ahead in the first quarter when he plunged from the one after a 42-yard drive. Vernon Mitchell kicked the point.

Mangham tied it up in the second period when Roger Boughton scored from the four, and Robert Martin ran for the point.

Mitchell also converted behind Stockstill's clinching touchdown.

Waterproof rolled for 223 yards net against 134 for Mangham. Mallory was the Tigers' chief threat of the night, carrying the ball 25 times for 91 yards.

R. S. Smith, Malcolm Harrell, Wiley Rabb, and Bill Fletcher were outstanding on defense for the Tigers.

Reds Buy Memphis Catcher's Contract

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16 (AP) —The Cincinnati Redlegs announced today they have purchased the contract of catcher John Dotterer from Memphis of the Southern Association.

Dotterer is six feet one, weighs 185 pounds, and is 24. He batted .221 for Memphis this season.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP)—The scheduled 10-round heavyweight fight here Sept. 28 between Paul Andrews of Buffalo and Bob Satterfield of Chicago has been postponed due to a hand injury suffered by Andrews in training. The bout was to have been televised nationally (ABC).

Yankees Recapture First Place By Edging Red Sox

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) —The New York Yankees took over first place by two percentage points in the fantastic American League pennant race tonight when they overcame a one-run deficit in the ninth inning to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 5-4, on home runs by Hank Bauer and Yogi Berri.

It was a real Frank Merriwell finish for the Yanks. After building up a 3-0 lead in the first five innings, they saw the Red Sox knock Whitey Ford out of the box in the eighth to take a 4-3 lead.

But with one out in the ninth, Bauer connected with one of reliefer Ellis Kinder's offerings and blasted it far into the left field

Lake Providence Pastes Davidson With 45-0 Defeat

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Sept. 16 — (Special)—The Lake Providence Panthers collected four quick touchdowns in the first quarter and went on to a 45 to 0 triumph over Davidson High's Warriors of St. Joseph here tonight. It was the first game to be played in the new American Legion Memorial Field here.

Harold Thomas, with three touchdowns for the night, tallied the first two to start Coach Charles Newman's Panthers on the victory trail. Quarterback Albert Surles counted the third on a 20-yard run, and Huey Toney romped 55 yards for the fourth. Two conversions made the score 26-0 going into the second quarter.

Dickie Landrum went 29 yards to paydirt for the only second quarter touchdown.

Thomas bagged his third TD in the third quarter, and Dick Muirhead counted the final TD in the last quarter, and the point was added running.

The Panthers draw a tougher customer here next Friday when they play the Rayville Hornets in a district Class A conference game.

Late Jena Score Whips Winnsboro By 7 To 0 Count

JENA, La., Sept. 16 (Special) — The Jena Giants, rebounding from their upset loss to LaSalle of Olla last week, punched over a touchdown in the last two minutes of play here tonight to hand the Winnsboro Wildcats a 7-0 defeat in their season opener.

Jena's late touchdown drive climaxed a 64-yard drive with Jerome Owens, right half, going off tackle from the seven for the TD. Richard Bridges kicked the point.

Winnsboro, taking the kickoff with a minute and a few seconds left to play, took to the air in a desperate bid to tie up the game, but Ronald Manchester intercepted a long Wildcat pitch, and Jena was able to run off one more play as the game ended.

Both teams showed strong line play with Owens, Bridges, and J. C. Geotzman on the offense for the Giants while Jerry Bankston, David Jones, and Tim Rogers starred for the 'Cats.

Jena made eight first downs, rushed for 171 yards and completed two of three passes. Winnsboro showed nine first downs, rushed for 94 yards, completed two of five passes.

Redskins, Lions In Gulf Season Opener Here Tonight

Southeasterners Opening Defense Of League Crown

Northeast State College meets Southeastern of Hammond in its initial football game of the season here tonight in what promises to be one of the toughest GSC battles of the year for the Indians.

Southeastern has lost only eight members from last year's Gulf States Conference championship team which won ten and lost none. The Lions from south Louisiana are considered quite strong this season, according to Francis Wallace's 16th annual Grid Review in the September 16 issue of Collier's magazine.

This article stated that Southeastern had two fine professional football prospects in guard Dan Fournet and end Huey Husser.

The Lions have a host of freshmen talent which has trickled in from southeastern Louisiana, western Mississippi and particularily from the New Orleans area. They have picked up a Tulane junior halfback Pete Morere who played first string football for the Green Wave last season. In addition to this, the Hammond college still has most of their linemen back from last season and have not been hurt too much in the backfield.

However, the Indians definitely are improved over last year with the acquisition of a number of junior college transfers and good prospective freshmen, not to mention 13 returning lettermen from the 1954 season. Much of this new talent has already shaped up quite well in pre season practice scrimmages and other drills.

From September 1 the Monroe Indians have had two-a-day workouts until Wednesday when the drill sessions tapered off to one-a-day.

Coach Devone Payne reports his squad has worked exceptionally hard, particularily during the latter practice days, in hopes of a possible upset, but acknowledges the going will be rough.

Some of the Indians who have looked especially good in practices include: Both starting tackles, Sherrod McKoin and team captain Francis "Red" Yocom; team co-captain Dalton Smith, center, and C. J. Melancon, guard. End Coach George Luffey says these boys looked pretty sharp in blocking in the line and down field blocking. Included in the list of impressive backs are Tommy Leos, halfback, and Wallace Hargon, quarterback. Hargon was converted from halfback to the quarterback position this week when Danny Hoak, regular Indian QB, severely injured an ankle. This injury, coupled with that of fullback Mack Powell who hurt an ankle recently, has dimmed Northeast's hopes somewhat. However center Sammy Moore is gradually recovering from his knee operation of some time back and should see action in the near future.

The Lions arrived here yesterday afternoon, and held a workout at Neville High School Stadium.

A special attraction will prevail at tonight's contest with the three high schools of the Twin Cities performing in both pre-game and halftime shows. Participating in the festivities will be the Rebel band and Rebelette pep squad of West Monroe High School, the Lion band and Lionettes of Ouachita Parish High School and the Tiger band and Tigerettes of Neville High. The entire show will be under the direction of Joe Barry Mullins, director of the Northeast band and member of the college music faculty.

INDIANS LOOKING UP — The Northeast State Indians, appearing improved over the last year's club that absorbed a 52-0 defeat at the hands of Southeastern's Gulf States conference champions, will be after a measure of revenge tonight when they open at Brown Field here against the Lion machine that went undefeated last season. This is a picture of Coach Devone Payne's husky squad that will try to give their coach a good start in his second year as Redskin tutor. (Photo by Bobby Joe Oden)

LSU Hosts Favored 'Cats

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 16 (AP) — Louisiana State University, out to show its new football coach it's better than experts think, tackles highly-touted Kentucky here tomorrow night.

The game will be the opener for both Southeastern Conference teams.

Paul Dietzel, 31-year-old former Army line coach, rates his squad short on numbers (with 43 the smallest squad in the conference) on experience in key spots and breakaway backfield speed.

Kentucky, rated a top SEC title contender, returns most of the squad that finished 1954 with a 7-3 mark, including senior quarterback Bob Hardy, a top all-America candidate.

The Wildcats edged LSU 7-6 last year at Lexington.

LSU, with a 5-6 mark in 1954, lost heavily at tackle, center and quarterback and is counting mainly on sophomores and junior college transfers to fill the gaps.

Kentucky has a hefty, veteran line, sparked by junior center Dave Kuhn, senior ends Howard Schnellenberger and Bradley Mills and senior tackle Bill Wheeler.

There are four veteran halfbacks and two lettermen at fullback, but Bob Dougherty, 220-pound transfer from the University of Cincinnati, is the man counted on to keep defenses from concentrating on Hardy's passing. Dougherty, a hard driving fullback, hasn't played in two years, having been in service.

Except for quarterback, where Junior Matt Burns, third team last year, and sophomore M. C. Reynolds are about even, LSU has an experienced backfield. Fullback O. K. Ferguson is rated the standout, but there are four experienced halfbacks headed by Chuck Johns and Vince Gonzalez.

Senior end Joe Tuminello is the top man in the line, but Dietzel insists tackle Earl Leggett, a 265-pound junior college transfer, can be "as good as he wants to be." There are three lettermen and a top notch junior college transfer at guard.

Center is the chief line problem. With Harry Hodges, a converted guard, injured, junior college transfer Durwood Graham will start.

Both teams scheduled light workouts today. Game time tomorrow is 8 p.m.

Trippi May Miss Football Season

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP) —Charley Trippi, injured Chicago Cardinal halfback, may miss at least half, or perhaps the entire National Foot ball League season, the club's executive director said today.

Trippi suffered a smashed nose and a fractured skull in a 43 - 7 exhibition loss to the San Francisco 49ers at San Francisco two weeks ago. This would by Trippi's ninth NFL season.

"The doctors don't know when Trippi can resume playing, or if he can," said Wolfner. "He's undergoing slow, prolonged treatment and certainly he'll miss at least half the season."

The Fishing Report

JENA AREA
By Leland Walker

Fishing continues steadily good in this area.

Catfishing is pretty good at French Forks, and Old River had produced lots of bream in the past week as well as some good catfish.

Mr. Giddon and party of Urania caught 32 catfish in French Fork Thursday with rod and reel and using Lazy Ikes, large wrigglers, frozen shrimp and catalpa worms as bait.

White perch fishing is fairly good and seems to be improving in Little River and also in Saline Bayou where good takes of catfish and bream also were taken this week.

BLACK LAKE
By Grits Gresham

The first cool breezes of September waved the magic wand before the noses of Black Lake bass. Schooling, which is typical of bass in this lake near Campti, reached the year's all time high during the past week. Limits were the rule rather than the exception. Flights of bluewinged teal continued to funnel past on their way to points south, but they were unable to distract the bass fishermen.

Joe Grass, of Baton Rouge, fished out of Wood's Lodge on Saturday and Sunday and culled his stringer to the legal limit of 15 bass each day. While Joe was exacting his toll on the bass ranks, his wife and two boys enjoyed brim fishing.

Other Lodge guests who reported limit catches of bass during the week were Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Mitchell, Houston, who turned the trick for three straight days. From Shreveport Dave Tyrrel and his son, and Elias Goldstein also filled out their stringers. Dr. Orville Thomas, also of Shreveport, took nine bass Saturday afternoon and came back with a limit on Sunday morning. The big killer for him was a white bucktail. R. F. Zimmerman, Shreveport, didn't find the bass quite so cooperative but still took half a dozen on Saturday and nine on Sunday. His daughter, Nancy, found the Wood's Lodge horses to her liking and spent much of her time on the bridle paths.

September and October are always two of the best months of the year on Black Lake for bass fishing, and it looks like this year will be no exception.

Chances Remote That Rains Will Spike Flag Race

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP) — The chances that bad weather could complicate the expected down-to-the-wire American League pennant battle between Cleveland and New York appear to be remote.

American League President Will Harridge today looked at the remaining schedule in his loop's high-tension race and predicted "we're in good shape as far as finishing on time is concerned."

A five - day weather forecast through next Wednesday indicates that showers may dampen two Cleveland games and possible one for the Yankees.

However, Harridge points out that both clubs have plenty of opportunity to get in any postponed games before the regular season ends Sunday, Sept. 27.

The World Series starts Wednesday, Sept. 28 with the National League Champion Brooklyn Dodgers invading the triumphant American League team's park.

The five - day outlooks says there's a chance of showers at Cleveland Sunday when the Indians meet Detroit in a single game and also Wednesday when the Tribe plays a night game at Chicago.

The only Yankee likelihood of encountering rain is Tuesday when New York has a night game at Washington.

Harridge points out that Cleveland, after tonight's game with Detroit, will play seven single games in nine days with Monday Sept. 19, and Thursday, Sept. 22, open dates.

"There should be no trouble in getting one or several postponed games in on an open date or as part of a double header," said Harridge.

New York has only single games left, excluding an afternoon - night double header with separate admissions at Boston Friday, Sept. 23. Thursday, Sept. 22, is an open date for the Yankees after three straight night games at Washington.

"Here, too, there could by doubling up to take care of postponements," said Harridge. "The chances of a pile-up for either club are remote."

Rocky's Trainer Certain Moore's Style Fruitless

By MURRAY ROSE

GROSSINGER, N.Y., Sept. 16 (AP) —Trainer Charley Goldman, the little man who polished up the rough diamond called Rocky Marciano, said today he wasn't worried one bit over what style Archie Moore uses against the heavyweight champion Tuesday night in Yankee Stadium.

"It all adds up to the same thing," said Charley. "Rocky will beat him.

"You know, almost every guy who has fought Rocky has said before how he was going to whip him. 'Moore, too. But you notice Rocky has won all of his 48 pro fights and he's fought guys with all kinds of styles. I don't think Moore can surprise him with anything.

"It's easy to say how you're gonna fight Rocky when you watch him from outside the ring but when you get in there with him it's a lot different. When Rocky starts throwing those bombs they don't fight their styles any more. One bomb can make you forget a lot of things."

Don't gather from this that Goldman thinks Moore is any soft touch. It's just that the little fellow sincerely feels that Marciano is the greatest heavyweigh he ever saw and Charley has been waching them for over 50 years.

"I've seen every heavyweight champion from Jim Jeffries down," said Charley, "and Rocky could have taken any of them. None of the heavyweights before Rocky could ever throw so many punches over 15 rounds.

"Remember the barrages he tossed at Ezzard Charles in the 15th round of their first fight? And that had been a tough fight up until then. How about the first fight with Jersey Joe Walcott? He was plenty strong at that stage, too, when he flattened Joe in the 13th.

"He'll be ready to go 15 against Moore and win a decision if he has to. Rocky is in the best shape of his life and is a better fighter now than he ever was.

"Don't let Moore's age fool you. That doesn't mean too much. It isn't what a fighter was but what he is today. Today, Moore is the best challenger around. He's beaten everyone else. He proved he has stamina by coming from behind to stop Harold Johnson in 14 rounds and beat Nino Valdes in 15.

"Archie has an easy style and doesn't expend too much energy. He's a fine fighter and doesn't make many mistakes. He's making his biggest, though, when he steps into the ring against the Rock Sept. 20."

Goldman was in charge of operations at the camp with Manager Al Weill in New York. It was a day of rest for the champ, who spent the day sleeping and lounging around after his morning run on the road.

Rocky winds up his boxing with three rounds of sparring sessions on Saturday and Sunday. Monday he will break camp and depart for New York.

Demons Expecting Offensive Battle With Stetson Foe

NATCHITOCHES, La., Sept. 16 —(Special)—It wouldn't surprise too many observors if Saturday night's season - opening football game here between Northwestern State College and Stetson University of DeLand, Florida, proved to be a point-a-minute offensive duel.

Northwestern, whose main scoring threat will probably be a heard of small but speedy "pony" scatbacks, will be opposing a spread-formation eleven which favors the forward pass as its chief means of expressing itself on the scoreboard.

Coach Harry Turpin will send a lighthorse brigade of halfbacks into the fray headed by 1954 starters Don Millen and Clyde Chesson with triplethreat quarterback James (Red) McNew and line - busting fullback Pete Beck supplying a little variety.

From the other side of the gridiron, Stetson mentor Herb McQuillan will pull no stops in a three-ring aerial circus that is expected to surpass anything Natchitoches fans have witnessed since two-platoon days.

The big battery for the Hatters will probably be a pair of Uniontown, Penn. gridders. Quarterback Dick Saltrick will have a familiar target in former high school teammate Keith Shamrock.

Turpin's ground attack, ranked by many as the best in the Gulf States Conference last year, may be handicapped by a thinly-manned Purple and White forward wall. Although the veteran N.S.C. coach can field a time-proven starting unit, many of his top reserves will probably be inexperienced hands.

Anchored by tri-captains Bill Little, a 210-pound tackle, Chesson 165-pound halfback, and Gary Hickman, 160-pound end, the 1955 Demons have been tagged as favorites of the coaches going into the coming G.S.C. campaign.

If Northwestern's defensive alignment is able to keep the scoreboard operator from applying for overtime in the Stetson opener Saturday night, a lot of questions could be cleared up concerning N.S.C.'s prospects for a third straight successful season.

Ryff Handed Nod Over Joey Lopes In Video Contest

DETROIT, Sept. 16 (AP) —Frankie Ryff, boxing's "Rookie of the year" in 1954, cleverly protected a gashed left eye and breezed to a unanimous 10-round decision over Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., tonight in a nationally televised bour from Olympia Stadium.

Ryff weighed 138, and Lopes 134¼.

Ryff, a 23-year-old New Yorker who is ranked fourth among the lightweights, suffered a cut left eye in the second round. Trainer Dan Florio patched the gash and Ryff, nimbly darting around the ring, kept clear of Lopes until the eighth, when the cut again was opened.

By this time, however, Ryff had piled up more than enough points and merely waited out the final minutes of the fight.

He had a clear margin from the score cards of all three officials. Referee Johnny Weber called it 97-92, while judge Malcolm House had it 99-90 and judge Donald Dilly, 99-93.

The AP scored it 99-91.

Making only his third start of the year, Ryff took command from the opening and had little trouble against his Portuguese - born opponent. Actually, Lopes landed only one solid punch — a wild right in the seventh round. It caught Ryff flush on the jaw as he was backing away and slowed him down for the rest of the round.

Other than that Ryff called the shots. He constantly backed the tiring Lopes into the ropes, banging away to both head and body.

Redskins, Lions In Gulf Season Opener Here Tonight

Southeasterners Opening Defense Of League Crown

Northeast State College meets Southeastern of Hammond in its initial football game of the season here tonight in what promises to be one of the toughest GSC battles of the year for the Indians.

Southeastern has lost only eight members from last year's Gulf States Conference championship team which won ten and lost none. The Lions from south Louisiana are considered quite strong this season, according to Francis Wallace's 16th annual Grid Review in the September 16 issue of Collier's magazine.

RH—Tommy Leos	22	175
FB—"Howdy" Nugent	8	185

This article stated that Southeastern had two fine professional football prospects in guard Dan Fournet and end Huey Husser.

The Lions have a host of freshmen talent which has trickled in from southeastern Louisiana, western Mississippi and particularily from the New Orleans area. They have picked up a Tulane junior halfback Pete Morere who played first string football for the Green Wave last season. In addition to this, the Hammond college still has most of their linemen back from last season and have not been hurt too much in the backfield.

However, the Indians definitely are improved over last year with the acquisition of a number of junior college transfers and good prospective freshmen, not to mention 13 returning lettermen from the 1954 season. Much of this new talent has already shaped up quite well in pre season practice scrimmages and other drills.

From September 1 the Monroe Indians have had two-a-day workouts until Wednesday when the drill sessions tapered off to one-a-day.

Coach Devone Payne reports his squad has worked exceptionally hard, particularily during the latter practice days, in hopes of a possible upset, but acknowledges the going will be rough.

Some of the Indians who have looked especially good in practices include: Both starting tackles, Sherrod McKoin and team captain Francis "Red" Yocom; team co-captain Dalton Smith, center, and C. J. Melancon, guard. End Coach George Luffey says these boys looked pretty sharp in blocking in the line and down field blocking. Included in the list of impressive backs are Tommy Leos, halfback, and Wallace Hargon, quarterback. Hargon was converted from halfback to the quarterback position this week when Danny Hoak, regular Indian QB, severely injured an ankle. This injury, coupled with that of fullback Mack Powell who hurt an ankle recently, has dimmed Northeast's hopes somewhat. However center Sammy Moore is gradually recovering from his knee operation of some time back and should see action in the near future.

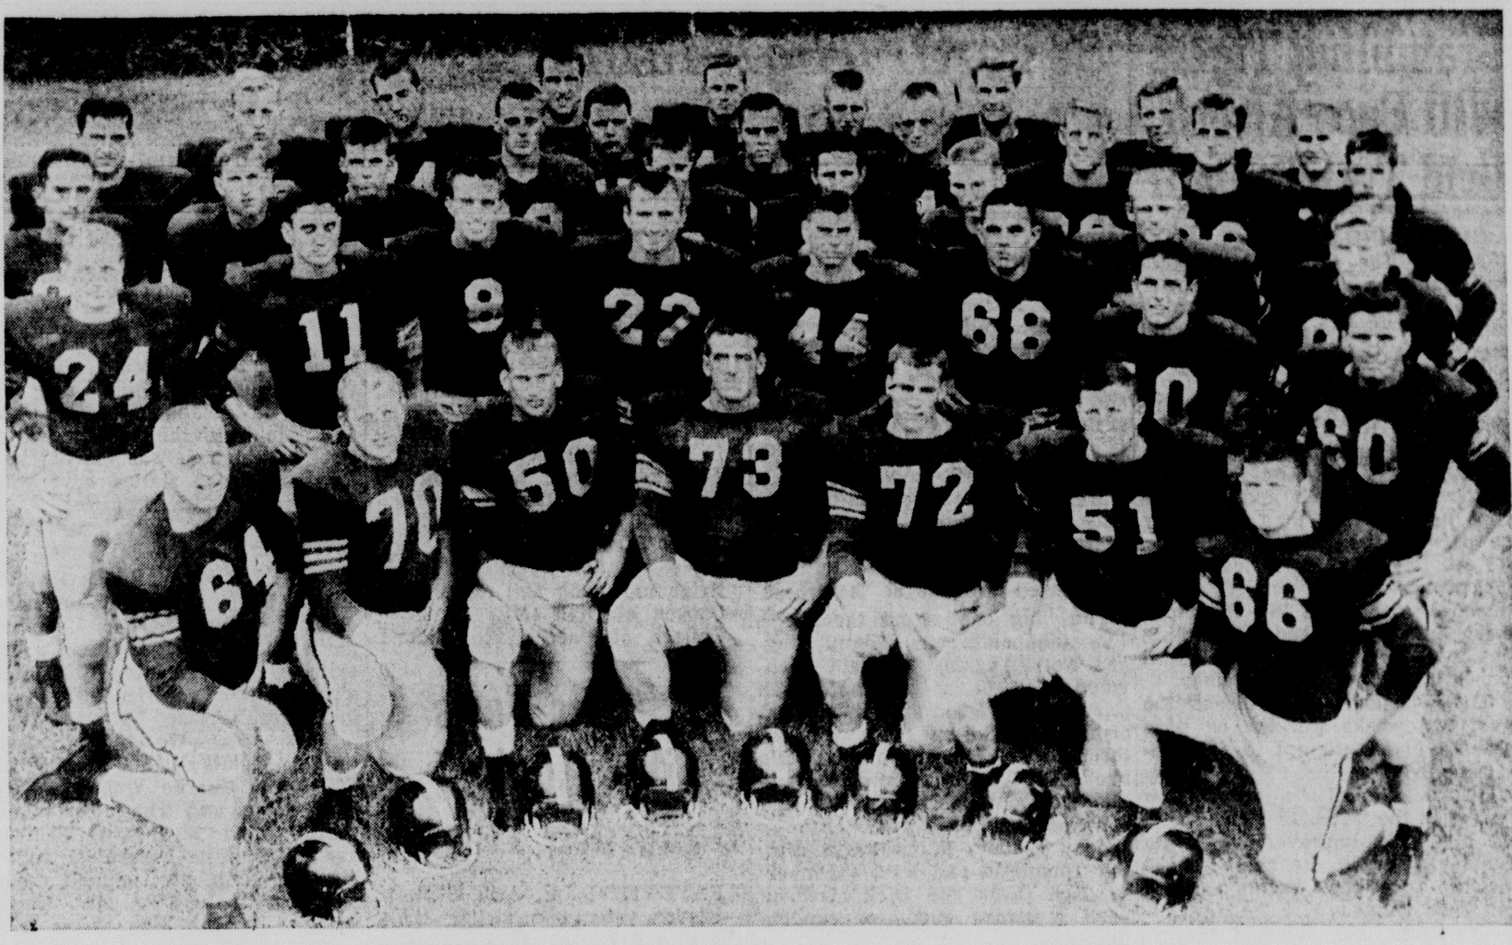
A special attraction will prevail at tonight's contest with the three high schools of the Twin Cities performing in both pre-game and halftime shows. Participating in the festivities will be the Rebel band and Rebelette pep squad of West Monroe High School, the Lion band and Lionettes of Ouachita Parish High School and the Tiger band and Tigerettes of Neville High. The entire show will be under the direction of Joe Barry Mullins, director of the Northeast band and member of the college music faculty.



INDIANS LOOKING UP — The Northeast State Indians, appearing improved over the last year's club that absorbed a 52-0 defeat at the hands of Southeastern's Gulf States conference champions, will be after a measure of revenge tonight when they open at Brown Field here against the Lion machine that went undefeated last season. This is a picture of Coach Devone Payne's husky squad that will try to give their coach a good start in his second year as Redskin tutor. (Photo by Bobby Joe Oden)

LSU Hosts Favored 'Cats

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 16 (AP) — Louisiana State University, out to show its new football coach it's better than experts think, tackles highly-touted Kentucky here tomorrow night.

The game will be the opener for both Southeastern Conference teams.

Paul Dietzel, 31-year-old former Army line coach, rates his squad short on numbers (with 43 the smallest squad in the conference) on experience in key spots and breakaway backfield speed.

Kentucky, rated a top SEC title contender, returns most of the squad that finished 1954 with a 7-3 mark, including senior quarterback Bob Hardy, a top all-America candidate.

The Wildcats edged LSU 7-6 last year at Lexington.

LSU, with a 5-6 mark in 1954, lost heavily at tackle, center and quarterback and is counting mainly on sophomores and junior college transfers to fill the gaps.

Kentucky has a hefty, veteran line, sparked by junior center Dave Kuhn, senior ends Howard Schnellenberger and Bradley Mills and senior tackle Bill Wheeler.

There are four veteran halfbacks and two lettermen at fullback, but Bob Dougherty, 220-pound transfer from the University of Cincinnati, is the man counted on to keep defenses from concentrating on Hardy's passing. Dougherty, a hard driving fullback, hasn't played in two years, having been in service.

Except for quarterback, where Junior Matt Burns, third team last year, and sophomore M. C. Reynolds are about even, LSU has an experienced backfield. Fullback O. K. Ferguson is rated the standout, but there are four experienced halfbacks headed by Chuck Johns and Vince Gonzalez.

Senior end Joe Tuminello is the top man in the line, but Dietzel insists tackle Earl Leggett, a 265-pound junior college transfer, can be "as good as he wants to be." There are three lettermen and a top notch junior college transfer at guard.

Center is the chief line problem. With Harry Hodges, a converted guard, injured, junior college transfer Durwood Graham will start.

Both teams scheduled light workouts today. Game time tomorrow is 8 p.m.

"There should be no trouble in getting one or several postponed games in on an open date or as part of a double header," said Harridge.

New York has only single games left, excluding an afternoon - night double header with separate admissions at Boston Friday, Sept. 23. Thursday, Sept. 22, is an open date for the Yankees after three straight night games at Washington.

"Here, too, there could by doubling up to take care of postponements," said Harridge. "The chances of a pile-up for either club are remote."

Rocky's Trainer Certain Moore's Style Fruitless

By MURRAY ROSE

GROSSINGER, N.Y., Sept. 16 (AP) —Trainer Charley Goldman, the little man who polished up the rough diamond called Rocky Marciano, said today he wasn't worried one bit over what style Archie Moore uses against the heavyweight champion Tuesday night in Yankee Stadium.

"It all adds up to the same thing," said Charley. "Rocky will beat him.

"You know, almost every guy who has fought Rocky has said before how he was going to whip him. Moore, too. But you notice Rocky has won all of his 48 pro fights and he's fought guys with all kinds of styles. I don't think Moore can surprise him with anything.

"It's easy to say how you're gonna fight Rocky when you watch him from outside the ring but when you get in there with him it's a lot different. When Rocky starts throwing those bombs they don't fight their styles any more. One bomb can make you forget a lot of things."

Don't gather from this that Goldman thinks Moore is any soft touch. It's just that the little fellow sincerely feels that Marciano is the greatest heavyweigh he ever saw and Charley has been waching them for over 50 years.

"I've seen every heavyweight champion from Jim Jeffries down," said Charley, "and Rocky could have taken any of them. None of the heavyweights before Rocky could ever throw so many punches over 15 rounds.

"Remember the barrages he tossed at Ezzard Charles in the 15th round of their first fight? And that had been a tough fight up until then. How about the first fight with Jersey Joe Walcott? He was plenty strong at that stage, too, when he flattened Joe in the 13th.

"He'll be ready to go 15 against Moore and win a decision if he has to. Rocky is in the best shape of his life and is a better fighter now than he ever was.

"Don't let Moore's age fool you. That doesn't mean too much. It isn't what a fighter was but what he is today. Today, Moore is the best challenger around. He's beaten everyone else. He proved he has stamina by coming from behind to stop Harold Johnson in 14 rounds and beat Nino Valdes in 15.

"Archie has an easy style and doesn't expend too much energy. He's a fine fighter and doesn't make many mistakes. He's making his biggest, though, when he steps into the ring against the Rock Sept. 20."

Goldman was in charge of operations at the camp with Manager Al Weill in New York. It was a day of rest for the champ, who spent the day sleeping and lounging around after his morning run on the road.

Rocky winds up his boxing with three rounds of sparring sessions on Saturday and Sunday. Monday he will break camp and depart for New York.

Demons Expecting Offensive Battle With Stetson Foe

NATCHITOCHES, La., Sept. 16 —(Special)—It wouldn't surprise too many observors if Saturday night's season - opening football game here between Northwestern State College and Stetson University of DeLand, Florida, proved to be a point-a-minute offensive duel.

Northwestern, whose main scoring threat will probably be a heard of small but speedy "pony" scatbacks, will be opposing a spread-formation eleven which favors the forward pass as its chief means of expressing itself on the scoreboard.

Coach Harry Turpin will send a lighthorse brigade of halfbacks into the fray headed by 1954 starters Don Millen and Clyde Chesson with triplethreat quarterback James (Red) McNew and line - busting fullback Pete Beck supplying a little variety.

From the other side of the gridiron, Stetson mentor Herb McQuillan will pull no stops in a three-ring aerial circus that is expected to surpass anything Natchitoches fans have witnessed since two-platoon days.

The big battery for the Hatters will probably be a pair of Uniontown, Penn. gridders. Quarterback Dick Saltrick will have a familiar target in former high school teammate Keith Shamrock.

Turpin's ground attack, ranked by many as the best in the Gulf States Conference last year, may be handicapped by a thinly-manned Purple and White forward wall. Although the veteran N.S.C. coach can field a time-proven starting unit, many of his top reserves will probably be inexperienced hands.

Anchored by tri-captains Bill Little, a 210-pound tackle, Chesson 1[illegible]5-pound halfback, and Gary Hickman, 160-pound end, the 1955 Demons have been tagged as favorites of the coaches going into the coming G.S.C. campaign.

If Northwestern's defensive alignment is able to keep the scoreboard operator from applying for overtime in the Stetson opener Saturday night, a lot of questions could be cleared up concerning N.S.C.'s prospects for a third straight successful season.

Ryff Handed Nod Over Joey Lopes In Video Contest

DETROIT, Sept. 16 (AP) —Frankie Ryff, boxing's "Rookie of the year" in 1954, cleverly protected a gashed left eye and breezed to a unanimous 10-round decision over Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., tonight in a nationally televised bour from Olympia Stadium.

Ryff weighed 138, and Lopes 134¼.

Ryff, a 23-year-old New Yorker who is ranked fourth among the lightweights, suffered a cut left eye in the second round. Trainer Dan Florio patched the gash and Ryff, nimbly darting around the ring, kept clear of Lopes until the eighth, when the cut again was opened.

By this time, however, Ryff had piled up more than enough points and merely waited out the final minutes of the fight.

He had a clear margin from the score cards of all three officials. Referee Johnny Weber called it 97-92, while judge Malcolm House had it 99-90 and judge Donald Dilly, 99-93.

The AP scored it 99-91.

Making only his third start of the year, Ryff took command from the opening and had little trouble against his Portuguese - born opponent. Actually, Lopes landed only one solid punch — a wild right in the seventh round. It caught Ryff flush on the jaw as he was backing away and slowed him down for the rest of the round.

Other than that Ryff called the shots. He constantly backed the tiring Lopes into the ropes, banging away to both head and body.

Ward, Hyndman Tangle In National Amateur Finals

Robbins, Booe Go Down In Rugged Semi-Final Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 16 (AP) — Harvie Ward Jr., a baby-faced North Carolinian cut of the Bobby Jones cloth, and William Hyndman III 39-year-old Philadelphia insurance executive who is the rankest of outsiders, will clash tomorrow for the amateur golf championship of the United States.

The two forged through to the final today, climaxing a dizzy week on form reversals which saw the elimination, one by one, of five former champions and five of the six members of Uncle Sam's proud Walker Cup team.

The heavily-favored Ward ran into a bulldog in bespectacled Bill Booe, an old Yale blue who used to place-kick for the football team in the two-platoon era, and had to go 34 holes to win the stubborn match, 4 and 2. Booe, unawed by Ward's reputation, wouldn' t be shaken.

Hyndman, a willowly 6-3 business man who is little known outside his own district, upset the favored Hillman Robbins of Memphis, former National College champion, in a weird give-and-take match which saw only nine of the 33 holes halved. The margin was 4 and 3.

Robbins, pushing his drives throughout the day, finished on the same note, driving the ball into 325-yard 15th and halving it in par four's.

Six down through the 23rd hole, the thin Memphis State senior made a serious lunge at his front-running foe by winning three holes in a row to cut the margin to three-up. But Hyndman, after missing two chips, sank a 10-foot pressure putt on the 27th to stop the rally. Then, his confidence buoyed, he settled down to letting the holes run out.

Ward has been expected to chop the unknown Booe to bits but he found the Bridgeport, Conn., fabric buyer a rugged, tenacious scrapper. Every time Ward would win a hole it seemed Booe would come back and win one of his own. The gallery loved it.

The handsome native of Tarboro, N.C., now an automobile salesman in San Francisco, shot a relentless string of pars but was shut out as far as birdies were concerned until the waning holes of the match.

He snagged his first bird on the 27th where he put a wedge shot to within two feet of the pin. Then he sank a nine-footer on the 31st, a 10-footer on the 33rd and got a conceded four on the 524-yard 34th to close out the match.

Ward is 29, a graduate of the University of North Carolina and for the past decade one of the country's leading amateur players. Veteran Walker Cup member, he won the British Amateur in 1952 and gained the finals the following year but this is his farthest advane in our own National.

He has a one - piece picture swing. Always a fine driver and putter, he learned his deadly iron play at the knee of Byron Nelson, the former pro champion, and today his rivals call him the best amateur in the world.

Although already one year older than Jones when the latter completed his "grand slam" 25 years ago, Harvie has been compared with Jones from the standpoint of temperament, course manners and shotmaking ability.

Hyndman, whose best showing in four previous national tournaments was the third round at Minneapolis in 1950, is a highly respected player in his own district.

He has been medalist in the Pennsylvania State Tournament five times.

LION VETERAN—One of three returning starters from Southeastern Louisiana College's 1951 unbeaten Lion eleven is Guard Dan Fournet, who will see plenty of action against Northeast State tonight. A solid, 185-pound junior, Fournet is considered one of S. L. C.'s top linemen. His brother, Sid, was All-American tackle at L. S. U. last year.

Louisiana Tech Opening Gulf Race At Pineville

RUSTON, La., Sept. 16 (Special) Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs launch their bid for Gulf States Conference honors when they travel to Pineville Saturday night to battle Louisiana College.

It will be the season opener for both teams that have been working out since Sept. 1. Both Coach Joe Aillet of Tech and Coach Jimmy Keeth of Louisiana College are anxious to test their 1955 machines under fire since both squads list numerous newcomers this fall.

The Techsters have looked good on the practice field in pre-season workouts. Cool weather has speeded up the conditioning of the boys and because most of the fellows returned to the campus in good physical shape there have been few practice unjuries.

Pre - season practice at Louisiana College indicates that the Baptist team will be deeper in reserves, faster on offense and more experienced on defense. Fourteen lettermen are back from the squad of last year that got off to a slow start with four straight defeats but then got rolling in midseason and then won four, tied one and lost one to give the Wildcats a 4-5-1 record for the season.

Coach Keeth will have most of his same backfield returning and this will include such standouts as quarterback Clyde "Sonny" Clark and halfback Frank Mobley. Clark was the leading ground-gainer in the GSC two years ago while Mobley was one of the top - pointmakers that same season.

Tech's next grid battle will be on the home field Sept. 24 against Mississippi Southern.

New Organization Will Control Auto Racing In America

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 16 — (AP) — A new organization to control American auto racing was formed today and incorporated immediately as the United States Auto Club.

It filed Indiana incorporation papers broad enough to cover every type of auto racing, speed and economy tests, and all the usual auto club services to motorists.

The American Automobile Association announced Aug. 3 that it will withdraw from the sanction and control of auto racing after this year. It indicated it intends to continue supervision of speed and economy tests.

Judge George M. Ober of suburban Speedway City, one of those main interests is drag racing to keep teen - age speeders out of his magistrate's court, told newsmen:

"We're going after everything."

Judge Ober, who had been chairman of a temporary committee to form the new organization, will represent the public on the USAC contest committee.

He made it clear that USAC will welcome the National Association for Stock Car Racing, which has been a bitter enemy of the AAA contest board in race promotions.

"It is the definite intent to accept other racing organizations, or individuals, who wish to become affiliated with this organization," Ober told a crowd of about 300 drivers, promoters and mechanics at the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

Alec Ullman, promoter of the Sebring, Fla., endurance races, urged the new organization to make American car specifications conform to the international formulas.

"If we can mold the regulations to suit the foreigners they'll come," Ullman asserted. "We've got the engineers. Let's go over, beat them at their own game and get them to come over here."

Pledges of support were sent by auto racing fan clubs of Wisconsin, Missouri, Indiana, California, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Ohio.

Other members of the board are Tom Marchese, Milwaukee promoter; Col. A. W. Herrington of Indianapolis, chairman of the doomed AAA contest board; Robert Estes, Inglewood, Calif., race car owner; Herb Porter, Indianapolis mechanic, and Anton J. (Tony) Hulman of Terre Haute, Ind., owner of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

"We've been hollering for years that we have nothing to do with our own business," Porter said. "Now we have it."

Duke Donaldson, Long Island promoter, asserted there will be more American races under the new organization.

Estes said safety is going to have top priority with the USCA. He called for racing organizations throughout the country to help draw up safety rules.

Grambling Tigers Will Face Alcorn Grid Test Tonight

GRAMBLING, La., Sept. 16 — (Special) The Grambling Tigers will bank on the striking power of a strong backfield Saturday night for cleated fireworks with the Alcorn College Braves at Alcorn, Miss.

It is no exaggeration to say that Eddie Robinson and his assistants consider the Braves the most important foe on their nonconference schedule and will accept nothing less than a victory as par for the contest.

Last fall an Alcorn team that looked none too prepossessing on paper, romped to a 26 - 6 victory over the Tigers and Grambling couldn't regain its touchdown punch until the last five games.

Tiger coaches have spent the past two weeks working on pass defense in an attempt to plug defensive holes.

Alcorn did all its scoring on passes in the '54 contest and showed big-stride improvement in its running later in the season.

Score production seems assured for both teams.

Grambling has Edward Murry, Clyde Washington, Sterling Dyer and Jamie Caleb available for hit-and-run assignments.

Diagetti Leading At Half-Way Mark In Philly Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP) — Breaking par for the second straight day, Leo Diagetti, 28 - year-old pro from Willoughby, Ohio, vaulted into the lead today at the half-way mark of the $20,000 Daily News Open with a 36-hole total of 133.

Diagetti, who never has won a major tourney, carved a 2 under par 66 to go along with his first round sub-par 67 for a three-stroke lead over Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa.; Doug Higgins, the first day leader from Midland, Tex.; and Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich.

Diagetti, representing the Willo-Shores Golf Club now under construction, played "perfect golf" today except for a three-putt bogey on the second hole and a little difficulty on the ninth. He birdied the fourth, aided by a good drive, the 475-yard fifth with a 10-foot putt and the 296-yard 11th with an 11-foot putt.

He won the one-day Erie Open in July and was second in the All-American phase of the Tam O'Shanter tourney to highlight his three years on the pro circuit.

Higgins, who shot a dazzling course record of 64 in the opening round, faded on the back nine to come home with a 72 and a 136 total. He matched par on the front nine but then his approach shots went sour to give him a bogey on the 11th and a double bogey on the 12th.

Wall played consistently to match his opening round 68, while Nary's one under 67 enabled him to climb into the three-way tie for second.

Doug Ford, the P.G.A. champion from Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.; Bud Holscher, of Apple Valley, Calif.; and Bo Winninger, Oklahoma City, Okla., were deadlocked at 137 followed by temperamental Tommy Bolt, who overcame the handicap of a bad back to match par; Max Evans of Utica, N.Y., and Jimmy Clark of Huntingdon Beach, Calif., at 138.

The leader:

Leo Diagetti, Willoughby, Ohio 67-66—133
Art Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa. 68-68—136
Doug Higgins, Midlands, Tex. 64-72—136
Bill Fary, Wayne, Mich. 69-67—136
Bud Holscher, Apple Valley, Calif. 66-71—137
Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y. 69-68—137
Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City, Okla. 68-69—137
Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, Tenn. 70-68—138
Max Evans, Utica, N. Y. 70-68—138
Jimmy Clark, Laguna, Calif. 68-70—138
George Bigham, Kansas City, Mo. 71-68—139
Fred Wampler, Indianapolis, Ind. 72-67—139
Johnny Wetzel, Hershey, Pa. 69-70—139
Donald Whitt, Alameda, Calif. 70-69—139
Dave Douglas, Newark, Del. 71-68—139
John Serafin, West Pittston, Pa. 71-69—140
Henry Williams, Jr., Reading, Pa. 70-70—140

Brooklyn Fears Loss Of Podres

BROOKLYN, Sept. 16 —(AP)— Johnny Podres, Brooklyn southpaw who injured his ribs when he ran into the batting cage before the Dodgers left for their recent western trip, may be forced out of action in the World Series.

Although X-rays taken yesterday were negative, Podres was in such pain today it is not likely he will pitch for a week.

"If he is not able to work in the World Series because of this injury I will ask Commissioner Ford Frick for the right to replace him on our series roster," Vice-President E. J. Bavasi said tonight.

The Cleveland Indians, one of the possible series foes, already has asked for the right to make a last minute substitution for Vic Wertz in event the veteran first baseman, recently stricken by polio, is unable to play. Bavasi said the Dodgers had agreed to that arrangement.

Several High-Ranking Elevens On Trial Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 1955 college football season takes its first uncertain steps today (Saturday). Many high ranking grid powers will find out in a hurry if they really are good or just dreaming.

An intersectional split-T scrap between Maryland's Jim Tatum and the man who taught him the system—Missouri's Don Faurot—is one of the day's better offerings. It will be played at Columbia, Mo.

The "big one" from the Nicaa TV standpoint, pits Miami, tagged No. 9, against Georgia Tech, voted No. 10 at Atlanta. Tech Coach Bobby Dodd says he's proud of his backfield, but "can we break through the Miami line." Tech's backfield lists quarterback Wade Mitchell, a dangerous runner and good passer, and a pair of smart, speedy runners in halfbacks Jimmy Thompson and Paul Rotenberry. Ken Owen and Dick Mattison head a strong group of capable fullbacks.

Miami will have the edge up front. The strong line is anchored by center Mike Hudock, a fine linebacker. The backfield is powerful with fullback Don Bosseler and quarterback Mario Bonofiglio who is rated tops as a passer and runner.

California and Pittsburg add to the intersectional flavor meeting at Pittsburg in the only major eastern game. Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf is concerned about his line play while Johnny Michelosen starts his first season at the Panther Reins.

Meanwhile the Southeastern Conference and Pacific Coast races get off to flying starts. Three games are listed for the Southeastern and two in the far west.

Kentucky's Wildcats, a dark horse for the Southeastern Conference races, goes against Louisiana State at Baton Rouge Saturday night. Paul Dietzle, 31-year-old former army line coach sends a new lineup against a veteran Kentucky team. Mississippi, beaten by navy in the New Year's Day Sugar Bowl, takes on Georgia at Atlanta under the lights. In the afternoon, Mississippi State is at Florida.

On the Coast, Washington State travels to Southern California and Idaho visits Washington.

Other major games today:

South

North Carolina State at Florida State (N)
Virginia Military at Tulane
Virginia Tech at Wake Forest

Southwest

Hardin-Simmons at Baylor
Tulsa at Arkansas
Montana at Houston
Texas Tech at Texas (N)

Far West

Brigham Young at Oregon State
Oregon at Utah (N)
College of Pacific at Stanford.

Arkansas Tests Split-T Against Underdog Tulsa

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 16 —Eleven veterans who had a big share in Arkansas' 1954 Southwest Conference championship will try out their new split T assignments at 2 p. m., tomorrow in a battle against an underdog Tulsa Hurricane.

Some 15,000 fans are expected to watch the results of the handiwork of two new coaches, Jack Mitchell at Arkansas and Bobby Davis of Tulsa.

The biggest change is at Arkansas, where Mitchell scrapped the single wing that carried the Porkers to an 8-2 record last year and re-formed the attack in his own split- T pattern.

Both coaches have said that their offenses have not developed properly and that they'll be counting on the defense to stop the opposition.

The Razorbacks walloped the Missouri Valley team last year, 41-0.

Both teams have about a score of lettermen, but Tulsa's men return from a team that lost 11 straight games in 1954.

George Walker again will be called on to lead the Hogs. He was the steadying influence as a single wing tailback last year and he's expected to develop into a fine quarterback. Fullback Henry Moore and halfbacks Preston Carpenter and Joe Thomason are the Porkers' leading ball carriers.

Would Not Trade Buc Mound Staff For Any In Loop

MEADVILLE, Pa., Sept. 16 (AP) —Branch Rickey, general manager of the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates, said today he wouldn't trade his pitching staff for that of any other National League club.

He added that the Pirates may be the first club to threaten the supremacy of the pennant - winning Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rickey, here for a visit at Allegheny College where he once was athletic director, made the statements in an interview with Fred Quinn, news editor of radio staion WMGW.

Asked how the Pirates would fare next season, Rickey replied: "I have a pitching staff in Pittsburgh today I would not care to exchange for the pitching staff of any other club in the National League. Now that's a startling statement and will offend some of my colleagues, but I stand on that.

"We have come. We are not just in the future. We have passed the corner. My pitching staff is a great pitching staff and we can go to the World Series with it."

"Looks like an upward trend for Pittsburgh then, doesn't it," he was asked.

"Upward trend, my eye, we've arrived. It's not true in all departments. I haven't got the forceful strength that Brooklyn's got, for example, but I'll not be surprised—here's another rash statement—if the club that first threatens the supremacy of the Brooklyn club in the National League is Pittsburgh."

Rickey wouldn't predict the winner of the American League pennant, but he said it looks like New York or Cleveland.

He added:

"Brooklyn can beat either one of them."

Ward, Hyndman Tangle In National Amateur Finals

By WILL GRIMSLEY

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 16 (AP) — Harvie Ward Jr., a baby-faced North Carolinian cut of the Bobby Jones cloth, and William Hyndman III 39-year-old Philadelphia insurance executive who is the rankest of outsiders, will clash tomorrow for the amateur golf championship of the United States.

The two forged through to the final today, climaxing a dizzy week on form reversals which saw the elimination, one by one, of five former champions and five of the six members of Uncle Sam's proud Walker Cup team.

The heavily-favored Ward ran into a bulldog in bespectacled Bill Booe, an old Yale blue who used to place-kick for the football team in the two-platoon era, and had to go 34 holes to win the stubborn match, 4 and 2. Booe, unawed by Ward's reputation, wouldn' t be shaken.

Hyndman, a willowly 6-3 business man who is little known outside his own district, upset the favored Hillman Robbins of Memphis, former National College champion, in a weird give-and-take match which saw only nine of the 33 holes halved. The margin was 4 and 3.

Robbins, pushing his drives throughout the day, finished on the same note, driving the ball into 325-yard 15th and halving it in par four's.

Six down through the 23rd hole, the thin Memphis State senior made a serious lunge at his front-running foe by winning three holes in a row to cut the margin to three-up. But Hyndman, after missing two chips, sank a 10-foot pressure putt on the 27th to stop the rally. Then, his confidence buoyed, he settled down to letting the holes run out.

Ward has been expected to chop the unknown Booe to bits but he found the Bridgeport, Conn., fabric buyer a rugged, tenacious scrapper. Every time Ward would win a hole it seemed Booe would come back and win one of his own. The gallery loved it.

The handsome native of Tarboro, N.C., now an automobile salesman in San Francisco, shot a relentless string of pars but was shut out as far as birdies were concerned until the waning holes of the match.

He snagged his first bird on the 27th where he put a wedge shot to within two feet of the pin. Then he sank a nine-footer on the 31st, a 10-footer on the 33rd and got a conceded four on the 524-yard 34th to close out the match.

Ward is 29, a graduate of the University of North Carolina and for the past decade one of the country's leading amateur players. Veteran Walker Cup member, he won the British Amateur in 1952 and gained the finals the following year but this is his farthest advane in our own National.

He has a one - piece picture swing. Always a fine driver and putter, he learned his deadly iron play at the knee of Byron Nelson, the former pro champion, and today his rivals call him the best amateur in the world.

Although already one year older than Jones when the latter completed his "grand slam" 25 years ago, Harvie has been compared with Jones from the standpoint of temperament, course manners and shotmaking ability.

Hyndman, whose best showing in four previous national tournaments was the third round at Minneapolis in 1950, is a highly respected player in his own district.

He has been medalist in the Pennsylvania State Tournament five times.

LION VETERAN—One of three returning starters from Southeastern Louisiana College's 1954 unbeaten Lion eleven is Guard Dan Fournet, who will see plenty of action against Northeast State tonight. A solid, 185-pound junior, Fournet is considered one of S. L. C.'s top linemen. His brother, Sid, was All-American tackle at L. S. U. last year.

Louisiana Tech Opening Gulf Race At Pineville

RUSTON, La., Sept. 16 (Special) Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs launch their bid for Gulf States Conference honors when they travel to Pineville Saturday night to battle Louisiana College.

It will be the season opener for both teams that have been working out since Sept. 1. Both Coach Joe Aillet of Tech and Coach Jimmy Keeth of Louisiana College are anxious to test their 1955 machines under fire since both squads list numerous newcomers this fall.

The Techsters have looked good on the practice field in pre-season workouts. Cool weather has speeded up the conditioning of the boys and because most of the fellows returned to the campus in good physical shape there have been few practice unjuries.

This will give the Techsters a line with an average weight per man of 207 pounds and a backfield that will average 180 pounds.

Pre - season practice at Louisiana College indicates that the Baptist team will be deeper in reserves, faster on offense and more experienced on defense. Fourteen lettermen are back from the squad of last year that got off to a slow start with four straight defeats but which got rolling in midseason and then won four, tied one and lost one to give the Wildcats a 4-5-1 record for the season.

Coach Keeth will have most of his same backfield returning and this will include such standouts as quarterback Clyde "Sonny" Clark and halfback Frank Mobley. Clark was the leading ground-gainer in the GSC two years ago while Mobley was one of the top - pointmakers that same season.

Tech's next grid battle will be on the home field Sept. 24 against Mississippi Southern.

New Organization Will Control Auto Racing In America

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 16 — (AP) — A new organization to control American auto racing was formed today and incorporated immediately as the United States Auto Club.

It filed Indiana incorporation papers broad enough to cover every type of auto racing, speed and economy tests, and all the usual auto club services to motorists.

The American Automobile Association announced Aug. 3 that it will withdraw from the sanction and control of auto racing after this year. It indicated it intends to continue supervision of speed and economy tests.

Judge George M. Ober of suburban Speedway City, one of those main interests is drag racing to keep teen - age speeders out of his magistrate's court, told newsmen:

"We're going after everything."

Judge Ober, who had been chairman of a temporary committee to form the new organization, will represent the public on the USAC contest committee.

He made it clear that USAC will welcome the National Association for Stock Car Racing, which has been a bitter enemy of the AAA contest board in race promotions.

"It is the definite intent to accept other racing organizations, or individuals, who wish to become affiliated with this organization." Ober told a crowd of about 300 drivers, promoters and mechanics at the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

Alec Ullman, promoter of the Sebring, Fla., endurance races, urged the new organization to make American car specifications conform to the international formulas.

"If we can mold the regulations to suit the foreigners, they'll come" Ullman asserted. "We've got the engineers. Let's go over, beat them at their own game, and get them to come over here."

Pledges of support were sent by auto racing fan clubs of Wisconsin, Missouri, Indiana, California, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Ohio.

Other members of the board are Tom Marchese, Milwaukee promoter; Col. A W. Herrington of Indianapolis, chairman of the doomed AAA contest board; Robert Estes, Inglewood, Calif., race car owner; Herb Porter, Indianapolis mechanic, and Anton J. (Tony) Hulman of Terre Haute, Ind., owner of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

"We've been hollering for years that we have nothing to do with our own business," Porter said. "Now we have."

Duke Donaldson, Long Island promoter, asserted there will be more American races under the new organization.

Estes said safety is going to have top priority with the USCA. He called for racing organizations throughout the country to help draw up safety rules.

Grambling Tigers Will Face Alcorn Grid Test Tonight

GRAMBLING, La., Sept. 16 — (Special) The Grambling Tigers will bank on the striking power of a strong backfield Saturday night for cleated fireworks with the Alcorn College Braves at Alcorn, Miss.

It is no exaggeration to say that Eddie Robinson and his assistants consider the Braves the most important foe on their non-conference schedule and will accept nothing less than a victory as par for the contest.

Last fall an Alcorn team that looked none too prepossessing on paper, romped to a 26 - 6 victory over the Tigers and Grambling couldn't regain its touchdown punch until the last five games.

Tiger coaches have spent the past two weeks working on pass defense in an attempt to plug defensive holes.

Alcorn did all its scoring on passes in the '54 contest and showed big-stride improvement in its running later in the season.

Score production seems assured for both teams.

Grambling has Edward Murry, Clyde Washington, Sterling Dyer and Jamie Caleb available for hit-and-run assignments.

Diagetti Leading At Half-Way Mark In Philly Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP) — Breaking par for the second straight day, Leo Diagetti, 28 - year-old pro from Willoughby, Ohio, vaulted into the lead today at the half-way mark of the $20,000 Daily News Open with a 36-hole total of 133.

Diagetti, who never has won a major tourney, carved a 2 under par 66 to go along with his first round sub-par 67 for a three-stroke lead over Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa.; Doug Higgins, the first day leader from Midland, Tex.; and Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich.

Diagetti, representing the Willo-Shores Golf Club now under construction, played "perfect golf" today except for a three-putt bogey on the second hole and a little difficulty on the ninth. He birdied the fourth, aided by a good drive, the 475-yard fifth with a 10-foot putt and the 296-yard 11th with an 11-foot putt.

He won the one-day Erie Open in July and was second in the All-American phase of the Tam O'Shanter tourney to highlight his three years on the pro circuit.

Higgins, who shot a dazzling course record of 64 in the opening round, faded on the back nine to come home with a 72 and a 136 total. He matched par on the front nine but then his approach shots went sour to give him a bogey on the 11th and a double bogey on the 12th.

Wall played consistently to match his opening round 68, while Nary's one under 67 enabled him to climb into the three-way tie for second.

Doug Ford, the P.G.A. champion from Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.; Bud Holscher, of Apple Valley, Calif.; and Bo Winninger, Oklahoma City, Okla., were deadlocked at 137 followed by temperamental Tommy Bolt, who overcame the handicap of a bad back to match par; Max Evans of Utica, N.Y., and Jimmy Clark of Huntingdon Beach, Calif., at 138.

The leader:

Leo Diagetti, Willoughby, Ohio 67-66—133
Art Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa. 68-68—136
Doug Higgins, Midlands, Tex. 64-72—136
Bill Fary, Wayne, Mich. 69-67—136
Bud Holscher, Apple Valley, Calif. 66-71—137
Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y. 69-68—137
Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City, Okla. 68-69—137
Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, Tenn. 70-68—138
Max Evans, Utica, N. Y. 70-68—138

Brooklyn Fears Loss Of Podres

BROOKLYN, Sept. 16 —(AP)— Johnny Podres, Brooklyn southpaw who injured his ribs when he ran into the batting cage before the Dodgers left for their recent western trip, may be forced out of action in the World Series.

Although X-rays taken yesterday were negative, Podres was in such pain today it is not likely he will pitch for a week.

"If he is not able to work in the World Series because of this injury I will ask Commissioner Ford Frick for the right to replace him on our series roster," Vice-President E. J. Bavasi said tonight.

The Cleveland Indians, one of the possible series foes, already has asked for the right to make a last minute substitution for Vic Wertz in event the veteran first baseman, recently stricken by polio, is unable to play. Bavasi said the Dodgers had agreed to that arrangement.

Several High-Ranking Elevens On Trial Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 1955 college football season takes its first uncertain steps today (Saturday). Many high ranking grid powers will find out in a hurry if they really are good or just dreaming.

An intersectional split-T scrap between Maryland's Jim Tatum and the man who taught him the system—Missouri's Don Faurot—is one of the day's better offerings. It will be played at Columbia, Mo.

Maryland, rated No. 5 in the preseason associated press poll, appears too strong even though center Bob Pellegrini and fullback Tom Selep are not at their best.

The "big one" from the Nicaa TV standpoint, pits Miami, tagged No. 9, against Georgia Tech, voted No. 10 at Atlanta. Tech Coach Bobby Dodd says he's proud of his backfield, but "can we break through the Miami line." Tech's backfield lists quarterback Wade Mitchell, a dangerous runner and good passer, and a pair of smart, speedy runners in halfbacks Jimmy Thompson and Paul Rotenberry. Ken Owen and Dick Mattison head a strong group of capable fullbacks.

Miami will have the edge up front. The strong line is anchored by center Mike Hudock, a fine linebacker. The backfield is powerful with fullback Don Bosseler and quarterback Mario Bonofiglio who is rated tops as a passer and runner.

California and Pittsburg add to the intersectional flavor meeting at Pittsburg in the only major eastern game. Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf is concerned about his line play while Johnny Michelosen starts his first season at the Panther Reins.

Meanwhile the Southeastern Conference and Pacific Coast races get off to flying starts. Three games are listed for the Southeastern and two in the far west.

Kentucky's Wildcats, a dark horse for the Southeastern Conference race, goes against Louisiana State at Baton Rouge Saturday night. Paul Dietzle, 31-year-old former army line coach sends a new lineup against a veteran Kentucky team. Mississippi, beaten by navy in the New Year's Day Sugar Bowl, takes on Georgia at Atlanta under the lights. In the afternoon, Mississippi State is at Florida.

On the Coast, Washington State travels to Southern California and Idaho visits Washington.

Other major games today:

South

North Carolina State at Florida State (N)
Virginia Military at Tulane
Virginia Tech at Wake Forest

Southwest

Hardin-Simmons at Baylor
Tulsa at Arkansas
Montana at Houston
Texas Tech at Texas (N)

Far West

Brigham Young at Oregon State
Oregon at Utah (N)
College of Pacific at Stanford.

Arkansas Tests Split-T Against Underdog Tulsa

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 16 —Eleven veterans who had a big share in Arkansas' 1954 Southwest Conference championship will try out their new split T assignments at 2 p. m., tomorrow in a battle against an underdog Tulsa Hurricane.

Some 15,000 fans are expected to watch the results of the handiwork of two new coaches, Jack Mitchell at Arkansas and Bobby Davis of Tulsa.

The biggest change is at Arkansas, where Mitchell scrapped the single wing that carried the Porkers to an 8-2 record last year and re-formed the attack in his own split- T pattern.

Both coaches have said that their offenses have not developed properly and that they'll be counting on the defense to stop the opposition.

The Razorbacks walloped the Missouri Valley team last year, 41-0.

Both teams have about a score of lettermen, but Tulsa's men return from a team that lost 11 straight games in 1954.

George Walker again will be called on to lead the Hogs. He was the steadying influence as a single wing tailback last year and he's expected to develop into a fine quarterback. Fullback Henry Moore and halfbacks Preston Carpenter and Joe Thomason are the Porkers' leading ball carriers.

Pan-Am Service Stas. dealt Guerriero Insurance a big blow by making a clean sweep of their four points with the insurance boys. Robert Creighton was the big gun for the service station boys with a 212 game and a 573 series. E. B. Peddy led the Guerrieros' with a 200 game and a 535 series.

Dyer's Laundermatic bested Budweiser Beer four points to none as Hardy showed best for Laundermatic with a 189 game and a 520 series. Garrett, shooting a 196 game along with 501 series, was tops for Budweiser.

News - Star—World also picked up four points at the expense of KNOE-TV, Charlie Walker taking high game and Theo Finkbeiner coming in for high series. Walker had a 204 while Finkbeiner rolled 546. Ken Roth, posting high single game with a 148, and Harry Arthur, showing high series with a 402, were tops for the radio-TV boys.

Seven Up Bottling Company bested Dr. Pepper three points to one as the Morrows put on their famous daddy and son act with "Daddy" Morrow hitting a 514 series and "Sonny" showing a 185 game. Doyle Grigsby led Dr. Pepper with a 184 game mixed with a 484 series.

Girault Insurance and Team No. 9 split their four points at two each. Hulteen, with a 214 game, and Paul Cupples, with a 569 series, led the insurance boys. Team No. 9 was led by Keith Moore and Sam Correro as Moore was getting a 199 game and Correro a 487 series.

Would Not Trade Buc Mound Staff For Any In Loop

MEADVILLE, Pa., Sept. 16 (AP) —Branch Rickey, general manager of the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates, said today he wouldn't trade his pitching staff for that of any other National League club.

He added that the Pirates may be the first club to threaten the supremacy of the pennant - winning Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rickey, here for a visit at Allegheny College where he once was athletic director, made the statements in an interview with Fred Quinn, news editor of radio staion WMGW.

Asked how the Pirates would fare next season, Rickey replied:

"I have a pitching staff in Pittsburgh today I would not care to exchange for the pitching staff of any other club in the National League. Now that's a startling statement and will offend some of my colleagues, but I stand on that.

"We have come. We are not just in the future. We have passed the corner. My pitching staff is a great pitching staff and we can go to the World Series with it."

"Looks like an upward trend for Pittsburgh then, doesn't it," he was asked.

"Upward trend, my eye, we've arrived. It's not true in all departments. I haven't got the forceful strength that Brooklyn's got, for example, but I'll not be surprised—here's another rash statement—if the club that first threatens the supremacy of the Brooklyn club in the National League is Pittsburgh."

Rickey wouldn't predict the winner of the American League pennant, but he said it looks like New York or Cleveland.

He added:

"Brooklyn can beat either one of them."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Al Alleman of Baton Rouge, a member of the new clubs committee of the Men's Garden Clubs of America, was present to assist the local group in organization. Woodson K. Jones, north secretary of the Men's Garden Clubs of America from Jackson, Miss., headed a delegation from Jackson, which also assisted in organizing the local club. Included in the Jackson delegation were W. R. Jennings, H. A. Crisler, Ray Tillman, Frank J. Ryan.

On a motion by Mr. Hipp, which was seconded by Dr. Foster, it was unanimously decided that the local group affiliate with the Men's Garden Clubs of America.

The constitution and by-laws committee will meet Tuesday night at 7 p.m. in the home of Dr. Hamilton. The next meeting of the Men's Garden Club will be held October 23 at 3:30 p.m. in the Twin Cities Y. M. C. A.

2 Charged With Social Security Law Violations

JONESVILLE, Sept. 16 (Special) —Two men, one from Concordia and one from Catahoula parish have been charged with violating the Louisiana employment security law.

Elisha Carter of Concordia and Bobby Ray Ewing of Jonesville will face charges of violating the employment security law by allegedly making false statements in order to secure unemployment benefits.

The cases will be heard in seventh district court, with Jesse C. McGee the presiding judge. The Louisiana division of employment charges that the two men had earnings from other sources during the period they were drawing unemployment compensation through the area office at Ferriday.

5TH DIV., GERMANY — Ronald L. Marionneaux, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Marionneaux, 1406 Spencer Ave., Monroe, La., recently was promoted to sergeant in Germany, where he is a member of the 5th Infantry Division.

Realistic field problems and maneuvers form part of an intensive training program conducted by the "Red Diamond" division in southern Germany as part of the Seventh Army.

Marionneaux, a squad leader in Company F of the division's 2nd regiment, arrived in Germany last January.

He is a 1953 graduate of Neville High School in Monroe. His wife, Lois, is with him in Germany.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

W N ! E H U A D O N V M M O , E H U A D O F H K A , N A V T E K E N V E F H E N T H K H J C U W T J V T H K A ! — B A P D A .

Penney Observes 80th Birthday; He Won't Retire

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—J. C. Penney celebrated his 80th birthday today and has no tought of retiring.

Head of the nation's biggest chain of retail apparel stores, James Cash Penney said, "I never want to retire."

Smiling, he added: "I receive no salary—maybe that's why I'm kept on."

"The company that bears my name is my first love and I'm going to give it all I can," he said.

Officers and directors of the company presented Penney with an expensive silver bowl inscribed to him "From your associates in all 48 states." No one who works for the company is called an employe but an "associate" and shares in the profits.

A. W. Hughes, president of the company, made the presentation in the big midtown building of J. C. Penney Co.

"We cherish you as a friend of us all," said Hughes. "We hope that in 1975 a similar group will be privileged to salute you on your 100th birthday."

Then a big birthday cake with 80 lighted candles was brought in.

With one breath, Penney blew out all but six of the candles.

Penney Observes 80th Birthday; He Won't Retire

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—J. C. Penney celebrated his 80th birthday today and has no tought of retiring.

Head of the nation's biggest chain of retail apparel stores, James Cash Penney said, "I never want to retire."

Smiling, he added, "I receive no salary—maybe that's why I'm kept on."

"The company that bears my name is my first love and I'm going to give it all I can," he said.

Officers and directors of the company presented Penney with an expensive silver bowl inscribed to him "From your associates in all 48 states." No one who works for the company is called an employe but an "associate" and shares in the profits.

A. W. Hughes, president of the company, made the presentation in the big midtown building of J. C. Penney Co.

"We cherish you as a friend of us all," said Hughes. "We hope that in 1975 a similar group will be privileged to salute you on your 100th birthday."

Then a big birthday cake with 80 lighted candles was brought in.

With one breath, Penney blew out all but six of the candles.

SAVE 2 BIG WAYS DURING OUR USED CAR WHOLESALE-A-THON

MUST MAKE WAY FOR '56 FORDS

Our sales staff has just returned from seeing the '56 Ford, and it's so terrific we know trade-ins will be coming fast, and, frankly, we just don't have room for 'em. Our Summer Bandwagon Sell-a-bration was so successful that our used car lot is bulging at the seams. We must make room and make it fast. Never in history will you get such tremendous prices as during this Wholesale-a-thon.

HERE'S HOW THE SALE WORKS

Come to one of McCain-Richards' used car lots or at the special setup on KNOE grounds . . . select the car you want . . . make the normal down payment, and substract that down payment from the price of the car. Pay the balance in convenient monthly installments. There are no finance charges. Only the normal insurance requirements are needed. For example, you buy a 1953 Chevrolet that sells for $895 for only $295 down and $40.54 a month for 18 months.

2-tone blue, good tires, motor and body in perfect shape, heater. Would be a powderpuff buy priced at $245. Liberal financing available. Pay 33c down, 2c a month for 23 months. The 24th and last payment—20c. Can be refinanced at that time if necessary. To be sold at 4 p.m. Sat. at KNOE lot. 1st in line gets it.

FRI., SAT. and SUN.

Cristiani Bros. Circus Will Be Here Oct. 1-2

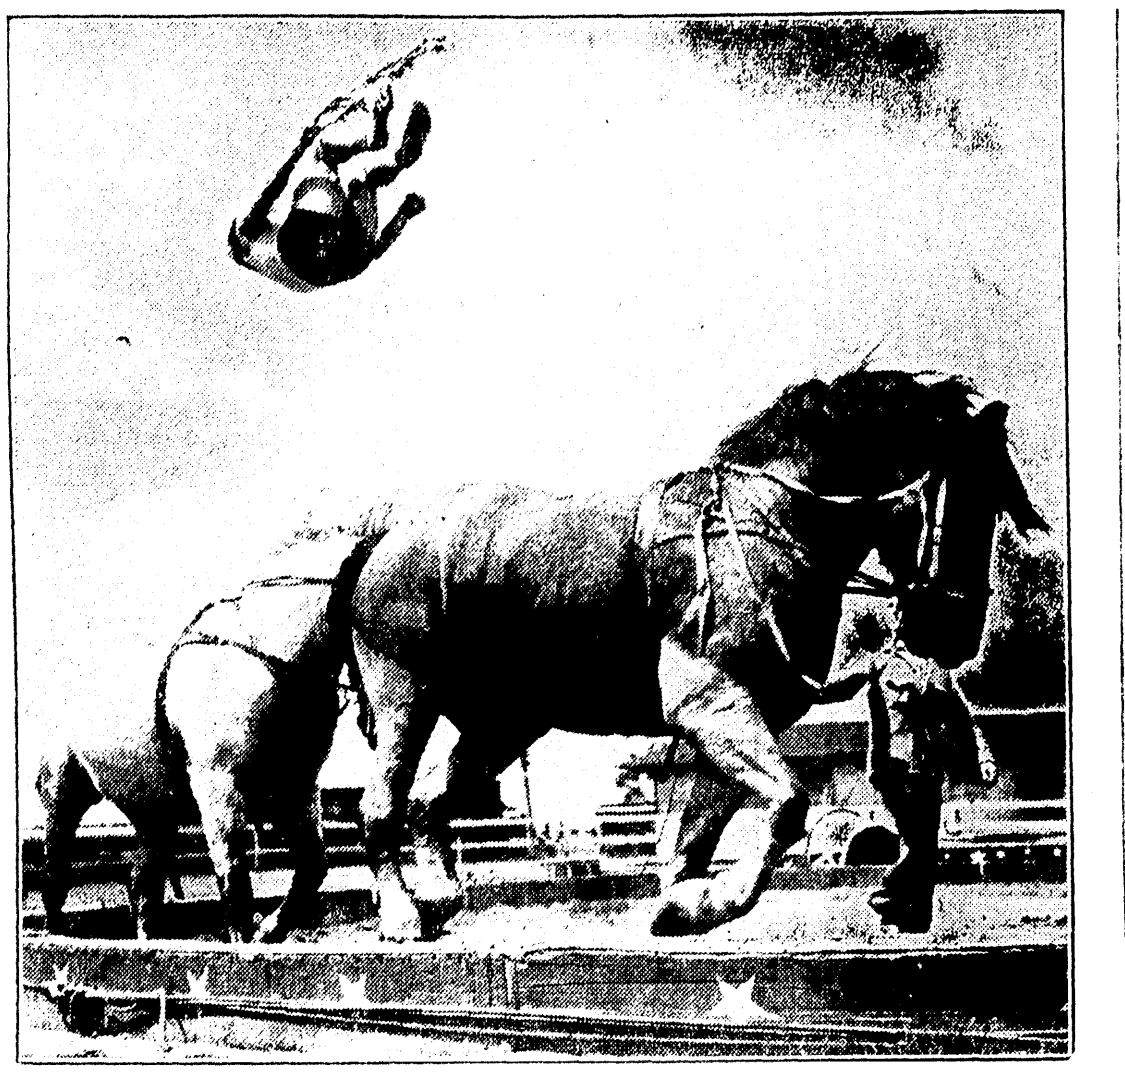
It was announced Friday by T. Leo Rogers, Jr., that the Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club is sponsoring the Cristiani Bailey Bros Circus, for performances . . . at the American Legion Ball Park, Oct. 1, matinee and night and matinee Sunday Oct. 2nd at 3 p.m.

This is the same circus that holds the distinction of being the only one to tour the Land of the Midnight Sun, and carrying away the praise of press and public alike throughout the entire territory.

Some of the top flight internationally famous artists are the Inimitable Cristiani Troupe of World famous bareback riding marvels . . . with the peer of all riding comedians . . . the one and only "Lucio" a feature of the Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey Circus, for ten consecutive seasons. . . . The Canestrelli Duo, from Italy, exponents of the defiance of balance . . and from the Argentine, comes Manuel Barragan, the high priest of the clouds, who will be in no small way responsible for the OH'S and AH'S. . . .

A lovely young miss barely out of her teens, Rahna Keo' subjugator of wild jungle beasts, is making her debut on our shores, from the far off Africa Veldt . . . she puts fourteen bears, of twelve different species, through a fast and furious routine in a large steel arena. Frank Cook, a young man, who has many hours of flying to his credit, has a brand of comedy, and a sense of timing, as he clings to a steel cable high over head, which at times brings him dangerously near the brink of disaster, but by hook or Cook, as he terms it, he still survives. . . .

Mlle. Jeanine Pivotos, a recent importation from France, who will furnish many aerial antics guaranteed to be pulse quickening . . . with versatility and variety holding sway the program is rounded out with acrobats, jugglers, contortionists, funny old clowns with bags of new tricks, lithesome beauties, dancing horses, lumbering elephants, including Zumbo, the sacred white elephant from Burma there is nothing left out in death flaunting thrills, and spine tingling surprises.



LUCIO CRISTIANI, doing a double somersault from the backs of one galloping horse to another galloping horse, with the Bailey Bros. Cristiani Circus.

Two Resign From Farm Agent Office

HARRISONBURG, Sept. 16 (Special) — Two members of the staff of Catahoula County Agent E. E. Johnson's staff, Miss Charlotte Wardlaw, home demonstration agent, and Bill Bickham, associate agent, have resigned effective October 1.

Miss Wardlaw had been a member from West Carroll parish. She was recently married in Minden, her hometown, and will make her home in Florida, where her husband, John Drane, will attend the University of Florida.

Bickham resigned his post with the extension service to return to Louisiana State University for advanced study.

Homer A. Boughton of Mangham has been named to replace Bickham. He has been training in Tensas and West Carroll parish. Boughton attended Northeast State College in Monroe and is a graduate of LSU.

Miss Dorothy Dillon of Jones in Morehouse parish will replace Miss Wardlaw as home demonstration agent. She is a graduate of LSU and has been on the county agent's staff in Tangipahoa and Rapides parishes. She comes to Catahoula from East Baton Rouge parish, where she served for two years.

Armed Service

YOKOHAMA — PFC Henry Parker, Jr., 21, son of Mrs. Mattie L. Johnson, 613 Cypress Ave., Bastrop, La., is a member of the 40th anti-aircraft artillery brigade in Japan.

Private First Class Parker, a cannoneer in Battery A of the brigade's 37th AAA Battalion, entered the Army in April 1954 and completed basic training at Fort Bliss, Tex. He arrived in the Far East in October, 1954.

Parker attended Morehouse High School.

Area Rally For Youth Set 3 P.M. Here On Saturday

The West Monroe Free Methodist Church will be host to a district youth rally beginning at 3:00 p. m. Saturday, with a program on evangelism in the church auditorium.

There will be recreation at 4:00 o'clock, and a picnic supper at 6:00.

A public service will be held in the church at 7:30 p. m. A hearty invitation is extended to those interested in youth.

Dedication Of Choirs Will Be Held On Sunday

Choir dedication day will be observed at Southside Methodist church on Sunday. In three years this dynamic little church has organized four choirs — the Chancel choir; Adult Men and Women group directed by Walter Webber; the Altar choir of youth, directed by R. L. (Bob) Jones; the Cherub choir formed by six to 12 year-old children, directed by Mrs. Virginia Goodman and the Men's choir directed by Charles K. Clay.

The church also has an outstanding Men's quartet known as the Southsiders. This group is in demand to give programs in other cities and towns nearby.

Mrs. C. L. Harris, organist of the church, is assisted by Miss Patsy Cooper, Mrs. W. P. Stewart and Mrs. S. L. Chapman.

The musical group will render selections of solos, quartet and anthem numbers in addition to the dedication program.

The pastor, Rev. Lea Joyner, was recently selected as an outstanding leader in Monroe by the Jaycees.

Cristiani Bros. Circus Will Be Here Oct. 1-2

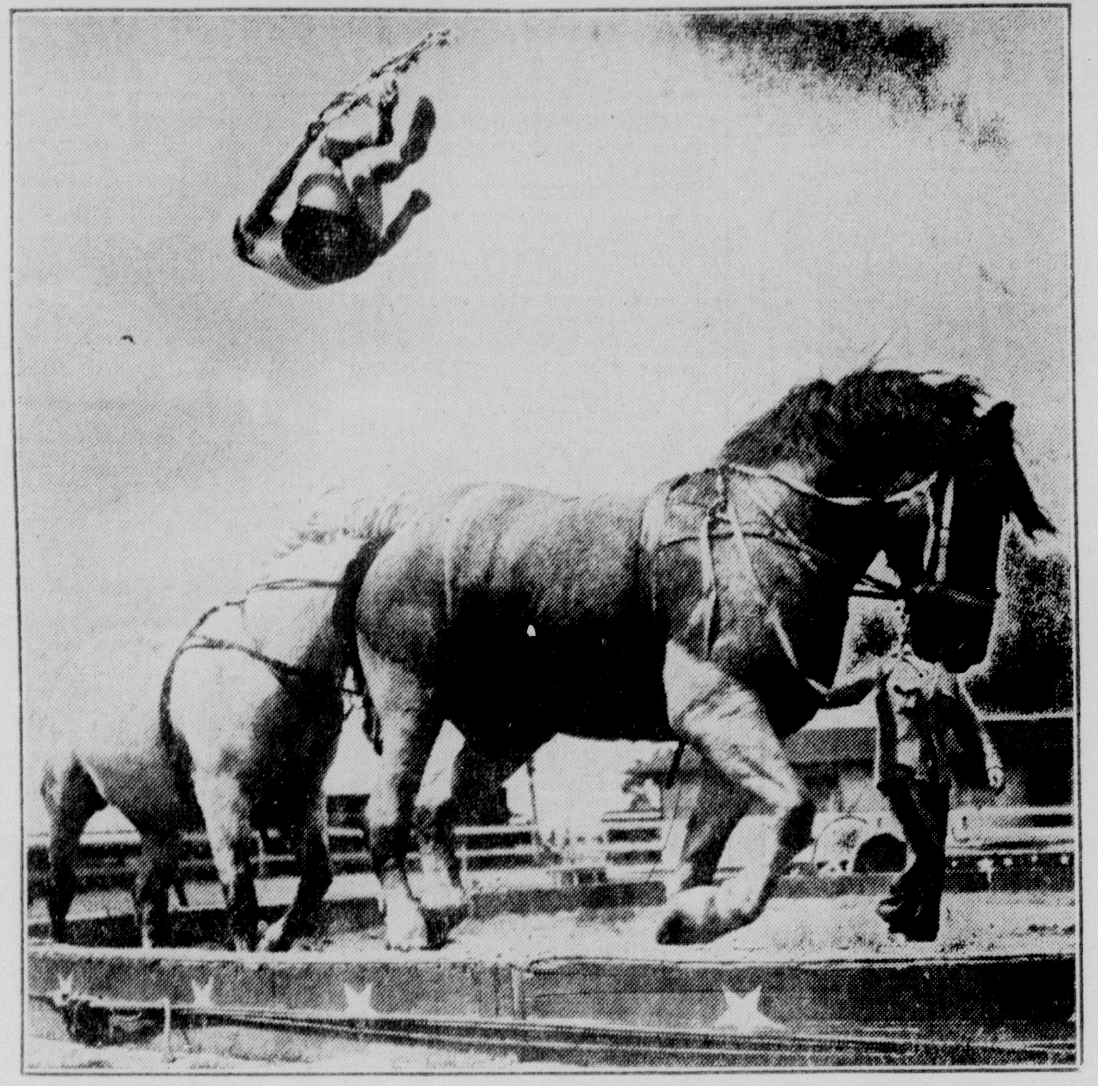
It was announced Friday by T. Leo Rogers, Jr., that the Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club is sponsoring the Cristiani Bailey Bros Circus, for performances . . . at the American Legion Ball Park, Oct. 1, matinee and night and matinee Sunday Oct. 2nd at 3 p.m.

This is the same circus that holds the distinction of being the only one to tour the Land of the Midnight Sun, and carrying away the praise of press and public alike throughout the entire territory.

Some of the top flight internationally famous artists are the Inimitable Cristiani Troupe of World famous bareback riding marvels . . . with the peer of all riding comedians . . . the one and only "Lucio" a feature of the Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey Circus, for ten consecutive seasons. . . . The Canestrelli Duo, from Italy, exponents of the defiance of balance . . . and from the Argentine, comes Manuel Barragan, the high priest of the clouds, who will be in no small way responsible for the OH'S and AH'S. . . .

A lovely young miss barely out of her teens, Rahna Keo' subjugator of wild jungle beasts, is making her debut on our shores, from the far off Africa Veldt . . . she puts fourteen bears, of twelve different species, through a fast and furious routine in a large steel arena. Frank Cook, a young man, who has many hours of flying to his credit, has a brand of comedy, and a sense of timing, as he clings to a steel cable high over head, which at times brings him dangerously near the brink of disaster, but by hook or Cook, as he terms it, he still survives. . . .

Mlle. Jeanine Pivotos, a recent importation from France, who will furnish many aerial antics guaranteed to be pulse quickening . . . with versatility and variety holding sway the program is rounded out with acrobats, jugglers, contortionists, funny old clowns with bags of new tricks, lithesome beauties, dancing horses, lumbering elephants, (including Zumbo, the sacred white elephant from Burma) there is nothing left out in death flaunting thrills, and spine tingling surprises.



LUCIO CRISTIANI, doing a double somersalt from the backs of one galloping horse to another galloping horse, with the Bailey Bros. Cristiani Circus.

Dedication Of Choirs Will Be Held On Sunday

Choir dedication day will be observed at Southside Methodist church on Sunday. In three years this dynamic little church has organized four choirs — the Chancel choir; Adult Men and Women group directed by Walter Webber; the Altar choir of youth, directed by R. L. (Bob) Jones; the Cherub choir formed by six to 12 year-old children, directed by Mrs. Virginia Goodman and the Men's choir directed by Charles K. Clay.

The church also has an outstanding Men's quartet known as the Southsiders. This group is in demand to give programs in other cities and towns nearby.

Mrs. C. L. Harris, organist of the church, is assisted by Miss Patsy Cooper, Mrs. W. P. Stewart and Mrs. S. L. Chapman.

The musical group will render selections of solos, quartet and anthem numbers in addition to the dedication program.

The pastor, Rev. Lea Joyner, was recently selected as an outstanding leader in Monroe by the Jaycees.

The public is invited to the exercises Sunday and at all other times.
